Turku Suffers Worst Loss in 53 Raids.

HELSINGFORS, Jan. 29 (AP).—Russian warplanes, winging their way out of the southeast in waves, rained more than 1,000 bombs on southern Finnish cities today and first reports indicated that scores of civilians had been killed and wounded.

The raids, the worst of the war in some sections, came as Finns cheered news of fresh successes on the front north of Lake Ladoga, where the Russians were officially reported to have left more than 1,250 dead on two snowy battlefields.

Hango, Turku, Provoo, and Tampere were among the cities which felt the power of the Russian air armadas.

[Reuters, British news agency, said more than 50 persons were killed and 200 injured at Hango, southwestern naval base. Reuters reported 15 Red planes shot down during the day.]

Turku's Worst Bombing.

At Turku, residents crouched in shelters for three hours as 50 Russian bombers, swooping down out of the clouds with their engines cut, gave the city its worst bombing in 53 raids during eight weeks of war.

Thirty civilians were killed at Turku, and ten buildings were demolished. The fleets of warplanes left clouds of smoke in their wake from the fires that sprang up from incendiary bombs.

The Russian planes flew over the city in five waves, loosing their cargoes of death on each trip.

Twenty-three persons, four of them women, were killed when a squadron of soviet warbirds dropped thru low clouds and blasted a field hospital in a tiny village behind the Karelian isthmus front.

Hospital Burns After Raid.

Seventeen of those killed were wounded soldiers and the remainder were hospital attendants. Five other patients managed to crawl to safety as the explosions turned the building into a blazing inferno.

Residents of Helsingfors were driven to cover four times by the approach of Russian planes, but each time the raiders were beaten off by Finnish pursuit planes and anti-aircraft fire. One of the Russian craft was shot down on the outskirts of the city and its crew of three killed.

Fifteen bombers, accompanied by pursuit planes, also were driven off in an attempt to raid Karjaa, 30 miles northeast of Hango.

Full details of casualties in today's raids were not immediately available, but it appeared certain they would exceed the total toll for last week, which a review of air activity listed at 24 killed and 56 wounded.

Hobble Out on Crutches.

The review said the Russians had "set a new record in bombing hospitals," asserting that eight, "clearly marked with the international emblem," had been bombed and machine-gunned last week.

One of the survivors in today's hospital bombing, a wounded soldier, told war correspondents he was on the second floor when the first explosion came.

"I lost consciousness, and I don't remember how I got out," he said.

Two other survivors said they hobbled out on crutches, but a comrade near them was caught by the swiftly spreading flames.

Capture Some "Strong Points."

The nightly Finnish communique said that 800 Russians had been killed in fighting immediately north of Lake Ladoga yesterday, where several enemy attacks were repulsed and "a few enemy strong points captured."

The Finns declared that a Russian column of 100 horses had been destroyed in this sector and that 160 prisoners had been captured in addition to four tanks, four guns and large quantities of other war materials.

Aircraft Aids Infantry.

The high command said the attack had been thrown back and that "the enemy left more than 450 dead on the field."

GERMAN FLYERS RAID COASTLINE FOR 400 MILES

Torpedoes Destroy 3 Neutral Vessels.

Claim 9 Ships Sunk

BERLIN, Jan. 29 (AP). — Seven "enemy convoyed armed merchant ships and two patrol boats" were destroyed in the course of reconnaissance flights over the North sea today, D. N. B., official German news agency, said tonight. The agency said one British pursuit plane was shot down near Hartlepool and all German planes returned safely to their home base. The D. N. B. report said all the attacks were carried out despite the "heaviest" anti-aircraft fire and defense by pursuit planes.

LONDON, Jan. 29 (AP).—German warplanes ranged wide across the North sea today to pepper bombs and bullets against at least 13 British ships and one Latvian vessel scattered for 400 miles up and down the east coast of the British Isles.

British sources suggested that the Nazis had gambled with bitter weather in the hope that fighter planes would be grounded and unable to cope with an aerial attack in force.

Altho British railways and road transportation were tied by the weather into the worst snarl in history, royal air force fighters were able to rise from their airdromes in sufficient numbers to protect vital shipping lanes.

Reconnoiter Over Land.

While some German bombers struck at shipping others reconnoitered over land. On the northeast coast air raid warnings were sounded as far as 40 miles inland. Thousands of persons crowded into shelters, schools were vacated and factories and shipbuilding yards were deserted.

The British said the German bombers, most of them Heinkel 111K models, were able to elude fast British fighters because of great masses of low clouds.

The bombers cruised off the coast from the river Tay in the north to Kent in the south. They were reported to have bombed merchantmen and lightships for three hours until fighting planes drove them off.

Three Ships Torpedoed.

The ominous acceleration of German air activity coupled with a British announcement that three neutral ships had been torpedoed indicated, some sources said, the start of a new German attempt to sever Britain's sea lifelines.

First reports indicated at least seven sailors had been killed in the wholesale attack—the largest of the war.

The seven were killed when the Latvian steamer Tautmila was bombed in the North sea. Ten bombs were dropped. Fifteen other men and the captain's wife were said to have escaped injury.

The Tautmila was still afloat tonight but burning. Her engines were shattered.

Captain Tells of Attack.

Capt. Dreismann, who told of the attack, said after several missiles fell one bomb dropped almost on top of a lifeboat that was being lowered, killing several men and throwing others into the sea. Another bomb "fell right on top of the cook," he said.

The British steamer Gripfast, 1,109 tons, reached a northeast port tonight after being badly damaged in an aerial attack. One of her crewmen was suffering from a bullet wound in his leg. One of her lifeboats was missing.

The 4,867 ton Otterpool, one of the ships attacked, was subjected to machine gun fire when a German Heinkel bomber dropped 10 bombs near her. Two crewmen were wounded when bullets raked the deck.

Fires Rifle at Bomber.

The captain said he lay on his back and fired a rifle at the bomber from the bridge. Three British fighters then chased the bomber into the clouds.

In most cases the raiders were reported driven off. One authoritative account said:

"In spite of the severe weather conditions and poor visibility royal air force aircraft were able to engage and drive off the enemy at many points. One raider was reported to have dropped seven bombs

Utility Fined for Gas Sales to Moonshiner

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 29 [Special].—In an opinion which may set a far reaching precedent in holding public service companies legally liable for supplying service to lawbreakers, Federal District Judge Ernest A. O'Brien today held that a public utility acts at its own peril in selling gas to a customer for use in violating laws.

Judge O'Brien gave the ruling just before he levied fines against the Consumers Power company and two of its employés who were convicted a week ago of conspiracy in supplying gas to operators of illegal liquor stills in Mount Clemens. He fined the company $5,000 and the employés $1,000 each. The employés are Ralph W. Clark, manager at Mount Clemens, and Wilson A. Bertke, distributing engineer there. The company filed notice of appeal.

May Have Effect Elsewhere.

The judge's opinion may be important in other states where efforts are being made to prevent utilities companies from supplying wire service to handbooks and thus forcing the handbooks to close.

"It is not clear in the minds of many persons whether a corporation can be found guilty of intent to violate the law," Judge O'Brien said, "but it is perfectly clear in the mind of the court that it can. If a corporation was not guilty of intent to violate the law [by supplying gas to illegal stills] it could not have made a contract [for service].

"Any public utility corporation has the legal right to refuse service to any customer if there is reason to believe the service may be used for unlawful purposes. Any person to whom service is refused, if he believes he is injured, can appeal to the proper state utilities commission."

Insists It Had No Choice.

Counsel for the gas company argued that it had no choice when a request for service was made. To deny service to a customer, the defense said, would be discrimination.

After reading Judge O'Brien's opinion Duncan C. McCrea, prosecutor of Wayne county [Detroit] announced he would prepare a new plan of action to stamp out handbook operators and gamblers who depend upon wire service to gather and distribute racing information to gamblers.

McCrea said he had called on State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney of Chicago for information on his attempt to stop distribution of racing information to bookmakers by curtailment of telephone service.

ENGLAND MAY OFFER TO EXAMINE U. S. SHIPS AT PORT IN CANADA

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 29 [Special].—Announcement is expected within a few days of a British-Canadian plan to eliminate a feature of the British contraband control that has brought a protest from America. This is the forcing of American vessels into ports within the belligerent zone forbidden to them by the American neutrality act that their cargoes may undergo inspection.

St. John, New Brunswick, is not in a war zone defined by the neutrality act and it is believed the British and Canadian governments jointly will propose to the United States that American ships bound for Europe call there to have their cargoes examined. The examination is made to prevent materials useful in war from reaching Germany.

Announcement of the plan is understood to await an expression from the United States government.

THE AUTO'S HERE TO STAY, BUT IS MICKEY'S HOUSE?

Mickey Surdek lives in a pretty house at 96 Goslin street, in Hammond. It would be a prettier house if it wern't for automobiles. Goslin street runs southeast, but curves east just before passing Surdek's house. Motorists sometimes delight in making the curve at high speed.

Two years ago a motorist missed the curve, but not Surdek's house. Last year another motorist did the same. Surdek was pretty angry.

He was angrier last night when a third motorist, William Hainer, 1253 Davis avenue, Hammond, ran into the house and ripped an eight foot hole in the basement wall.

Inflatable Vests Save Two Army Flyers Down in Sea

HONOLULU, T. H., Jan. 29 (AP).—Inflatable life vests saved two flyers today when their plane landed in the Pacific ocean and sank, United States army headquarters here announced. Lieut. William Hindson, the pilot, formerly of Oak Hill, W. Va., and Private James H. Brennan used the vests to stay afloat until fishermen rescued them. The plane was forced down when its motor failed.

What the Boys in Back Room Had: a Shock

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 29 [Special].—In an examination by defense counsel today before Court Commissioner Emil Ludwig, a Milwaukee tavern keeper named Grover H. Smith told why he thinks William Horlick Sidley should pay him $20,000 damages.

William Horlick Sidley

There is at least one reason, Smith testified, and possibly two. Both, he said, were punches inflicted upon him by Sidley, who is part heir to the Horlick malted milk fortune. Despite the punches and the damage suit, Smith declared that he and young Sidley were and are good friends, practically chums.

He was questioned by Attorney Harold Sporer of Racine, counsel for Sidley. He testified that on the night of Oct. 4 Sidley engaged in a controversy with his chauffeur, Whitey Williamson, in Smith's tavern. Smith said he quieted them until the chauffeur departed.

A Demonstration Follows.

"'Now I am going to show you what I am going to do to Whitey,'" Smith testified Sidley told him. "'Come into the back room.'" Then, Smith said, "Bill feinted with his left hand and swung a straight right at me and the next thing I knew I was on the floor and my bartender, Arthur Poelke, and two customers were picking me up and putting cold towels on me.

"Poelke wanted to hit Bill but I said 'lay off of him. Don't hit him.'"

Smith is more than six feet tall and a husky person. In his suit for damages he claimed that until the Sidley punch he was always respected as a man of courage.

Hit Once—or Twice.

"How many times did Sidley hit you?" Sporer asked.

"Only once," Smith replied, but on fuller consideration decided it was twice.

"I told Bill," he said, "'you socked me, but that's all right. I'm still your friend.'

"Bill said 'I'm sorry I hit you.'"

Smith, who said he is 47 years old and a former member of the Detroit police department, testified that Sidley paid one of three doctor bills for treatment of his injuries.

Cop in Scandal Sane; 3 Identify Him as Bandit

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

John Howe, state policeman whose arrest as a jury briber caused Gov. Horner to order an investigation, was declared sane by a jury in Criminal court yesterday. The verdict makes it possible to try him on four charges of armed robbery, which he evaded by being declared insane after his indictment in 1930.

William Estabrook [top] and Patrick Hanlon.

Shortly after the jury's verdict three of Howe's robbery victims—the fourth is dead—identified him as a bandit and said they would testify against him. Altho 10 years have passed since the three last saw Howe, they recognized him without difficulty. A peculiar shuffle with which he walked helped bolster the identifications. The state policeman walked as tho he had flat feet, the witnesses said.

Victim Tells of Robbery.

Howe's alleged victims were William Estabrook, 7250 Emerald avenue; Patrick E. Hanlon, 1432 West 77th street, and Earl Peak, all of whom identified him, and Mrs. Margaret Scott. Mrs. Scott died two years ago. She was held up at 1341 West 87th street. Peak, who was robbed of $39 at 1049 West 79th street, could not be reached last night. Estabrook and Hanlon were found at their homes.

"I was a store manager at 300 East 75th street on Oct. 16, 1930," recalled Estabrook, who is now an insurance man. "Howe came in, poked a gun in my back and said, 'Let's have the dough, bud.' He took me into a back room, took $16 from me and started to walk me out to the front of the store. Just then a uniformed policeman who had seen him come in, came in with gun drawn and took Howe into custody."

Witness Ready to Testify.

Estabrook said that tho Howe had changed a little facially, he had no difficulty picking him out. "Not only that, but I couldn't have missed his walk," he said. Estabrook said that a year after Howe's arrest he learned from a policeman that Howe was free.

"I didn't think that was at all proper," Estabrook asserted. "I don't know how he got out, nor why. For myself, I'm ready to testify against him whenever the state's attorney may desire."

Hanlon is still store manager at 8154 Cottage Grove avenue as he was on Sept. 9, 1930, when, he says, Howe held him up and robbed him of $103. Howe threatened him with a gun, he related.

Sees Howe on Street.

Hanlon said he learned that Howe was free in a rather disconcerting way.

"Six months after the robbery," said Hanlon, "I was walking in 76th street. There I saw Howe on the street. Imagine my surprise. I took it on high, so to speak. I didn't want him to recognize me."

Howe's employment by the state in 1936, when Gov. Horner was a candidate for reëlection, was traced to F. Lynden Smith, state director of public works. Smith's denial of responsi-

CHILD BORN IN SHANTY MAROONED BY SNOW; BOY, 7, HELPS AT BIRTH

Central City, Pa., Jan. 29 (AP).—Highway crews cleared a path thru three foot snow today so a physician could reach a shanty where Mrs. Roy Custer yesterday gave birth to a daughter, aided only by her husband and a 7 year old son.

The husband trudged nine miles into this community last night to tell of the birth and of a week in the two room cabin with only a few vegetables as food for the family of six. Then he returned home afoot.

Answering Custer's plea for aid, highway department snowplow crews started out last night. Early today they broke thru the drifts to a point within a mile of the Custer home. From there Dr. Isadore Kaplan walked to the cabin and found the mother and baby "doing fine." A Red Cross worker took food to replenish the exhausted larder.

HEARS ILLINOIS' PLEA TO BOOST FLOW OF WATER

Orders Other States to Argue Case.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—The United States Supreme court decided today to pass on the plea of the state of Illinois for a temporary increase in the amount of water diverted from Lake Michigan in order to assist the drainage of Chicago sewage thru the Illinois waterway.

The Illinois attorney general, John E. Cassidy, petitioned the court to permit an annual average diversion of 5,000 cubic feet of water a second until Dec. 31, 1942, instead of the 1,500 cubic feet provided in its 1930 decree.

As an alternative the attorney general asked that if the secretary of war possesses the power to permit "a temporary increase in this diversion if conditions so warrant" the court shall so declare. Secretary of War Harry H. Woodring informed the city of Joliet last September that he lacks such power.

Other States Asked to Reply.

The court's action today took the form of an order that the states of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, and New York show cause why the Illinois plea should not be granted. These were the states on whose complaints that the diversion of 10,000 cubic feet a second at Chicago was lowering lake levels the court decreed the 1,500 cubic foot limitation.

If the taking of testimony in this action should be required, the court will appoint a master in chancery to report the evidence and recommendations, as was done in the original suit. Such procedure, however, would entail great delay in relieving insanitary conditions in the Illinois valley.

Gradual Diminution Decreed.

The court in the original action upheld the lake states' contention that the diversion had lowered lake levels to the detriment of shipping. It decreed a gradual diminution of the diversion commensurate with the progress of the construction of works by the city of Chicago to treat and dispose of its sewage without drainage of impurities thru the Illinois waterway.

The maximum limitation of 1,500 cubic feet a second, allowed for navigation but not for sanitary purposes, went into effect Jan. 1, 1939, before the completion of the sewage disposal works. The result was the failure of the flow thru the sanitary canal to dilute Chicago sewage sufficiently "to avert," as Attorney General Cassidy said in his petition, "the obnoxious, noisome, unhealthy, and dangerous condition now existing in the Illinois waterway and the sanitary district canals."

Hopes to Complete Sewage Works.

Within the three years for which period the temporary increase of diversion is sought Chicago expects to complete the sewage disposal works, Cassidy, in his brief, reviewed the progress of the work to date—the construction of intercepting sewers and control works to prevent contamination of Lake Michigan, completion of construction for collection of more than 99 per cent of all sewage, and the treatment to some degree of all sewage.

"Despite the depression and serious financial difficulties," said the attorney general, "the sanitary district has expended 75 million dollars on four large sewage treatment works since the 1930 decree, in addition to 89 millions expended prior to the decree and 120 millions expended on the dilution system. Construction costing 60 millions had been completed since Jan. 1, 1934."

Plans have been prepared, said the attorney general, for the construction of secondary or complete sewage treatment facilities at the west side works, costing 9 millions, and the work is to proceed as soon as funds are available. This work will require two working seasons.

SEAWAY ACCORD HINTED

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 29.—Canada and the United States were reported here today to be nearing an agreement on the St. Lawrence waterway scheme as devised in Ottawa and Washington. In some quarters it was said the treaty now is being prepared for signature and the signing may take place soon.

When the Canadian negotiators returned here from Washington last week they still disagreed with the United States on several matters of policy which had to be taken up with the Ottawa government. Altho a final agreement could not be reached without settlement of these matters, it was reported here that obstacles to an accord were not insuperable.

Hope for Early Action.

The Canadian negotiators, it was said, are hopeful the treaty may be signed by Feb. 1 before the dominion election campaign goes into full swing. When signed, the treaty will be sent at once to Washington, so that President Roosevelt may submit it to the United States senate. Canadian hopes are that the senate will ratify it before the dominion election on March 26, thus enabling the MacKenzie King government to go to the polls with the project to its credit.

Even if this hope is not realized there will still remain the prospect that should the senate agree to the treaty as it stands, the next Canadian parliament, opening in May, will be sitting late enough to deal with it.

Canada's Costs Cut.

On this side of the border no serious difficulty is expected to arise. Ontario needs the power to be generated under the scheme and, as revised, its cost shows a decided saving to Canada over the original plan. Agreement of the engineers to drop the two-stage development in favor of a single dam with a protective dam upstream, has brought Ontario's share down from $102,000,000 to $77,000,000, a cut of $25,000,000 from the estimates of 1932.

Quebec engineers have been sitting in on the negotiations and no strong objections are now expected from that quarter. Canada also will have until 1950 to begin its part of the seaway, thus postponing purely Canadian expenditure, in all probability, until after the war.

Little has been said here regarding the Chicago lake diversion angle of the treaty. However, in Washington last week President Roosevelt said that the latest draft of the treaty would not limit Chicago to the present diversion of 1,500 cubic feet of water a second from Lake Michigan.

WISCONSIN TO FIGHT PLEA

Madison, Wis., Jan. 29 [Special].—Illinois' plea for modification of a Supreme court order limiting diversion of Lake Michigan water into the Illinois waterway will be fought by six states bordering on the Great Lakes, John E. Martin, Wisconsin attorney general, declared tonight.

"We're going to Washington and put up a fight against it," Martin said when told the court had ordered the attorney generals of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and New York to show cause why Illinois' plea for diversion of 5,000 cubic feet a second should not be granted. Effective Jan. 1, 1939, the flow was reduced to 1,500 cubic feet a second.

Martin said the attorney generals met in Detroit recently to plan their fight against the increased diversion proposal and that he would call them together again within two weeks, probably in Chicago, to draft a brief for submission to the court.

WILSON LABOR VOTE IS SENT TO WASHINGTON

G. L. Patterson, regional director of the National Labor Relations board, yesterday sent a written report to Washington headquarters, recommending that the employés representative committee be certified as the collective bargaining agent for production and maintenance employés of Wilson & Co., packers.

The recommendation was based on the result of an NLRB election Friday in which employés selected the independent union in preference to local 25 of the United Packinghouse Workers of America, an affiliate of the Congress of Industrial Organizations. The vote was 1,890 to 1,545.

Henry Johnson, assistant national director of the Packinghouse Workers' Organizing Committee, thru which the C. I. O. operates to organize stockyard workers, announced an objection to the election results would be filed within five days, the legal deadline. Johnson said 200 workers have signed an affidavit that they were coerced into voting for the independent union, which has been in existence for 20 years.

153 LEATHER JACKETS STOLEN.

Maxwell street police were informed yesterday that burglars broke in the Marziani Brothers Leather Goods company at 1045 Roosevelt road Sunday night and stole 153 leather jackets valued at $583.

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS N. Y. TAX ON SHIPPED COAL

Members Split 5 to 3 on Interstate Ruling.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—The constitutional theories of members of the Supreme court clashed sharply today in a 5 to 3 decision upholding a New York city sales tax as applied to sales of coal shipped in on contract from Pennsylvania.

New York state's highest tribunal, the Court of Appeals, unanimously held the tax as applied to be an unconstitutional burden upon interstate commerce, the regulation of which is reserved by the constitution to congress. But four of President Roosevelt's Supreme court appointees joined in the majority opinion by Justice Harlan F. Stone holding the tax constitutional. Frank Murphy, the fifth Roosevelt appointee, has not taken the judicial oath.

Hughes Delivers Dissent.

Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, who was joined by Justices James C. McReynolds and Owen J. Roberts, delivered a vigorous dissenting opinion holding that the court's decision violated principles heretofore unquestioned since Chief Justice John Marshall established them in Gibbons vs. Ogden, decided in 1824.

"The tax as here applied is open to the same objection as a tariff upon the entrance of the coal into the state of New York, or a state tax upon the privilige of doing an interstate business, and in my view it cannot be sustained without abandoning principles long established and a host of precedents soundly based," said the chief justice.

The court's decision is especially significant because of the multiplicity of interstate trade barriers erected in recent years by state tax and business privilege laws.

On Interstate Barriers.

On the question of interstate trade barriers, Chief Justice Hughes said:

"The pressure of mounting outlays has led the states to seek new sources of revenue, and we have gone far in sustaining state power to tax property and transactions subject to their jurisdiction despite incidental or indirect effects upon interstate commerce. But hiterto we have also maintained the principle that the states cannot lay a direct tax upon that commerce.

"In confiding to congress the power to regulate interstate commerce, the aim was to provide a free national market—to pull down and prevent the reerection of state barriers to the free intercourse between the people of the states. That free intercourse was deemed, and has proved, to be essential to our national economy. It should not be impaired."

Levied by New York City.

Pursuant to authority vested in it by the New York state legislature the New York City municipal assembly, in 1934, adopted a law, since annually renewed, which levies a gross receipts sales tax of 2 per cent upon all utility services and on the sales of tangible property generally, except food and drugs furnished on prescription. The tax is levied, by the terms of the law, upon the purchaser, but the vendor is held accountable for the collection and payment of the tax.

Joseph D. McGoldrick, controller of the City of New York, sought to collect the tax from the Berwind-White Coal Mining company, a Pennsylvania corporation, which sells annually 1,500,000 tons of coal in New York City, of which 1,300,000 tons are delivered to some twenty public utility and steamship companies. The coal moves by rail from the Pennsylvania mines to docks in Jersey City, N. J., thence by barge to the point of delivery in New York City. The sales contracts, entered into in New York City, call for the delivery of the coal as needed, at prices subject to such varying factors as labor and transportation costs.

Both the Appellate division of the New York Supreme court and the New York Court of Appeals held the tax as applied unconstitutional. The decision, if it had been upheld would have outlawed the tax on the sale of all commodities brought in from other states under arrangements like the Pennsylvania coal contracts.

Interpret Commerce Clause.

Justice Stone's opinion, concurred in by Justices Hugo L. Black, Stanley F. Reed, Felix Frankfurter, and William O. Douglas, held that the New York courts erred in their interpretation of the commerce clause, and the decisions below accordingly were reversed.

"In imposing taxes for state purposes a state is not exercising any power which the constitution has conferred upon congress," said the Stone opinion. "It is only when the tax operates to regulate commerce between the states or with foreign nations to an extent which impairs the authority conferred upon congress that the tax can be said to exceed constitutional limitations.

"Forms of state taxation whose tendency is to prohibit the commerce or place it at a disadvantage as compared or in competition with intrastate commerce and any state tax which discriminates against the commerce are familiar examples of the exercise of state taxing power in an unconstitutional manner, because of its obvious regulatory effect upon commerce between the states.

No Relief from Taxes.

"But it was not the purpose of the commerce clause to relieve those engaged in interstate commerce of their just share of state tax burdens, merely because an incidental or consequential effect of the tax is an increase in the cost of doing business. . . . Not all state taxation is to be condemned because, in some manner, it has an effect upon commerce between the states, and there are many forms of tax whose burdens, when distributed thru the play of economic forces, affect interstate commerce, nevertheless fall short of the regulation of the commerce which the constitution leaves to congress."

As examples of the taxing power which states may exercise, altho it affects interstate commerce, Justice Stone mentioned a tax on net income wholly derived from interstate commerce; a nondiscriminatory tax on the instrumentalities of interstate commerce; the like taxation of property, shipped interstate, before its movement begins, or after its end; the taxation of the warehousing of merchandise before or after it is shipped in interstate commerce.

Equality Is the Theme.

Justice Stone's opinion conceded that "certain types of tax may, if permitted at all, so readily be made the instrument of impeding or destroying interstate commerce as plainly to call for their condemnation as forbidden regulations." But he said the New York tax in question had no such possible consequences; that "equality is its theme."

Chief Justice Hughes said the case before the court was "one of interstate commerce in its most obvious form." Citing the case of Gibbons vs. Ogden, the chief justice continued:

"In relation to the present transaction, it would hardly be contended New York could tax the transportation of the coal from Pennsylvania to New York or a contract for that transportation. But the movement of the coal from the one state to the other was definitely required by the contracts of sale, and these sales must be regarded as an essential part of the commercial intercourse contemplated by the commerce clause."

In conclusion the Chief Justice declared "We have the duty of maintaining the immunity of interstate commerce as contemplated by the constitution."

"That immunity still remains an essential buttress of the union," he said, "and a free national market, so far as it can be preserved, without violence to state power over the subjects within the state jurisdiction, is not less now than heretofore a vital concern of the national economy."

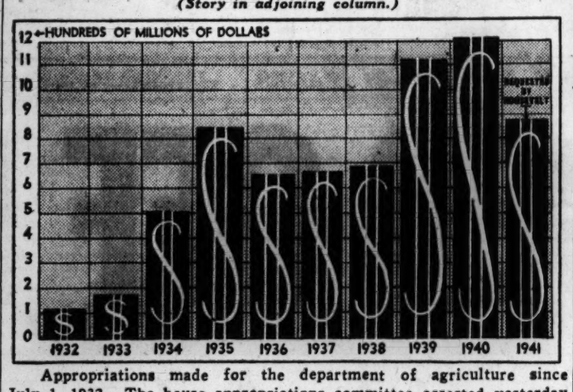
Department of Agriculture Spending

(Story in adjoining column.)



Appropriations made for the department of agriculture since July 1, 1932. The house appropriations committee asserted yesterday that the Roosevelt administration had spent more than six billion dollars in attempt to aid farmers since 1933. The committee has indorsed a $100,000,000 cut in the amount requested for 1941.

STATE'S FARMERS TO STUDY RURAL PROBLEMS TODAY

Illinois farmers will express their views on unemployment labor relations, trust busting, balancing the budget, the federal farm program, reciprocal agreements, and other national and state problems at the 25th annual convention of the Illinois Agricultural association, which opens today in the Stevens hotel. The convention will continue thru Thursday.

More than 4,000 farmers, representing a total membership of approximately 70,000 in 97 of the state's 102 counties, are expected to attend.

The association is expected to continue its indorsement of the Agricultural Adjustment administration, to which it always has given official support.

Today's program will be devoted to meetings of I. A. A. subsidiaries. There are 11 of these corporations and coöperatives in the state, having combined assets in excess of 17 million dollars, according to officials.

REVEAL PLOT TO SINK U. S. SHIP AT LAUNCHING FETE

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 29 (AP).—An attempt to sink the 11,735 ton cargo vessel Mormacmail during launching ceremonies at Chester, Pa., on Jan. 11 was reported by the Record tonight in a copyright story.

The vessel is one of several peacetime freighters designed by the United States maritime commission for quick conversion to military transports in case of war. The contract price for the vessel was $3,167,100.

The newspaper said it learned from a reliable source that the Mormacmail's sea valves were found open a half hour before the new vessel slid down the ways at the Sun Shipbuilding and Drydock company. The Mormacmail would have filled quickly and sunk if she had struck the water with the valves open.

Sen. Vandenberg Gets Seat Vacated by Borah's Death

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 [Special].—The senate seat left vacant by the death of Senator William E. Borah had a new occupant today. Senator Arthur Vandenberg [R., Mich.], friend and admirer of Borah, was granted a request for the place. Senator Robert La Follette, to whom the seat would have gone, stepped aside to permit granting of the Michigan senator's request.

HOLD ROOSEVELT FARM TINKERING WASTED BILLIONS

House Group Approves Cut in Appropriation.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—The house appropriations committee asserted today that the Roosevelt administration has spent more than six billions of dollars since 1933 in an attempt to aid farmers.

Arguing that much of this huge sum has been wasted on experiments, the house appropriations committee is expected tomorrow to make its own recommendation for an agriculture department appropriation.

President Roosevelt, in his budget message three weeks ago, suggested a farm appropriation of approximately $877,000,000 for the fiscal year beginning next July 1. This was about $400,000,000 less than was included in the current appropriation measure, but that bill included $225,000,000 for parity payments and $200,000,000 for road funds which, under the government reorganization program, will be in another bill this year.

Endorses $100,000,000 Cut.

Mr. Roosevelt insisted in his message that no reductions could be effected, but the house committee has indorsed a cut of $100,000,000 in the fund. A fierce fight over this economy move is scheduled in the committee tomorrow before the bill is reported to the house, but the advocates of economy are expected to win their point.

The agriculture department received only $185,000,000 in 1933. The farm appropriation has leaped since that year until it reached the peak point of 1 billion, 274 millions of dollars for the year ending next June 30. The total during the present administration has exceeded six billions of dollars.

President Omits Parity Item.

The advocates of economy were cheered today by reports that the farm bloc leaders in the house have decided to drop a campaign to add $200,000,000 for parity payments to help swell agricultural income. [Parity payments are designed to raise a farmer's purchasing power to the level he enjoyed in the period between 1909 and 1914.]

The President omitted parity payments from his budget recommendations. Otherwise, he would have been forced to concede that the 45 billion dollar federal debt limit would have to be raised.

Strike at Surpluses Outlay.

The economy leaders have applied the pruning knife to the administration program for getting rid of food surpluses. They are reported to have cut $80,000,000 from the appropriation for this program, which includes the food stamp system already inaugurated in 28 cities.

The farm group tentatively considered attacking the mammoth outlays for the army and navy in order to secure an increased fund for farmers.

"There is going to be a determined effort to decrease the 1 billion 800 million dollar national defense estimates," declared Senator Scott Lucas [D., Ill.]. "That seems to be $400,000,000 or $500,000,000 more than is necessary."

82 DAYS CRAWL PAST AND JURY SITS, AND SITS

3 Men and 9 Women Roll Up a Record.

Nine women and three men sit day after day in the jury box in room 906 of the city hall—the court of Municipal Judge Edward S. Sheffler. They are hearing the longest case ever tried before a jury in Cook county.

It is William J. Cleary's suit against the Chicago Title and Trust company. In 1927 Cleary, veteran court reporter, and several others entered into an escrow agreement with the company in a transaction involving real estate, $200,000 in bonds, $24,500 in cash, and 667 shares of stock. Cleary, in his suit, alleged that the trust company failed to comply with the agreement under which he was to receive $100,000 in bonds, $10,000 in cash, and half the stock.

Third Time in Court.

This is the third time the suit has gone to trial. The first time, Judge John Gutknecht became ill and a mistrial was declared. The next jury found for Cleary. Judge Frank M. Padden set aside the verdict. The Illinois Appellate court reversed this finding and ordered a rehearing. This is it.

For 82 days, since Oct. 2, in fair weather and foul, the jurors have sat in the jury box. There were only four court days when the jurors did not convene. Three were holidays. The fourth was last Thursday when a male juror became ill.

They have heard 125 witnesses. Since the case started, 20 of the original witnesses have died. And the only untoward incident has concerned a witness. He loitered two days in the hallway without being called and then was dismissed. He went home and committed suicide.

$4,500 in Fees for Jury.

Judge Sheffler estimates that the jurors have received $4,500 in fees at $5 a day. By the time the trial ends—and he hopes it will be about Feb. 7—the judge estimates it will have cost the city and county $12,000 for light, heat, wear and tear, etc.

Between 1,200 and 1,400 exhibits have been introduced, according to Attorney John J. Johntry and John O'C. Fitzgerald, counsel for Cleary. Nearly 10,000 pages of court record have been taken.

"The City of Flint sailed from America a week after this trial started," commented Jay Fred Reeve, attorney for the defendant. "It was captured by the Germans, manned by a Nazi prize crew, taken to Murmansk, returned to the Americans in Norway, and just recently arrived home. Yet we're still in the trial."

CREDITS DIES QUIZ FOR DEATH BLOW TO CONSPIRACIES

The Dies committee's investigation of un-American activities has put an end—at least for the present—to the conspiratorial mood in America, Dr. Eduard C. Lindeman, president of the Institute of Propaganda Analysis, said yesterday.

Dr. Lindeman was interviewed on his arrival from New York to give a series of lectures on the rôle of propaganda in modern life, the foundations of democracy, and the importance of social planning, under auspices of the University college of Northwestern university.

"The Dies committee's inquiries," he said, "have made unpopular the people who want to change things secretly. If we want to change or alter our government, we should do it in the open. That is the way to do it in a democracy."

Temper of People Reflected.

The prosecution and conviction of Fritz Kuhn, bund chieftain, and Earl Browder, communist boss, in the wake of the Dies inquiries into subversive activities, reflected the temper of the American people, Dr. Lindeman said.

The institute's analysis of European war propaganda, Dr. Lindeman said, indicates that it is far less effective than it was during the world war, despite the fact that techniques have been refined.

American youth seems practically impervious to war propaganda, Dr. Lindeman said. This resistance stands as a bulwark to prevent our being drawn into the war, he said, adding:

Youngsters Are Skeptical.

"Our youngsters—even in high schools—are onto foreign propaganda. They are better informed than the last generation. They are more skeptical. They have heard about the disillusionments of the last war.

"If we get into this war it will be because of some startling event. But I don't think we will. I think the war may even end suddenly—possibly soon."

Dr. Lindeman's definition of propaganda is "an attempt to influence the conduct of other people on behalf of preconceived ends and by appeals directed primarily at the emotions."

LAUNCH INQUIRY ON PROMOTIONS IN MARINE CORPS

Senators Hear Generals Evade Merit System.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—Whether a clique of marine corps generals has been playing fast and loose with the supposed merit system of selecting high ranking officers of their service will be the subject of an inquiry by the senate naval affairs committee to begin later this week. Chairman David I. Walsh [D., Mass.] has appointed a subcommittee headed by Senator Guy M. Gillette [D., Ia.] to hold open hearings in the matter.

The main question at issue is whether officers physically fit and with distinguished service records have been passed over and started on the road to forced retirement ahead of their time for the sole purpose of making way for their juniors.

The central figure in the controversy is Col. Charles F. B. Price, who was passed over by the 1939 marine corps selection board despite general praise for his service as commandant of the American unit in Shanghai during the fighting there between the Japanese and the Chinese.

Price Gets Another Chance.

Under the marine corps selection law, Col. Price, who is 58 years old, will have one more chance at a brigadier generalship when the selection board is convened late this year. If he should fail of selection at that time, he will be compelled, automatically, to retire on June 30, 1941. In that event, he will receive three quarters pay for the rest of his life, but the country will be deprived of his services.

Two other officers who were passed over at the same time, and whose friends are on the war path, are Col. Edward A. Ostermann, who now holds the temporary rank of brigadier general by virtue of his position as adjutant in inspector of the marine corps, and Col. Julian C. Smith.

Friends of these officers contend that, because of their records, they had a better claim to promotion than the men who were selected. Pending the senate inquiry, five colonels recently appointed brigadier generals by President Roosevelt are not likely to receive confirmation. These are Holland M. Smith, Philip H. Torrey, Ross E. Rowell, John Marston, and Samuel M. Harrington.

Six on Selection Board.

The marine board for the selection of generals consists of only six members, for the compelling reason that there are only 12 marine corps generals and the law prohibits any one serving on two successive selection boards. Thus, officers picked for brigadier general in one year always become members of the selection board the next year, and have an opportunity to promote to major general's rank the brigadier generals to whom they owe their own promotions.

The senate committee may recommend a selection board of nine members, with three admirals nominated by the secretary of the navy, instead of the present six man board named by the commandant of the marine corps.

BISHOP STEWART HONORS 7 FOR CHURCH SERVICE

Bishop George Craig Stewart last night awarded distinguished service crosses for church work to two women and five clergymen of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago at the annual convention dinner of the diocese in the Sherman hotel. Sessions of the 103 annual convention will open this morning in St. Peter's church, 621 Belmont avenue.

The two women honored are Mrs. Faith Fitzgerald, of Morrison, and Mrs. Fannie W. Roth, of La Salle. The clergymen are the Rev. Everett Carr, of St. Peter's church; Canon David E. Gibson, of Cathedral shelter, Washington and Peoria street, the Rev. Walter C. Bihler, of Christ church, Woodlawn, secretary of the convention, the Rev. Charles T. Hull, of St. Paul's Church by the Lake, Rogers Park, and the Rev. Dr. Harold Holt, of Grace church, Oak Park.

Prof. Clark Kuebler, of Northwestern university, a speaker at last night's dinner, asserted that the church's worst enemies are often church members and that external foes of religion such as communism and Nazism cannot do as much damage to the church as its own adherents.

MILK DRIVERS VOTE TONIGHT ON WAGE CUT

Members of the Milk Wagon Drivers' union will meet in Street Car Men's hall at Ashland avenue and Van Buren street tonight to vote on a proposal that they accept a wage cut of $8 a week. This would lower their basic wage from $48 to $40 a week.

After conferences with representatives of unionized dairies the wage cut was proposed as the union's contribution to save milk routes and drivers' jobs periled by increasing sales of cash and carry milk at cut rate stores.

Milk sells for 8½ cents a quart at the stores. The home delivered price is 13 cents. The dairies have promised to pass along to consumers any savings from a wage cut. The home delivered price would be reduced possibly as much as 2 cents a quart.

MERRY FAHRNEY ACCUSES MATE; NAMES SHOWGIRL

Witness Tells of Scene in Count's Hotel Room.

New York, Jan. 29 (AP).—How Merry Fahrney took her first husband along to look into the behavior of her fourth was told today in the Supreme court, where the blonde heiress is seeking a divorce from Count Oleg Cassini.

Merry, who inherited a Chicago patent medicine fortune, accuses Count Cassini, her fourth husband, of infidelity. An automobile salesman who said he was helping her "purely out of friendship," testified how he and Merry and her first husband, Hugh Parker Pickering, peered thru a hotel room window at 3:30 a. m. one day last year.

Recounts Amorous Scene.

From the window, said the witness, Robert S. Boyland, they could see into the bedroom of the suite Merry had rented for the count at the count's request, because he didn't like to live in her 12 room apartment on 5th avenue.

They saw the count and a Broadway showgirl sipping drinks, Boyland testified. Then there was an amorous scene, whereupon Merry said: "This is all I wanted to know."

Merry, in a trim navy blue crêpe suit, white kid gloves and flower trimmed turban, testified that Pickering still manages her business affairs. He is the father of her 7 year old son, Peter.

Merry Always Pays.

The heiress and Count Cassini, a 26 year old Russian dress designer, were married in September, 1938, at Elkton, Md., after an elopement by plane. He is the son of Countess Margaret Cassini, a prominent figure in Washington society during President Theodore Roosevelt's administration.

Merry testified that the count never had paid for anything since their marriage, and sometimes telephoned her collect from Washington asking for money.

The count, who seeks dismissal of her complaint, has threatened to name six co-respondents to her one.

TRIBUNE MEDALS AWARDED THREE AT R. O. T. C. FETE

Bessemer, Mich., Jan. 29 [Special].—Medals for military proficiency in the R. O. T. C. were awarded here this morning to three boys at ceremonies in A. D. Johnson High school. The medals are presented annually by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE to outstanding R. O. T. C. members.

A gold medal went to Rerno Rolo, a senior who is taking military training for the third year. Edward Marinetti, a junior, received a silver medal. The bronze medal given first year members went to Robert Rigotti, a sophomore.

Presentation of the medals was made on behalf of THE TRIBUNE by Maj. Lester J. Cartwright, professor of military science in Bessemer and Ironwood, Mich., high schools and commandant of the two R. O. T. C. units.

GIRL TRIPS THIEF AFTER CHASE AND CAPTURES HIM

The way to catch a purse thief, Miss Francine Muscia showed last night, is to trip him. Miss Muscia, who lives at 2001 Howe street and is a waitress in a near north side restaurant, was at Clark and Ohio streets when a thief grabbed her purse, containing $125 in checks.

Miss Muscia chased him. She could not hold him, so she stuck her foot out and tripped him. Then, as he fell, she seized him and held him until several men went to her aid. At the Chicago avenue station the prisoner, Frank Kamicar, 37, who gave his address as 10418 Maryland avenue, sought to explain his capture by a girl by saying, "Aw, I wanted to get locked up." He was.

E. S. HARKNESS, PHILANTHROPIST, DIES IN NEW YORK

New York, Jan. 29 (AP).—Edward Stephen Harkness, 66 years old, wealthy philanthropist, died tonight at his 5th avenue home. The widow, the former Mary Stillman, is the only immediate survivor. They had no children. He was born in Cleveland, O.

Harkness, who was a director of the New York Central Lines and of the Southern Pacific company, joined in 1924 with his mother, Mrs. Stephen V. Harkness, in donating a 20 acre tract on upper Broadway for the medical center which has a unit bearing his name—the Harkness pavilion. He gave the New York public library $1,000,000.

Transformed Yale Campus.

Due mainly to the benefactions of Harkness, the Yale university campus of today virtually is unrecognizable to the "old grad" returning after an absence of 15 years.

It has been estimated that Harkness spent in the neighborhood of $25,000,000 on his alma mater, much of which went into the construction of classroom buildings and undergraduate college quarters.

Gave Many Buildings.

Harkness provided funds for six of the seven new undergraduate college buildings, established the department of drama, and built the University theater and the present gallery of fine arts. He also had remodeled into two undergraduate colleges the famous memorial quadrangle, which was the gift of his mother.

Other contributions included bursary or work scholarship funds for scores of undergraduates and a large sum for educational supervision.

DIXIELAND BEGINS TO THAW OUT AS COLD WAVE EBBS

Miami, Fla., Jan. 29 (AP).—Acute suffering gave way to simple discomfort today when winter retreated slowly from the south after this century's most destructive invasion.

A few sub-zero readings—notably 12 below at Richmond, Va.—marred the day, but warmer air pushed steadily in from the west, a week old snow coverlet melted slowly, and Dixie life moved quickly back toward a normal tempo.

One hundred deaths were attributed to the recent cold, which also caused tremendous crop losses. First unofficial estimates were that vegetables with a potential market value up to $15,000,000 were destroyed to two southern Florida counties, Dade and Broward.

Fruitmen were busy tonight trying to protect their trees to salvage something by rushing chilled oranges, grapefruit, and tangerines to market before farmer weather caused rapid deterioration. Their estimates of the loss varied from 20 to 90 per cent.

Await Decision on Plea of 'Scarlett's' Hubby.

LONDON, Jan. 29 (AP).—Laurence Olivier, British stage and screen star who has appeared in several Hollywood productions, was divorced today by his actress-wife, Jill Esmond, who named Actress Vivien Leigh as co-respondent.

Mrs. Olivier testified their married life was happy until 1937, when her husband informed her he was in love with Miss Leigh.

Appeared in Several Pictures.

Olivier and Miss Leigh—the Scarlett O'Hara of "Gone With The Wind"—have appeared in several motion pictures together.

Mrs. Olivier was granted custody of their child. The suit was not contested. Herbert Leigh Holman, British attorney and husband of Miss Leigh, also has filed a petition for divorce, naming Olivier as co-respondent.

Hollywood Takes It Calmly.

Hollywood, Jan. 29 (AP).—Hollywood received with no surprise today the word from London that Actress Jill Esmond had divorced Laurence Olivier, naming as co-respondent Vivien Leigh. It simply reversed the situation of three weeks ago, when the British actor was named in Herbert Leigh Holman's divorce petition.

Both Miss Leigh and Olivier have told friends they will marry as soon as possible. They have been frequent companions at film colony affairs. Olivier is best known in this country for "Wuthering Heights." He was at work in it a little more than a year ago when Miss Leigh came here from London.

FREEPORT RESIDENT DIES.

Freeport, Ill., Jan. 29 [Special].—Shock and injuries incurred in a fall a few days ago caused the death today of John A. Brown, 85 years old, long time resident of Freeport. He is survived by his widow, a son, Dr. Calvin Brown of Chicago, and a daughter, Mrs. Alva R. Dry of Freeport.

HITLER LAUNCHES EIGHTH YEAR OF NAZI REIGN TODAY

No Pageantry; Followers Predict Victory.

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—With all its energies concentrated on building up its huge fighting machine and vast war industry to the highest possible pitch, Nazi Germany will be without its customary pageantry tomorrow when it observes the seventh anniversary of Adolf Hitler's accession to power.

Hitler will not address the reichstag and huge parades and massmeetings will not be held. School children must report as usual. The press devotes less space than usual to eulogizing the achievements of the Nazi régime than in past years. Instead, war news dominates the press.

Predict Victory for Germany.

Upon entering the eighth year of Hitler's rule the Germans believe they have a good chance to win the war before the year expires. Hitler proclaimed the current year as a "year of decisions" and millions of his devout followers firmly believe in a victory for Germany. They say the reich is unassailable from military and economic viewpoints.

"With Germany's U-boat fleet growing rapidly, time works for us and against England," these ardent Nazis argue. "The strategic plans of the British and French have failed.

They declare that England's first plan to defeat Germany was "nothing but a repetition of the allied tactics in the world war. When England realized that this plan of starving out Germany was doomed to failure, owing to Russia's refusal to join the western powers, England tried to extend the war to the Scandinavian countries and the Balkans in an effort to cut off Germany from oil, iron ore, and other raw materials, and fruits."

Look to U-Boats and Planes.

This British attempt to make the blockade effective also failed, the Germans insist. The recent declarations of neutrality in Sweden and Norway as well as the appointment of an oil commissioner in Rumania are regarded in Nazi circles as diplomatic victories for Germany.

When putting their faith in a final German victory, Hitler's followers not only look toward Germany's U-boat fleet but to its air arm, which they believe will be able to maintain superiority over the British and French air fleets despite American aircraft deliveries.

The direction in which this air force may be employed seems to be indicated by the measures taken today by the German admiralty. It was announced that the North sea islands of Borkum, Juist, Norderney, Langeroog, Spiekeroog, Wangeroog, and Sylt have been proclaimed "military security zones."

A Protective Belt.

These islands lie like a protective belt all along the German North sea coasts. Besides serving as jumping off bases for German warplanes bound for England, the numerous antiaircraft batteries mounted on the islands are an important factor in warding off air attacks directed against the German mainland.

The new measure may indicate that aerial warfare against England soon may assume severe proportions.

Many neutral observers here fail to share the Nazis' optimism as to the outcome of the war. They believe that Germany already is feeling the pinch of the British blockade despite assertions to the contrary. They maintain that the people have been called upon to make great sacrifices despite the fact that heavy fighting has not yet started. In some circles the view is held that Germany muffed its best chance for victory by not staging a lightning war.

Germans Attack British Shipping

German flyers bombed 13 British ships along 400 miles of coast line yesterday despite bitter weather in Britain. Other German planes reconnoitered over land. The German admiralty announced that a string of North sea islands have been proclaimed "military security zones." These islands serve as a jumping off place for German planes. Their antiaircraft batteries also are important in warding off air attacks directed at Germany.

near the steamer Llanwern [4,966 tons] in the Tyneside area without scoring a hit."

Twelve merchant ships and two lightships were reported to have been attacked. Most of the raids took place close to shore and several air raid alarms were sounded along the coast. One report said 18 German planes were seen over the east coast itself. Violent explosions were heard at sea off a north Yorkshire resort.

Ships reported attacked, besides the Llanwern, Tautmila, the Gripfast, and the Otterpool were: British Officer, 6,990 tons; Stanburn, 2,881 tons; Knitsley, 2,272 tons; Wellpark, 4,649 tons; Imperial Monarch, 5,831 tons; Miriam, 1,903 tons; Athel Monarch, and the Dan-Y-Bryn. The names of the two lightships were not available.

In one instance a German plane was said to have attacked a merchant ship about a mile from the coast, dropping six bombs which fell harmlessly.

Shipyard Workers Flee.

Air raid precautions were reported to have worked smoothly.

The nearness of the attacks to shore halted the clatter of shipyard hammers as the workers hurried into underground shelters.

The aerial attacks were coupled with a British announcement that three neutral ships had been sunk by German submarines.

All but one member of the crew were reported lost when the 2,676 ton Danish steamer England was sunk. The number of the England's crew was not given.

At least seven men were lost when the 844 ton Norwegian steamer Faro sank. The captain and six of the crew were rescued.

A British naval vessel picked up a lifeboat with three men who said they were the sole survivors of the 1,591 ton Norwegian freighter Hosanger.

Tows Ship to Safety.

A salvage tug towed the Netherlands ship Nora, 298 tons, to shore, preventing her sinking after a mine blasted away her stern. All of the Nora's crew were believed saved.

The importance of keeping shipping lanes open was emphasized by the announcement of Lennox Boyd, parliamentary secretary of the food ministry, that the government henceforth would monopolize the import of tea. Boyd also declared that after Feb. 5 margarine would be "vitamized" to make it equal to butter in nutrition value.

FUEL SHORTAGE CUTS OFF ELECTRIC POWER FROM JAP INDUSTRIES

TOKIO, Japan, Jan. 30, Tuesday (AP).—Japan's industrial heart virtually stopped beating today when a fuel shortage forced the government to suspend electric power in 14 prefectures embracing Osaka, Kobe and Kyoto. The suspension is likely to continue 14 hours and possibly to Wednesday.

Coal and water are the major factors in production of electricity in Japan and coal is extremely scarce because the war has congested transport lines. A three months' drouth crippled hydro-electric production.

The power suspension did not apply to railways, telegraph or telephone systems nor to factories producing war materials. There was no time to warn factory operators. More than 3,000,000 workers took their places as usual and then were dismissed. The volume of electric power thruout Japan has been reduced several times and lighting in the biggest metropolitan centers has been poor. Electric clocks, even in the railway stations, have been stopped.

Nickel Tubing on U. S. Ship Is Seized by Great Britain

LONDON, Jan. 29.—The British contraband control base at Gibraltar has seized 127,000 feet of nickel tubing from aboard the American steamer Examelia of New York, owned by the American Export lines. The ministry of economic warfare contends the tubing is a device for getting nickel into Germany.

TOWNS IN BRITAIN LACK FOOD; COLD TIES UP SUPPLIES

Train, Boat and Highway Traffic Paralyzed.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 29.—Chaos in transportation, which was described as the worst on record, spread over the British Isles today. Unmentionable weather conditions tied up highway and railroad traffic, shut down schools, and factories in many localities, and cut off food supplies from hundreds of villages in northern England and western Scotland.

The government warned the public there is a shortage of milk, meat, and coal because of the tieup of deliveries. It ordered stringent economies in consumption. The food ministry urged the public to eat mutton instead of beef because the distributed supply of mutton is greater.

The weather is a state secret in wartime. Altho London papers reported the dislocation in transportation, details of the cold wave that is gripping the nation have been banned by the censors.

Trains "Lost" in Muddle.

Officials admitted they were unable to cope with the biggest railroad muddle of the century. Trains which left London and Scotland Saturday still were "lost." Railroad communication between London and Scotland has been cut off and boat services to north Ireland has been abandoned temporarily.

Hundreds of passengers who spent the week-end in snail's pace travel, have been marooned in trains stranded in various parts of the country and in isolated villages and towns up to 36 hours. Many passengers are famished. One hundred children, together with 400 other passengers, were held up more than 20 hours when their train became stalled.

Police and air raid precaution workers organized rescue parties. The children, many of whom were ill from all night exposure, were carried to temporary quarters in a school in a village a mile away. The local police chief appealed to the government food controler for permission to slaughter three head of cattle and 10 sheep for food. The village was cut off from outside help.

Rail Chairman Stranded.

Viscount Horne, chairman of the Great Western railway, was reported to have been stranded two nights and a day in a train en route to Glasgow. The train has not yet reached its destination.

Stories of long delays and cancellation of transport services poured into London. Hundreds of thousands of Londoners were late in getting to work. Street car and bus services were disorganized and overloaded and service on open sections of the subway had to be canceled. Doctors and nurses only visited patients who were seriously ill.

Work in factories and colleries in Wales came to standstill when electric service failed. Mails were held up every where and thousands of telephone lines were damaged.

The war office announced that all home furloughs for the British expeditionary force and members of the air force in France had been suspended because of the weather.

HUNGARY OPENS BITTER ATTACKS AGAINST RUMANIA

Foreign Chief to Bare Attitude Today.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Jan. 29 (AP).—The Hungarian press bitterly attacked Rumania today as southeastern Europe waited for tomorrow's declaration of Hungary's foreign minister, Count Stephen Csaky, on his nation's attitude toward Rumania.

Dropping their self-imposed restraint of recent months, some commentators in Hungarian papers said Rumania was trembling over the possibility of being dismembered.

Hungary has made repeated demands for Transylvania, a district which went to Rumania upon the collapse of the Austro-Hungarian empire after the world war. Circles close to Csaky said he would state Hungary's position in "no uncertain terms" when he appears before the parliamentary foreign affairs committee.

Balkan Entente to Meet.

The Csaky pronouncement assumed greater importance in that it will come only four days before an important meeting of the Balkan entente—Rumania, Turkey, Greece, and Jugo-Slavia—at which Rumania is hoping to gain guarantees of support against all potential enemies, including Hungary.

In the Rumanian-Hungarian newspaper debate on the Magyar-Rumanian relations, a Hungarian authority, Prof. Gyula Kornis, wrote that Rumania uses the Hungarian word for courage since that quality was not known to the Rumanians before they came into contact with the Magyars.

Bucharest newspapers countered that Hungary ceased to exist as an independent nation in 1526. They said that not only did Transylvania join Rumania of its own will but the Rumanians saved Hungary by defeating the Red régime of Bela Kun in 1919.

Battle for Oil Grows.

In Bucharest, the struggle for Rumania's oil grew more intense with the arrival by plane of 25 British and French agents and business men and a group of German negotiators by train.

Germany and the western powers have been engaged in a tug-o-war for several days since Rumania created an oil dictatorship under which Britain and France fear that their companies in Rumania may be forced to furnish oil for Germany's military machine.

Refugees arriving in Bucharest from Russian Poland, including several Polish-Americans, have reported seeing German officers in the former Polish city of Lwow and German soldiers policing the railway linking Rumania and Germany via Russian Poland.

described as "very fierce in character." Finnish planes "bombed assembled enemy troops and supply columns" and shot down two Russian planes and an observation balloon, the communique said.

Unofficial reports from the front indicated the Finns were pursuing the tactics they have found so successful elsewhere, permitting the Russian troops to advance and then swiftly encircling them, harassing the flanks with machine gun fire while light artillery shelled columns massed in the intervening area.

Church Struck by Bombs.

Elsewhere on the land front the Finnish high command noted little activity.

Yesterday, it said, Russian aircraft made "minor raids" in the vicinity of Kotka, Loviisa, Hango and Rauma districts in southern Finland.

In the north, Russian planes bombed Hyrynsalmi and Kuhmoniemi, where a church was struck and several fires broke out.

Finnish officials said the Russians had bombed ten localities in Uusimaa province [Helsingfors county], in Savo province in the north, and also a town on the Gulf of Bothnia yesterday. They said 250 bombs were dropped, but that casualties and material damage were slight.

PLANS TO OPPOSE RADICAL GROUPS SHAPED AT RALLY

A preliminary meeting was held last night in the Labor lyceum, 3202 Ogden avenue, in an effort to organize a "united Democratic front" against communists, Nazis, and affiliated groups. Thirty representatives of various organizations attended. It is planned to organize a city-wide council to collaborate with the National Council of Social Democracy. M. L. Polin, manager of the Jewish Daily Forward, presided.

Invitations to join the council were extended to sixty various groups, including labor unions and foreign language associations. Resolutions were adopted condemning totalitarian governments and all forces of reaction and urging unity among all groups believing in a democracy. Several speakers praised the work of the Dies committee on un-American activities.

MOSCOW WARNS NORWAY: GIVE NO AID TO FINNS

Charges Empires Try to Exert Pressure.

MOSCOW, Jan. 29 (AP).—A warning to Norway that "only a firm rebuff to foreign incendiaries of war and internal reactionaries" would guarantee Norwegian peace and neutrality was given today by the soviet newspaper Red Fleet.

Discussing an alleged "anti-soviet campaign" in Norway and Sweden, the newspaper accused capitalist reactionaries with British and French aid of trying to bring the two Scandinavian nations into war on the side of the Finns.

But Little War News.

Russians received scant official report today of war activity, but an unofficial allegation was made that the Finnish command contemplates the conquest of Leningrad and restoration of the Romanovs.

The Russian command announced tonight that seven enemy planes had been brought down today in the Finnish war. The communique said:

"On Jan. 29 nothing of importance took place on the front. Soviet aviation made reconnoitering and bombing flights. Seven enemy planes were brought down in various districts."

Accuse Mannerheim.

Field Marshal Baron Mannerheim, commander-in-chief of the Finnish army, was accused by the newspaper Trud of believing that his "historical mission is the conquest of Leningrad and restoration of the Romanov dynasty."

Trud, organ of soviet trade unions, added that the Finns "dream of annexing northern Norway and northern Sweden." It charged that the Finnish government oppressed minorities, especially Lapps and Swedes.

HEALTH!

GOOD HEALTH Creates New Loveliness

Good health, once lost, is difficult to regain, so that it pays to keep fit. But frequently, due to overwork, worry and other things, the body and nerves require help in maintaining their normal tone. You may tire too easily, nerves are jittery, digestion and appetite are poor, refreshing rest is often impossible, weight is under normal—conditions that signify it is time to help your system regain its natural vigor.

In many such cases, doctors have recommended MALVAZ—rich in calory content—plus healthful elements, stimulating and vitalizing to a run-down system. It supplies calories of energy and strength-building value—healthful mineral and vitamin elements—all of which tend to pep up your appetite, increase weight, relax ragged nerves and give you a new enjoyment of life.

What is it worth to you—to enjoy more pep and greater energy—to know relief from jittery nerves—to sleep better? We all know that good health is worth almost any price you can pay. Go to or phone your nearest dealer today for a carton of this vitalizing drink or call CANal 6500 and prove to your own satisfaction its value to you.

Economical Operation of UNDERFEED STOKERS

POCAHONTAS coal combines in balanced proportion all the chemical elements necessary for complete combustion and maximum utilization of high-heating units. This chemical composition distinguishes Pocahontas coal from average coal and establishes it as a most efficient and economical fuel for stokers.

Its long-burning qualities effect an appreciable reduction in stoker running time and a saving in cost of operation. Its low ash content reduces to a minimum the time and expense incurred in fire cleaning and refuse disposal. Low in sulphur, Pocahontas coal also burns without releasing objectionable gases.

Use genuine Pocahontas dustless coal and realize a higher return on your stoker investment. A representative of the railway's Chicago Coal Bureau will be glad to explain its advantages to you, and assist in the solution of any fuel problem. Call or write:

BERLIN PROTESTS VATICAN CHARGE POLES SHOT DOWN

Asserts Church Is Aiding Foe's Propaganda.

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—The German government, it was learned today, has made formal representations to the Vatican against the use of the Vatican radio for broadcasting charges of German persecution and slaughter of priests and civilians in the German occupied portion of Poland.

[The Vatican radio broadcast a report of Cardinal Hlond, primate of Poland, asserting that the entire Polish Catholic population was being deported from the former Polish provinces now incorporated in Germany, churches closed, many priests and civilians shot and that there had been many manhunts, plunderings, and persecutions. Germans said any priests shot had been found to be snipers or arms had been found in their homes.]

Representations were made by the German ambassador to the Vatican, who took the stand that by broadcasting such charges the Vatican radio participated in enemy propaganda against Germany.

Part of Counter Campaign.

These representations apparently are part of the German countercampaign designed to discredit reports seeping to the outside world regarding the punishment inflicted on the Polish and Jewish population of Poland, in what is termed here as the reorganization of he German "east room," conquered by German arms in line with Fuehrer Hitler's book, "Mein Kampf," and German's "manifest destiny."

The total of the toll inflicted on Poles and Jews in Poland since Sept. 1 can only be guessed at.

The figures circulating in Germany and the descriptions of the methods employed are so appalling that only an impartial investigation can ever establish the truth. But few observers in Germany doubt the accuracy of what they hear, especially since it became known that even Col. Gen. Johannes Blaskowitz, military commander in chief in the east, took exception to the methods employed.

Call Russians Worse.

The one absolution that the Germans claim for themselves as a nation is that it is even worse across the border in the Russian share of Poland. There the process of reorganization is said to be not national or racial, but class extermination, which is now reported under way according to the old bolshevist method of showing hands.

Only calloused hands survive; soft hands are considered proof of bourgeois membership entailing in most cases execution.

Dr. Robert Ley, German labor front leader, admonished Germans in a massmeeting at Lodz recently, "that in 50 years this will be a flourishing German farmerland, in which there will be not a single Pole or Jew. We shall keep this land for all time. It will nourish Germans and, believe me, even England will not be able to prevent that."

Cardinal Repeats Charges.

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 29.—Conditions in German held Poland have become even worse since Dec. 31, 1939, when the reports he submitted to the vatican and the Polish Green Book were drawn up, Cardinal Hlond said today. He asserted he could confirm every word of the reports and could add even worse details.

Concerning the Russian occupied portion of Poland, the cardinal said conditions in that region were distinctly better than in the German portion, but he said he and his compatriots feared it was only a question of time before matters got much worse. The Russians, he said, were not executing many Poles, but were deporting thousands into Russia. However, he said, there was no question of systematic extermination such as was taking place in the regions attached to Germany.

"Hitler wrote that the Poles cannot be Germanized; they must be wiped out in those regions, and that is what he is doing," Hlond asserted. "It is a deliberate policy of extermination; an effort to root the 7,000,000 people out of their soil in western Poland and to supplant them by Germans."

URGE AMERICAS TO INTERN CREWS LIKE GRAF SPEE'S

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Jan. 29 (AP).—The Pan-American neutrality committee today recommended that officers and crews of belligerent warships who arrive in neutral territory thru shipwreck or other involuntary cause be interned for the duration of the war.

The recommendation was an apparent reference to the cases of the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee, which was scuttled at Montevideo, Uruguay, and her supply ship, the Tacoma, which was interned by Uruguay.

The committee, a board of seven experts on phases of the Americas' 300 mile sea safety zone, forwarded the recommendations to the Pan-American union in Washington to be passed on to the governments of the American republics.

Concessions Blockaded

(Story in adjoining column.)

Japanese planes flew low over British and French concessions in Tientsin yesterday to aid in blockade against food and other supplies.

Friction arose when German seamen were seized from a Jap liner 35 miles from Yokohama (1). It was reported the seamen were interned at Kowloon (2). The concessions in Tientsin (3) were surrounded by electrically charged wire and Japanese sentries after seizure of the seamen.

GIVES HIMSELF UP FOR QUESTIONING IN MURDER CASE

Edward Purdy, 28 years old, described by police as an ex-convict and gambling house card dealer, surrendered to Hudson avenue police last night for questioning in connection with a murder for which he had been sought for three months. He was accompanied by his attorney, George Crane. He refused to give his address.

The murder was that of Peter Stoyan or Stogen, 26 years old, of 1315 Newberry avenue. He was fatally stabbed at Dearborn and Division streets last Oct. 11. The killing was at first attributed to a parking dispute. Police said Stoyan, just before dying, named Purdy as his assailant.

All known gambling haunts in the city were combed for Purdy. Police said he is an ace dealer, who readily found employment in big casinos. Following Purdy's surrender, Detectives Matt Cunningham, Frank Perkins and Frank Healy sought to question him, but he refused to talk. Police said there is some suspicion the killing occurred over money. Purdy will be arraigned in Felony court today.

AMERICANS GET PADEREWSKI'S THANKS FOR HELP

PARIS, Jan. 29 (AP).—Ignace Jan Paderewski, the celebrated pianist and president of the assembly of the Polish parliament in exile, declared today in a broadcast to "my American friends" that the war would "end in the ultimate victory of right and justice."

From Paris the veteran Polish statesman, his voice shaking, expressed his thanks for American efforts in Polish relief and declared "Poland will live again."

Two Firemen Hurt When Fighting Blaze in Store

Fireman Henry Shuenaman of truck company 33 was burned in the face and back and Fireman Stanley Kwasigroch of engine company 123 was cut on the face last night while fighting a fire in a children's wear shop and rooming house at 4752 South Ashland avenue. Ten occupants were forced to the street. Considerable damage was done by smoke and water to stock in Goldberg's department store in an adjoining building at 4756 South Ashland avenue. Total damage was estimated at $20,000.

JAPAN REFUSES TO BE APPEASED BY BRITISH NOTE

To Demand Apology Over Seizure of Germans.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Jan. 30 [Tuesday].—Following publication here today of Great Britain's note refusing to give up 21 German seamen removed from the Japanese liner Asama Maru, it was understood the Japanese government would push demands that its honor and prestige be cleared and that a guarantee against similar seizures in the future be given.

The British note, replying to a Japanese protest filed after a British warship seized the men 35 miles off Yokohama on Jan. 21, took up only the legal aspects of the case. It ignored the political considerations and guarantees which Japan insisted upon.

Japan maintained that its position in demanding the return of the German seamen was based on a fair interpretation of international law and insisted that the precedent set by Germany in seizing Britons on neutral ships does not concern Japan.

Reliable sources said Japan was prepared to take retaliatory measures if Britain seeks to solve the issue only on a legal basis. It was also said Japan would issue a statement rejecting the British views. The foreign office is preparing a second protest.

The newspaper Kokumin Shimbun said the Japanese public demands return of the Germans, future guarantees, and a formal apology.

Planes Aid Blockade.

TIENTSIN, China, Jan. 29 (AP).—Japanese military planes roaring low over the blockaded British and French concessions today aggravated tension of the foreign zone surrounded by electrically charged barricades and Japanese sentries.

Resuming their activities after an interval of several months, the Japanese air craft swooped only a few hundred feet above the zone where the newly tightened Japanese blockade brought a serious shortage of food supplies.

Military authorities declined to comment on the sudden aerial activity.

Attack U. S. Policy.

Barbed wire enclosures around the British and French concessions were charged with electric current Sunday and a food import ban imposed after Japanese-British friction arose over seizure of 21 German seamen from a Japanese liner 35 miles off Yokohama.

Chinese language newspapers controled by the Japanese army meanwhile launched attacks on the United States' abrogation of her friendship and trade treaty with Japan. The pact expired Jan. 26.

One paper declared the action resulted from "American envy of Japan's growing intimacy with China."

Only the barest necessities were available within the foreign areas. Housewives and servants thronged markets in an effort to buy stocks before the food shortage becomes more grave.

Flour was again available, however, after the British council rescinded a regulation fixing the price of flour at a level which holders refused previously to accept.

Total War May Begin Soon, France Warned by Premier

Edouard Daladier.

PARIS, Jan. 29 (AP). — Premier Edouard Daladier tonight called for sacrifice on the part of the whole French people to make ready for total warfare which he said may soon start.

In a broadcast to the nation the premier said the people behind the lines must accept a complete transformation in their lives, as have the soldiers at the front.

Warning that enemy propaganda was seeking to undermine the confidence and resolution of British and French peoples, he said the Germans were seeking to split the two countries.

A Soldier's Rôle for All.

"Every one is in the place best suited to him and must share in carrying the weight of the war," the premier continued.

All, he declared, must be like the soldiers, each molding his life to the urgent need of increasing armaments for the day when the total war starts.

Daladier said he had dissolved the communist party in France because the men of Moscow placed themselves at the orders of Berlin. France, he promised, will always be Republican, but he added: "My government will continue to strike down the servants of Nazi propaganda."

Warns Germany Is Mighty.

The premier declared it was criminal to underestimate the military might of Germany.

"We will win," he continued, "but we must carry off also a victory far exceeding an armed victory."

Warning against a sense of confidence leading to general carelessness, he declared that the total war, which he said certainly cannot be long in breaking out, demands a formidable quantity of arms and munitions. It has therefore been necessary and still is necessary to manufacture them ceaselessly, he added.

The British-French communique tonight stated: "Aviation and artillery showed some activity."

[Germany's war summary yesterday said there were no special events.]

Near East Army "Powerful."

Confirmation that France and Britain are preparing a powerful army in the near east to cope with any German thrust southeast into the Balkans was given in a semiofficial statement. Denying that the army numbers 400,000, the statement adds:

"The allies will have in the near east at the necessary moment sufficient men to face any eventuality."

The statement said the near east army would fulfill the empires' obligations to Turkey, Greece and Rumania, to which help has been promised in case of aggression, and their "duty of friendship" to Jugo-Slavia. The empires have made no public commitment to Jugo-Slavia.

Survivors of the 3,810 ton freighter Alsacien, which was revealed yesterday to have been torpedoed, were landed in France. Two were seriously injured. The torpedo killed two others of the crew.

AUTOMOBILIZED AMERICA

By CALEB

TWO generations ago, certain men toyed with a notion that would change a nation. It was the presumptuous idea of stabling old Dobbin, and substituting for him a steed of steel, with pistons for legs—fed on gasoline and electricity, and wagging a crankshaft.

As would be expected, such visionaries—Ford, Olds, Duryea, Winton and others—were rightly and roundly ridiculed. For, between the bad roads then prevailing, and the dubious early mechanisms perpetrated to run on them, first results were a sorry series of wayside catastrophes. . . . "Get a horse!" grinned America.

Eventually the dreamers won—and the deriders became riders behind their dreams. As for the dreams themselves, these traverse today's landscape some thirty million strong . . . with the record of their enhancement of man's affairs beggaring all statistics.

One statistic, however, affords an interesting clue. It appeared as the highlight of automobilization's picture during the second week of January. On a given day of that week, at eleven in the forenoon, there rolled off the assembly line at Flint, Michigan, the 25,000,000th car produced by General Motors Corporation. Duly celebrated by a "family party" jubilee of 5,000 guests, and a dramatic presentation called March of Men and Motors—the event held far greater significance by symbolizing what has been the entire industry's contribution to modern times.

Since Nineteen Hundred came to calendar, motoring has reoriented America. The consolidation, back in 1908, of but one maker-group—Cadillac, Buick and Oldsmobile—represents, in its twenty-five millionth car, augmentation of national wealth by at least twenty-five billion dollars. Automotively created have been thousands of beautiful roads; motor-born are millions of jobs; motor-linked are thousands of communities.

Motor-attracted, new tides of trade have brimmed national business channels; while motorized social custom, purchasing habit, manufacture, construction, communication, transportation—even government—have transformed the whole tempo of living.

Ford Motor Company's head announces that where it was formerly producing about 5,000 cars and trucks per day, "We expect to double that figure during 1940," and adds, "We have spent literally millions of dollars during 1938-1939 in substantially increasing the productive capacity of the Ford Rouge plant." Obviously, what has been cited of these leaders in the field could be reiterated of other great companies . . . the substance of Motordom's status today being, that in a country where such marvels can evolve, prediction for the future would drain to its dregs the liveliest imagination!

31 LAWMAKERS' RECORDS LISTED IN NEW REPORT

Schnackenberg Is Placed 1st by Voters' League.

Less than two-thirds of the outgoing legislators in 10 districts of Chicago and suburbs received what might be called a passing mark from the nonpartisan Legislative Voters' league in a second report issued yesterday. Records of state senators and representatives in nine other districts were reviewed Sunday by the league.

Highest recommendation received in the group of 31 legislators went to Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg of the 13th district. A Republican who was his party's floor leader in the 1933 and 1937 sessions, he is described as "one of the most efficient and valuable members."

Long Service Cited.

"Nearly 20 years' service have given him wide experience," the league reported. "Very active. Careful student of legislation. Clear cut talker and skilful debater. Sponsored many bills, including a dozen that become laws, and a bill attempting to limit powers of state parole board."

The L. V. L. adopted a kindlier tone, on the whole, toward the legislators, abandoning its former practice of tersely labeling many of them "unfit." It takes the position that the caliber of members is improving. The new report is based mainly on records of the 1939 session of the general assembly. Shortly before the April primary the league will issue a bulletin giving more consideration to members' actions in previous sessions.

Opinions are Given.

FIFTEENTH DISTRICT.

Representative John A. Pelka [R.]—Voting record not satisfactory. Has ability.

SEVENTEENTH DISTRICT.

Representative Carmen Vacco [D.]—Energetic, active.

NINETEENTH DISTRICT.

Representative John J. Gorman [D.]—First term a disappointment.

Representative John O. Hruby [D.]—Experienced, capable.

TWENTY-FIRST DISTRICT.

Representative Robert Petrone [R.]—Unsatisfactory voting record.

TWENTY-THIRD DISTRICT.

Representative Stanley A. Halick [D.]—Voting record hopelessly muddled.

Favorable reports also were made as to Representative Drennan J. Slater [R.], Evanston, and George H. Smith [D.] of the 6th district; Representative Emmett McGrath [D.], Brookfield, Arthur W. Sprague [R.], La Grange, and Bernice T. Van der Vries [R.], Winnetka of the 7th district; Representative William J. Gormley [D.] and Peter P. Jezierny [D.] of the 9th district, and Representative George A. Fitzgerald [D.], Michael E. Hanhigan [D.], and David I. Swanson [R.] of the 11th district.

Disappointment was expressed by the league in the voting records of the following: Senator John J. Meyers [D.] and Representative Charles H. Weber [D.] of the 6th district; Representative William S. Finucane [R.] of the 9th district, Representative Adam S. Mioduski [D.], and John G. Ryan [D.] of the 13th district.

MISS RUTH ENGLESON.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 29 [Special].—A tale of romance growing out of the adventures of the American freighter City of Flint was revealed today. Fourth Officer Carl C. Ellis of Newtonville, Mass., said that while the ship was in Bergen, Norway, he met Miss Ruth Engleson at a dance. A week later he proposed. Next month Miss Engleson is coming to the United States for the marriage.

TESTS ARE MADE EASY FOR POLLS JOB APPLICANTS

They Know Answers and Questions, Too.

The board of election commissioners today will start giving examinations to 22,000 applicants for jobs as judges and clerks in the coming elections.

The applicants already have seen the questions they will be asked. And, in addition, the name, precinct, and ward of the person writing the examination will appear at the top of each paper, in view of the person who grades it.

Law requires the election board to examine the applicants. Previously most of this was done by precinct captains and ward committeemen and as far as the election board was concerned the test was a brief: "Do you know the election laws?"

It's Different This Year.

Board officials, however, said it will be different this year. Applicants are handed a 342 page book of instructions for election officials. At the end of the book are 125 questions concerning election procedure. The questions to be asked in the written examinations have been selected from these.

The examinations will start at 9 a. m. Sixteen hundred applicants will be examined each day. Twelve sets of tests have been prepared to vary the examination.

"Suppose some ward organization has its workers copy a complete set of the twelve tests?" an official in charge of the examinations was asked. "Then all the rest of the organization's workers could memorize the answers."

Thoro Knowledge Assured.

"Maybe so," was the answer, "but a person who memorized all those answers would have a thoro knowledge of election procedure when he got thru."

"Why does the applicant's name and ward appear on the examination?" the official was asked. "Wouldn't a blind number be better?"

The answer to that was: "The examiners are selected from election board employés. No one would think of questioning their honesty."

Credit for experience in working at the polls will be granted to applicants. Five points will be added to the examination score of those who have had one year's experience, 10 points for two years, and 15 points for five or more years.

LEWIS SCORCHES MME. PERKINS AS 'WOOZY IN HEAD'

Miners Ask Roosevelt to Call Jobless Parley.

Columbus, O., Jan. 29 (AP).—John L. Lewis described Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins as "woozy in the head" today and accused big business of failing to coöperate with labor to solve unemployment.

Secretary Perkins.

The United Mine Workers convention, listing the jobless as the No. 1 problem of the country, then urged President Roosevelt to call together leaders in labor, business, industry, and agriculture to devise a solution—a proposal repeatedly advocated by the C. I. O.

Quotes Secretary Perkins.

Lewis, head of the mine workers and the C. I. O., declared in another bitter indictment of the Roosevelt administration that Secretary Perkins told a delegation of U. M. W. officers that she did not believe unemployment was as serious as they reported and asked them to give the Democratic party time and it would work out everything.

"After three hours," Lewis related, "the delegation went away woozy in the head, just like the good woman who is secretary of labor."

Lewis remarked that he believed Miss Perkins would "make a good housekeeper," but "I don't think she knows any more about the economic problems of this country than a Hottentot does about the moral law."

Murray Warns of Trouble.

The C. I. O. chief's outburst against the labor secretary climaxed these highlights of the day's session:

Philip Murray, U. M. W. vice president, declared "uprisings might develop from people seeking a right to live" unless the unemployment problem is solved.

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, former NRA administrator, called on labor "to keep both parties guessing" on its intentions in the 1940 campaign and warned against it becoming "a stupid sucker" by supporting a presidential candidate or party instead of fighting for the issues.

Johnson, once a Roosevelt administration advisor, concurred vigorously with proposals advocated by Lewis, especially the C. I. O. chief's refusal to commit himself on a presidential candidate.

Sidney Hillman, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, assured "there will be no major differences" between his union and the mine workers. He did not mention his indorsement of the Roosevelt administration policies which Lewis earlier called a breach of faith.

JOB INSURANCE REFUSED PENN STATE SENATOR

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 29 (AP).—The Pennsylvania division of unemployment compensation disclosed today that Referee Samuel Roberts at Erie has denied the appeal of State Senator William J. Eroe for jobless insurance payments.

Eroe based his claim on the contention that he was dismissed by the American Cyanamid and Chemical company, and is now unemployed because he already has been paid for his term in the state senate.

The social security officials countered that Eroe still is in effect employed by the state as a member of the senate, subject to call in special session until the end of this year.

DESIRE OF LABOR TO AVOID STRIKES TOLD BY LEADERS

New Arbitration Plans Are Cited.

New contracts made by American Federation of Labor unions with employers recently have showed an increasing use of arbitration clauses to avoid strikes, labor leaders said yesterday. This is an example, they said, of labor's realization that it must cut down the worker's loss thru strikes, which often is as great as that of the employer.

A series of new contracts negotiated by member unions of the Chicago Federation of Labor all contain the arbitration clause. Federation leaders said that similar provision to avoid strikes has not been made to their knowledge in contracts obtained by unions of the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Long Used by Older Unions.

Reuben G. Soderstrom, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor, said that old line unions, such as the printers, stereotypers, machinists, and a few others, had subscribed to the arbitration principle for many years, but that its general adoption by member unions was a recent development.

Discussing the attitude which has convinced labor of the merit of "no-strike" arbitration clauses, Joseph D. Keenan, secretary of the Chicago federation, said:

"Strikes are costly to both employer and employé. They have done much to retard union labor in past years. Not only does the union man lose employment and wages during the strike, but he damages the enterprise of his employer upon which he is dependent.

"The public, too, is inclined to have little patience after so much labor strife in the last few years. Our federation members have a good conscience, but it is to be expected that labor generally should have to suffer to some degree from the acts of its unscrupulous elements under opposition leadership."

Mentions Hotel Strike.

Keenan mentioned the Edgewater Beach hotel strike, settled a few days ago after it had been in progress almost six years, as an example of the waste in strikes. The cost to labor and to the hotel management, according to Keenan, was more than $500,000.

New labor contracts, such as that negotiated recently between the Miscellaneous Hotel Workers' union, local No. 593, and the Chicago Residential Hotel association, with 200 member hotels, show how the arbitration provisions operate.

They provide for negotiations directly between the employer and the union. If these discussions are not successful, each side then appoints two arbitrators of the dispute.

If the board of four cannot iron out the difficulty, it agrees upon a single outside arbitrator, whose decision is binding upon both sides for the duration of the contract period.

The union pledges itself not to strike or to picket while negotiations are in progress. The only exception is when an employer refuses to arbitrate. The union in that case is bound not to have recourse to a strike for 10 days.

COURTNEY OUT FOR RE-ELECTION 'ON HIS RECORD'

State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney made it official yesterday by telling newspaper men that he is a candidate for renomination.

"I want to let you know that I'm a candidate for reëlection," he said. "I'm running on my record of achievement in the last seven years. My petitions are in circulation."

Next Saturday is the first day for filing petitions with County Clerk Flynn. No other candidate for the Democratic nomination for state's attorney has appeared.

WITNESSES BACK DOCTOR ACCUSED OF LOVE MAKING

Austin, Tex., Jan. 29 (AP).—Dr. W. J. Johnson's secretary, cook, and hospital employés testified today his conduct was above reproach and his office was open to public view.

Miss Lera Greer. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

They were called to refute a charge by San Antonio ministers that the 56 year old superintendent of the state's largest hospital for the insane is morally unfit to handle his job. He is trying to prove the charges are slanderous.

First today the doctor's attorneys attacked the morals of one of seven women who formerly worked at the hospital and testified last week he had fondled and kissed them and made improper advances in his office. Then Miss Lera Greer, supervisor in the Johnson home, testified the doctor and his wife were happy together and the doctor always was a gentleman.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys
If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.
The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.
If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

HONEST BALLOT GROUP TO START WORK TOMORROW

Plans for beginning the work of enlisting several thousand volunteer watchers to serve at the polls during the primaries on April 9 will be made at a luncheon of the Honest Ballot committee at the Great Northern hotel tomorrow noon.

"More than 30 organizations sent representatives to a preliminary meeting last November," said Mrs. Harriet M. Robertson, president of the committee, "and we believe that an even greater number will take part in the task of preventing frauds in the big national, state, and county elections this year. Our committee was established five years ago and has been growing ever since."

Tickets for the luncheon will be 85 cents and those expecting to attend have been asked to telephone Mrs. Robertson's office, Webster 4314.

WHEN you can't breathe through your nostrils because they are stopped up by a cold, insert a little Mentholatum. Soothing Mentholatum clears the mucus-clogged passages, lets in air. It clears the way for breathing comfort.

Reports from health departments in many cities indicate an unusually high percentage of coughs-and-colds this month.

Do all you can to avoid them! Keep up your resistance. Eat simple, nourishing food. Get plenty of sleep. Keep away from those who cough and sneeze.

But if you do get a cough, don't fool around with it! Take prompt action! Get after it with a thorough, dependable cough medicine like REM.

There are definite reasons why REM brings relief so quickly:

(1) REM is a real cough medicine — not just a "tickle stopper."

(2) REM clings...and clings...and clings to the throat, soothes the irritation, quiets the cough.

(3) REM works two ways...not only in the throat, but also systemically. That's what makes it so very much more effective.

So if you have a cough, resulting from a cold, lose no time going after it with a real cough medicine like REM. You can get it at any drug store.

P. S.—If you have a head-cold too, remember this: REL is as good for relieving head-colds as REM is for coughs resulting from colds.

RECALL OREGON'S WINNING BATTLE TO END GOONISM

Vicious System Leaves Scars on Industry.

Portland, Ore., Jan. 29 [Special].—Goonism—the latest ism to plague the country—had its rise in Oregon. Here in this far western state, once known as a paradise for labor organizations, was born the vicious system of undercover labor violence now spreading thru the nation's industrial centers.

In this state also, the system had its fall. Driven to a stage of revolt by years of bloody labor strife in which goons left their mark on nearly every industry, an outraged citizenry arose and crushed the outlawry.

Interest in the origin and development of goonism has been aroused recently by official and public scrutiny following disclosures to congress and various government departments of information that goons are being used in labor troubles in many parts of the country. The National Labor Relations board has been accused of maintaining a goon squad.

Name Coined in Comic Strip.

Back to and including its origin, goonism always has connoted something sinister. So far as research can reveal, a comic strip artist coined the word "goon" to name a fearsome monstrosity of great brawn and no brain who menaced the human characters in his cartoon.

From this beginning the word was applied to the mercenary terrorists who participated in the four years of labor wars Oregon suffered until public resentment exploded in 1938. The word is not used to denote those who variously have been called muscle men, strong-arm men, members of flying squadrons and beef trusts, and just plain hoodlums and gangsters.

The goon is an agent provocateur, not a striker. He is a professional slugger whose only interest in any controversy is the money paid him for wreaking vengeance upon his employer's enemies.

Moves in Web of Secrecy.

Secrecy in covering his activities, or at least his affiliations, is an important element in his work. He often is employed to stir up violence in the camp of a rival so that blame will be thrown upon his employer's foes. In many instances his job is to persuade individuals—by use of clubs, bombs, guns, fists, or any other means of attack—to desist in their opposition to his boss.

The germination and growth of such outlawry, reminiscent of Italy's dreaded Mafia and Black Hand terrorism, found a fertile field in Oregon's battling labor unions. A field ever belligerent by nature, with its unions of lusty longshoremen and lumberjacks, it became a hot house for goonism when the labor movement split upon the inception of the C. I. O.

In the ensuing years, mass violence and hundreds of individual crimes committeed in connection with unionism left their bloody and devastating marks, directly or indirectly, on nearly every field of activity in the state.

Men Killed; Fortunes Lost.

A violent and prolonged longshoremen's strike tied up shipping on the entire west coast in 1934. A long strike of 50,000 northwest lumber workers was waged in 1935, a virtual war in which many men were killed and millions of dollars lost in wages and commerce.

In 1936 there were the longshoremen's and lumber workers' strikes which tied up industrial progress and took another big toll in injuries and monetary losses.

Goons were employed thruout these conflicts. An outstanding case of goonism was a raid by members of the International Longshoremen's association, an affiliate of the A. F. of L., on the hall of a rival independent union, the Columbia Rivermen's association. Many men were beaten in the raid and James Connor, an Oregon State college student, working during his vacation as a strike breaker, was shot to death.

Used to Keep Unions Intact.

But goonism struck its heyday stride here in 1937 following the schism between the C. I. O. and the A. F. of L. With A. F. of L. members seceding and joining the C. I. O., both sides used goons freely in an effort to hold or increase their memberships. The same method was used by each organization in industrial strikes.

Hundreds of men, particularly nonunion workers, were ambushed and beaten. The wives and other relatives of men involved in disputes were intimidated. A rock thrown thru a residence window broke the jaw of the innocent wife of a harassed lumber worker.

Homes were sprayed with paint. Stench bombs, bricks, and other missiles were thrown—in barrages and singly—into residences and factories. Paint remover was spread over automobiles and lye was sprayed on newly cut wool. Lead was plugged in keyholes of factory doors.

Bombs Used Freely.

Bombs were a common weapon, especially in Portland, during the seamen's strike involving tank ships in 1936 and the "beer war" of 1936-'37 when teamsters refused to handle beer from California and eastern breweries because of a jurisdictional dispute between unions.

Almost every conceivable form of depredation was employed, apparently no act being too repugnant for the goons. Many attacks were committed under the protective cover of darkness, or by their swiftness concealing the identity of the perpetrators.

The first importation of small time gangsters from outside the state for use as Oregan union goons occurred during the woodsawyers' organization drive of 1935. Alfred Ertman, an independent sawyer, was wounded critically by a shot fired thru the window of his home. The shot also wounded his landlady.

Ex-Convicts Tell Plot.

Two ex-convicts, Willis and Curt Billingham, brothers, confessed they were brought here from California by John Gillis, secretary of the woodsawyers' union, and employed to put Ertman in a hospital. The brothers and Gillis were given 20 year prison terms and a half a dozen other goons employed by the union official were sent to jail.

Police made arrests when they could trace the goons, but convictions were difficult. Victims were hesitant about reporting crimes against them and even more unwilling to prosecute, either thru fear of further assaults upon themselves or their families, or because they were unable to identify the secretly working goons.

On and on went the outrages in a seemingly unending series of labor struggles over water fronts, lumber, cleaning plants, trucks, beer, and whatnot.

Baby Bombed Out of Bed.

The public was tired of it all but still more or less apathetic until it was aroused by a particularly atrocious act of violence. A baby was blown out of his bed by the explosion of a bomb that wrecked a Portland nonunion dry cleaning establishment adjacent to his home. Altho the infant was not seriously injured, his close call broke the public listlessness.

The clamor for drastic action to stop the warfare could not be denied. The Portland city council gave its police department unprecedented powers to smash goon squads. The force went on 12 hour shifts and extra officers were hired.

But the public wanted even more than that. There were insistent demands that the "Oregon system"—the state's method of initiating laws by popular vote—be invoked.

Voters Take Law in Hand.

Initiative petitions were circulated, the measure was put on the ballots, and in November, 1938, more than 200,000 voters enacted by a majority of 50,000 ballots what has been termed the strictest measure for regulating labor unions in the United States.

Recollection of the years of bloody labor strike had so aroused public resentment that the voters were determined to have a law with teeth sufficient to curb the intolerable goonism.

The law struck directly at goons by banning stranger picketing. It made it unlawful for any one to obstruct buying, marketing, and handling of agricultural or other products.

It gave Circuit courts the power to restrain picketing, forbids jurisdictional strikes, outlaws boycotts, and curtails political and fund raising activities of unions. Violators may be imprisoned in county jails or fined up to $1,000.

Police Push Roundup.

The Portland police department's goon squad, aware that public opinion was aroused in their favor, pressed the greatest roundup of goons in the city's history. More than 100 persons, including officials of several unions, were arrested on charges ranging from arson to assault.

State, county and city police coöperated in the drive to stamp out goonism. Aware that the tide had turned, victims came forward to prosecute and about 60 goons were convicted or allowed to enter pleas of guilty.

Since the sweeping goon roundup and passage of the antipicketing law, few instances of violence worse than a fist fight have come to the attention of authorities. There have been few strikes and most of them were quickly settled.

A. F. L. SUSPENDS PRINTERS; PERILS SODERSTROM JOB

Becomes Ineligible as Illinois Chief.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Miami, Fla., Jan. 29—Action which may force the ouster of Reuben C. Soderstrom as president of the Illinois Federation of Labor was taken today by the executive council of the national federation. All locals of the International Typographical union, of which Soderstrom is a member, were suspended from the A. F. of L. because they have failed to pay approximately $20,000 in assessments levied nearly three years ago by the federation. The assessments were to be used in the federation's fight against John L. Lewis' C. I. O.

R. C. Soderstrom.

Has No C. I. O. Leanings.

"We regard him very highly and he has no C. I. O. leanings as some leaders in the typographical union have had," Green said. "We hope that he will join another union so he can hold his post with the Illinois federation. Or we hope that the I. T. U. will quickly see the light, pay up the assessment and enable us to lift the suspension of its locals. If the I. T. U. continues to refuse to pay, complete expulsion from the A. F. of L. may be the next step."

The executive council's order directs all state and city labor federations to disassociate their I. T. U. locals. This will bar these locals from calling on central labor bodies for assistance and prevent any of the local members from holding office in these bodies. More than a hundred I. T. U. men thruout the country, in addition to Soderstrom, will be forced to resign important posts in labor federations.

These locals will, of course, continue to be organized unions, their individual members will still carry A. F. of L. cards and Green said no conflict is expected between them and the other divisions of the allied printing trades which remain in good standing in labor councils.

The I. T. U., one of the oldest unions in America, was founded before the civil war and helped form the A. F. of L. in 1881.

Friction between the A. F. of L. and the I. T. U. began when the C. I. O. was formed. The late Charles P. Howard, then president of the I. T. U., accepted a position as national secretary of the C. I. O. and continued to hold both jobs.

In October, 1938, the A. F. of L., at its annual convention, levied a special assessment of 1 cent a month on its 4,000,000 members to finance the campaign against the C. I. O. All the A. F. of L. unions contributed except the I. T. U.

Voted Not to Pay Assessment.

"Howard submitted the assessment question to his membership, but in a negative way," Green said. "The members voted not to pay it.

"We seated I. T. U. delegates at our 1938 convention on their assurance that the assessment would be paid by the time of the 1939 convention. But it wasn't paid and we refused to accept their delegates last October.

"Claude M. Baker of Los Angeles, now president of the I. T. U. and several of his associates are very friendly to us and have indicated they want the assessment paid. But their hands are tied because by I. T. U. rules, 150 of its locals would have to petition for referendum on the question of paying. We hope the referendum will be forthcoming soon.

"I regret this situation deeply and attribute it to the association which some I. T. U. leaders had with the C. I. O. when the latter was founded. But there is no probability or possibility that the I. T. U. will join the C. I. O. We hope to bring the I. T. U. back into the fold."

Sees I. T. U. Go Its Own Way.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 29 (AP).—Claude M. Baker, president of the International Typographical union, expressed belief here tonight the I. T. U. would "go its own way until there is a healing of the breach in the general labor movement."

The American Federation of Labor executive council suspended the printers' organization today in Miami, Fla., for its refusal to pay a special A. F. of L. assessment to fight the assessment to fight the C. I. O.

"So far as I know there is no intention to pay these dues," said Baker.

VICTOR LEVADI.

Victor Levadi, four years old, enjoyed himself Sunday at his elder brother's birthday party. Yesterday Victor decided to have a small party for himself. He found a birthday cake candle, lighted it, and began his celebration in a clothes closet at his home, 4248 Jackson boulevard.

A few minutes later he ran to his mother, Mrs. Hanna Levadi, to report that his party was getting out of hand. She went with him to investigate, and found the closet and bedroom in flames. Firemen put the fire out after it had caused $200 damage.

DEWEY PETITION BLANKS ARE SENT ALL OVER STATE

Attorney Leonard C. Reid yesterday began mailing petition blanks carrying the name of Thomas E. Dewey to all the elected officials of the Republican party in Illinois without regard to their alignment in Illinois primary contests.

Only 3,000 signatures are required on a petition to enter the New Yorker's name in the Illinois presidential preference primary — a vote considered advisory to delegates to the G. O. P. national convention. Reid explained that altho it would be easy for any one party group or branch to reach that goal, the widespread mailing was chosen as a means of keeping the Dewey candidacy clear of any family rows in the state.

The petitions were sent to members of the state central committee, to ward and township committeemen in Cook county and to precinct committeemen of the 101 other counties in the state. The first day for filing presidential preference petitions is next Saturday and the last day is Feb. 9.

People spend their money for a newspaper in order to get the news. They want timely, comprehensive reports based on fact, free of propaganda, and illustrated with photos, maps, and charts.

To supply such service the Chicago Tribune spares no expense or effort.

In addition to receiving the reports of the Associated Press and the dispatches of the New York Times and the London Telegraph, the Tribune maintains its own staff of foreign correspondents in the news centers of Europe and thruout the world.

Experienced in gathering the news on foreign soil, these men and women know how to sift the truth from the propaganda with which the various powers seek to enlist American support. Uncontrolled and undominated, they do their own fact-finding.

They write from the American viewpoint, getting the news from both sides and reporting it impartially.

That is why, in a period when knowledge of developments abroad is of supreme importance to the welfare of Americans, when you read the Tribune, you get the information you need to draw your own conclusions.

PLANE FACTORY FOUND TUNED UP FOR WAR ORDERS

'Can Turn 'Em Out Under Pressure,' Says Guide.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 29.—The last nails were being pounded into a huge packing case in the Glenn L. Martin company's big disassembly hangar today at the Middle River plant here. Thru the open end of the case the tail surfaces of the airplane therein were visible. They bore the French military air insignia and the number "181."

"Sure, that's one of the French air ministry order," said the Martin representative conducting the visitor thru the plant. "They bought 385 from us. How many have been delivered we aren't allowed to say, but we can't prevent you from reading the number on the ships in here. Use your own judgment."

Nos. 182 and 183 Nearby.

A few feet away stood bombers No. 182 and 183. Both were going thru what is known as the "prepacking test." This consists of running up the two big twin row Wasp 1,200 horse power motors in each plane, and operation of its landing gear, propeller, flap, and other essential controls. On completion of these tests they, too, were to be packed for shipping.

Mechanics swarmed over the ships. Only one had its outer wing panels attached. Both were supported on jacks that took the full weight of the planes as the landing wheels, which are retractile for full efficiency in flight, were alternately raised and lowered. The noise from the engines in the confined hangar was deafening.

"This goes on day and night," the guide explained, shouting into the visitor's ear. "We've gotten up to a production of about three planes a day on a five day week. The shops work 24 hours a day except on Saturday and Sunday. But we've had a shortage in engines recently and production is down now to two ships daily."

Visit Has Two Objects.

The scene was the final one in a three hour inspection of the plant that sprawls over nearly 1,000 acres along the bay front. This writer, armed with permission from the army air corps at Washington, followed along the Martin assembly line to get a first hand picture of the closest approach to actual "production manufacturing" the aircraft industry has achieved.

The visit was made with two main purposes. First, THE TRIBUNE desired information concerning the progress of the country's manufacturers on the foreign orders for military planes that virtually every big plant possesses. Second, it was regarded important to get a view of the industry's capacity to build planes under war pressure—which the present orders are testing.

Glenn Martin's plant was chosen for a first visit because it is one of the largest in the country and because Martin has huge orders for fighting planes, both from our own air corps and from abroad.

Swift and Deadly Plane.

The planes being constructed for France are the Martin type 167-F bomber. This is an all-metal machine, small, swift and deadly. Its wingspan is only 61 feet 4 inches, considerably less than the Douglas transports use on the air lines in this country. Yet its engines are as powerful as the largest motors now in use on the domestic air lines.

The result is that it is a 300 mile an hour machine.

Its construction embodies the latest advances in engineering. Flush rivets are used throughout to give the metal "skin" a perfectly smooth finish. This is important at 300 miles an hour. Tests have shown that the tiny heads of thousands of rounded rivets cut as much as 30 miles an hour from performance.

Cabin's Size Cut Down.

The ship's cabin has been cut down to such an extent that it is barely wide enough for the pilot's seat, the radio operator's movements, and stations for a nose gunner and a rear gunner. The interior of the fuselage shell—it is constructed without cross bracing or longitudinal members—is a maze of wiring, control lines, hydraulic lines, fuel lines, and gun and bomb sights.

The French plane differs from the American bombers—not yet in production—only in the size of the motors. The American ships will have more powerful engines and consequently will have a higher performance. Just what this difference will be is a military secret.

The entire French order is being produced in what is known as hangar No. 3. This vast building was erected in 11 months and completed last spring.

Test Flights Eliminated.

"We're not test flying the ships any more," the guide explained. "The French found they performed so well that they called off the flights. We assemble them, test them on the ground, and ship 'em. They install the bombsights, racks, and guns over there.

"We're just about to begin on the army order. We'll go thru that in a hurry. We're all tooled up for it. We have the material, the engines will come in on time, and we've got our factory force trained to the job now.

"Our troubles were in getting started on the French order. We took on 10,000 green men in six weeks. Now these fellows are experienced. We can turn 'em out under pressure. We're about halfway thru the French lot and it will not interfere with our own air corps purchases."

THREE SERIOUSLY HURT WHEN AUTO HITS TREE IN PARK

Machine Skids as It Passes Another.

Two men and a woman were seriously injured last evening when their car crashed into a tree near the Grant monument, in Lincoln park. Witnesses said the machine skidded as it passed another car.

The victims are Jack Canaan, 39 years old, 4551 Ravenswood avenue; Russell Bonnell, 37, of 4748 North Ashland avenue, who was driving, and Miss Genevieve Jorgensen, 34, of 3409 North Keeler aveue. Bonnell and Canaan, bus company drivers, suffered skull fractures, and are in the Columbus Memorial hospital. Miss Jorgensen, a typist, incurred arm and leg fractures. At the Augustana hospital, where she was taken, it was said it may be necessary to amputate her right leg.

Driver Faces Three Charges.

Hit and run drivers were involved yesterday in traffic cases which caused three deaths and injured two other persons.

One driver, Clarence Klemp, 23 years old, of 6349 South Justine street, captured late Sunday after he struck and killed Mrs. Martha Eichin, 66, of 6829 Indiana avenue, and seriously injured her son, Robert, 35, was booked for manslaughter, reckless driving, and leaving the scene of an accident. He will be arraigned today in Felony court.

Raymond Kujawa, 22 years old, 3042 Farrell street, was ordered held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter by a coroner's jury in the death of John Garbaciak, 23, of 4733 South Springfield avenue. Garbaciak was struck by Kujawa's car Sunday night as he stood on a safety island in front of 4892 Archer avenue. Kujawa failed to stop. Witnesses pursued him in a taxi and arrested him.

Walter Gingoia, 65 years old, 882 North Marshfield avenue, struck at Ashland avenue and Augusta boulevard last Thursday by a hit and run automobile, died in County hospital.

Ture D. Johnson, 50 years old, 839 Newport avenue, died in John B. Murphy hospital of injuries incurred when he was struck in Lake Shore drive at Hawthorne place by a taxicab driven by Leonard Du Pont of 905 Cuyler avenue.

Hit, Run Victim Dies.

Joseph Sadlo, 43 years old, 5529 South Kildare avenue, died early today in the county hospital of a skull fracture. Supposedly the victim of a hit and run car, he was found yesterday at 55th street and Pulaski road.

Miss Elizabeth Zalewski, 17 years old, 2907 East 138th place, Burnham, died in South Chicago hospital of injuries suffered Jan. 21 when the car in which she was riding with Steve Salewski, 8309 Buffalo avenue, crashed into a street car at 118th street and Avenue O.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 79 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 59 were killed in Chicago, where 1,759 were injured in the same period.

Penalties on Unpaid 1938 Realty Taxes Rise Thursday

Property owners who are delinquent in their 1938 real estate taxes were reminded by County Treasurer John Toman yesterday that Thursday—Feb. 1—will bring increases in penalties on unpaid installments. The penalty on unpaid first installments will go to 9 per cent and on second installments to 6 per cent. Under the law the penalties increase 1 per cent each month.

SUGGEST ROUTE FOR NORTHWEST HIGHWAY TODAY

Advisory Group to Give Report to County Board.

BY HAL FOUST.

An advisory commission for the county board this morning is to recommend the location of a $40,000,000 superhighway northwest from the central business district.

Two agencies in this commission, the Chicago Association of Commerce and the Chicago Regional Planning association, are expected to indorse a route paralleling Clybourn and Elston avenues for mose of its distance. The third agency, the Chicago Motor club, will favor a route paralleling an existing Chicago and North Western railroad embankment, using Avondale avenue for most of its distance.

Deadline for Plans Near.

This commission of three civic organizations, appointed four months ago, will report to the county board. The board will refer its plans to the city council before final adoption of a location which must be filed with the state department of public works before March 1. This date is the deadline for filing location plans under statutes authorizing the city and the county each to spend half of their gasoline tax revenue for the next 20 years for superhighway construction.

The alternate locations call for different types of construction. On the Clybourn-Elston site the superhighway would be depressed. It would be elevated on the Avondale route along the railroad. The Chicago Motor club, in favoring the elevated roadway beside the railroad embankment, said that it would not urge its preference to an extent that might delay construction.

"Either plan," said Charles M. Hayes, president of the club, "will expedite travel and reduce the accident toll thru its provision for express roadways free of cross traffic, free of pedestrians, and free of parking. It is important that there be no delay in getting such an improvement.

Praises Elevated Route.

"The elevated beside the railroad has the decided advantage, however, of not creating a new barrier bisecting neighborhoods as would be done by a depressed route on the alternate location. Furthermore, the neighborhoods to be traversed prefer the elevated on Avondale."

The Clybourn-Elston depressed motorway would connect with rural highways at Bryn Mawr avenue and Higgins road. At the downtown end there would be tunnel connections in Cedar and Elm streets with Lake Shore drive. The depressed highway would also feed into four one-way streets, Ontario, Erie, Huron, and Superior.

DRIVES A TRUCK ALONG A TRACK; GETS FIVE DAYS

Henry F. Meagher, 41 years old, 3441 North Kilpatrick avenue, a truck driver who lost his bearings so completely that he drove his truck loaded with 3,600 gallons of kerosene down the Wabash railroad tracks Saturday night, yesterday was sentenced to five days in the county jail for reckless driving. Judge Frank Donoghue in Safety court also suspended his right to drive for 10 days.

Meagher was driving along Southwest highway when he came to the tracks at 81st street. He turned right and bumped along the right of way unconcernedly until he reached Ashburn station, nearly a mile away.

INCOME TAX AID GIVEN IN LOOP TRIBUNE OFFICE

Free assistance in filing income tax returns is being given daily at The Tribune public service office, 1 South Dearborn street. Carter H. PUSH PROGRAM OF DEATHPROOF EXPRESS ROADS

40,000 Builders Open Annual Meeting.

BY HAL FOUST.

Construction of deathproof highways, urban and interregional, was urged in a keynote address yesterday at the opening of the 37th annual convention of the American Road Builders' association. The speaker was Murray D. Van Wagoner, Michigan highway commissioner and president of the association. The convention, with 40,000 registered delegates, will continue thru Friday, with most of the sessions in the Stockyards inn, next to a $5,000,000 exhibit of road building equipment in the International amphitheater, 42d and Halsted streets.

M. D. Van Wagoner.

Van Wagoner cited three possible sources of funds to stimulate street and road building which for the last few years has involved annual expenditures of nearly $2,000,000,000. He recommended a halt to the diversion of motorists' taxes from highway funds, a diversion he estimated at $317,000,000 a year. He recommended road building as part of the national defense program. And he recommended road building for unemployment relief.

Collect $150,000,000 a Year.

The Michigan commissioner said the federal government is now collecting $150,000,000 more a year in special taxes from motorists than it is spending for roads. Congressman Wilburn Cartwright of Oklahoma, chairman of the house roads committee, joined with Van Wagoner in urging that federal highway expenditures should equal special federal taxes on motorists, including the 1 cent a gallon federal gasoline tax.

The two speakers agreed that all available funds, including $167,000,000 of motorists' taxes now being diverted by states to other than road purposes, are needed to reduce the nation's traffic toll and to increase the efficiency of motor transportation.

Two Methods of Financing.

Cartwright said his committee is considering two possible methods to further such a death-proof construction program. One would authorize a federal agency to borrow from the Reconstruction Finance corporation for the purchase of superhighway right of ways in large cities. The other would authorize cities and states to borrow from the RFC for this purpose long term loans at low interest, to be paid from future gas tax collections.

This morning and this afternoon will be devoted to technical papers at sectional meetings. Tonight Mexican road officials will take a leading part in a discussion of the Pan-American highway.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Europe has a set of primary interests which to us have none or a very remote relation. Hence she must be engaged in frequent controversies, the causes of which are essentially foreign to our concerns. Hence, therefore, it must be unwise in us to implicate ourselves by artificial ties in the ordinary vicissitudes of her politics or the ordinary combinations and collisions of her friendships or enmities."—From the Farewell Address.

WHY THE UTILITIES ARE WHIPSAWED.

The President has declared that he wants the public utilities to expand their facilities, both to promote the national defense and to provide jobs for the unemployed. The privately owned utilities have signified their desire to increase their capital equipment, have laid out programs totaling 600 million dollars of additions in 1940, and have been taking their issues to the Securities and Exchange commission for approval.

But by a series of alarming decisions or orders the SEC has let it be known that the utilities are going to have the greatest difficulty in getting money in carrying out their expansion programs, consistent with the President's desires.

Late in December the SEC issued an order in response to the application of the Consumers Power Company of Michigan to issue $28,500,000 of bonds at the low rate of 3¼ per cent, due in 30 years. The commission cut the issue down to 18½ million dollars, which was enough to enable the company to pay off an outstanding bond issue bearing a higher rate, but left nothing for an expansion program. The commission said that if the company wanted 10 million dollars more for construction purposes it should get the money by selling common stock. The rejection of the increase denied the company access to the bond market, which has been taking new issues avidly at a low rate, and made it turn, if it is to get some more money, to the stock market, where the top grade of common utility stocks are selling to yield nearly 6 per cent.

For a long time the public utility holding companies which were well supplied with funds have been making advances to their subsidiaries on open book account. As a result of an order issued last week that can no longer be done without prior permission having been obtained from the SEC.

The commission also refused to give its approval last week of a $25,000,000 issue of Dayton, O., company bonds, largely for construction purposes. The reason given by the SEC was that it wasn't clear that there had been dealing at arm's length between the underwriter and the utility company, altho the issue was to carry a rate of 3 per cent and would have been sold at a price to yield about that rate. The commission asserted that the chief underwriter, Morgan Stanley & Co., had had close relations with the United corporation, owner of a block of stock in the Columbia Gas and Electric company, parent of the Dayton company.

Those orders show that the purpose is obviously for SEC to prevent the utilities from adequately serving their customers as a prelude to their confiscation.

This purpose began to be manifested last year right after the appointment of Leon Henderson as a commissioner. Henderson owes his job to Thomas Corcoran, the President's No. 1 adviser since Prof. Raymond Moley's retirement. What the administration's leading thought man was determined to do to the utilities thru his man Henderson was revealed in the following report of a conversation between Corcoran and Moley right after President Roosevelt's reelection:

"Tom assured me that the utilities were 'licked.' I asked whether that meant that the TVA was going to try to take over the Commonwealth and Southern.

"'And you're damned right it will—and all of the rest of them, too,' Tom said.

"'You realize what that means?'"

"'Well, we're going to squeeze them for a couple of years, at any rate,' Tom said.

"I remarked that you don't do that kind of thing for 'a couple of years.' If you did it, it stayed done.

"'Yes, I suppose so,' was the answer. "It won't come fast, but twenty years from now the government will own and operate all the electrical utilities in the country.'" [From Moley's "After Seven Years," p. 354.]

The squeeze is on.

THE ASSOCIATION OF COMMERCE ON THE JOB.

The current news letter sent member of the Chicago Association of Commerce by their president, Oscar G. Mayer, reflects a most wholesome state of activity in that organization. This is all the more welcome because the association in the years before Mr. Mayer's election as president had not always been as energetic in advancing the city's interests as it might have been.

Thru its newly established all Chicago council the association is rallying the people of Chicago against the intolerable racketeering and violence that beset too many Chicago unions and trade associations. On another front spokesmen for the association made strong representations to local governments against increased governmental costs. They were not wholly successful, but some good results were achieved.

Another of the association's departments is working hard for the establishment here of a federal aviation research laboratory, which if obtained should furnish a nucleus for the aviation manufacturing business Chicago is trying to develop. Arrangements have been completed for the entertainment of 16,000 buyers at the Spring Market week starting Feb. 5.

The association faces a huge task, involving many different activities intended to restore Chicago's position of leadership in industry, commerce and finance. Mr. Mayer's report shows his organization is attacking its problems with a will and making progress in some important directions.

HE DOESN'T SAY YES AND HE DOESN'T SAY NO.

"Any President of the United States can renominate himself if he wants to," Senator Burton K. Wheeler told the United Mine Workers in convention in Columbus. "The federal government has too large an organization, too much patronage for any one to overcome it. It has always been true that a President could renominate himself and the government today is larger than at any time in its history."

Senator Wheeler apparently does not believe that the Hatch law will do much to limit the political activity of New Deal place holders or keep them from dominating a Democratic national convention. Few Presidents have had much difficulty in nominating themselves for a second term. None has yet tried it for a third. We all recall one President who got his second nomination, but split the Republican party in two and didn't get his second term.

Mr. Wheeler concedes that a government organization with the largest pay roll in the history of the country—nearly 2 billion dollars a year, plus all the subsidies and WPA—could nominate even for a third term. If he is right in this opinion, the people would have any additional reasons they needed for vetoing such a break with tradition. Otherwise, the republic would be facing the possibility of life tenure and dynastic succession.

Senator Wheeler thinks Mr. Roosevelt is wrongfully advised to keep his intentions secret and that he should declare himself. The more intimate White House associates do not want a declaration and they may be the wiser. If the answer was yes—a third term—all the objection to it would be released in fighting trim and the battle would be on at once. If the answer was no—no third term—the New Deal might go floating away like a loose balloon.

Mr. Roosevelt by saying neither yes or no retains full political stature and as an uncertainty he protects himself. If he said he were not a candidate, he would shrink to the political proportions of a man who was going out of office within a year and retiring to private life, where he would lose all his value to the politicians. The moment he says yes the fight starts, and the moment he says no there will be fewer gentlemen taking off their hats in his outer office.

The reproaches Mr. Roosevelt's fellow travelers have recently directed at him, Mr. Browder for the communists and Mr. Lewis for the C. I. O., have been interesting and instructive. Mr. Browder, after his conviction for passport frauds, said that the comrades were being pushed about for the present because temporarily they were of no use to the New Deal. Even when they were being used he said they were treated as poor relations, but nevertheless their aid in rousing the masses and carrying elections was gladly sought.

In spite of the seeming alienation of affections, there is no alienation of ideas. Mr. Browder could further complain that altho the New Deal has cut the communist acquaintance for the sake of appearances, it is still running away with communist ideas. That is in its nature and cannot be disowned by turning the cold shoulder suddenly to Stalin and the American Stalinites. The New Deal merely takes the label off the coat, but continues to wear the garment.

When Mr. Roosevelt was a candidate for the second term THE TRIBUNE printed the documents obtained from Russian sources which revealed the political collaboration of the communists and the New Dealers along with reports from Mr. Browder on the successful penetration into the dominant political party, and of the rapid progress of socialist ideas. Mr. Roosevelt, in a campaign speech, said that this was not true, that the people knew his personal background and knew he could have no connection with the communist movement and no sympathy for its doctrine. Mr. Browder says now that the New Dealers were using the communists to rouse the masses, that the communists were consulted by the New Deal candidates, helped them in their campaigns, and, indeed, had to put the brakes on some of the ideas and methods because they were going at too fast a pace. Obviously, Mr. Browder is telling the truth. The New Dealers denied it to deceive the voters. How much more deception?

PERTINENT QUESTION.

[Memphis Commercial Appeal.]

A contemporary in one of these question and answer columns that are designed to slake the great American thirst for knowledge recently printed this query: "What is the gear ratio of a Washington, D. C., and what does it cost?". It is high time, we think, that this pertinent question be asked, even if it has to happen thru the medium of a pi line or two. It is regrettable in the extreme that no one knows the answer offhand, but it might be possible to find out if everybody fell to and worked on the problem. Our suspicion is that the ratio is very low and the cost inordinately high, but it is not fair to operate on mere assumptions.

HORRORS!

An ardent angler had a four hours' tussle with a huge salmon before he was able to land it. He took it home in ecstasy and related his triumph to his aunt. For some moments there was silence, and then, with a puzzled expression, his aunt looked up from her knitting. "But, my dear Arthur," she said, "why did you not cut the string and get rid of the brute?"—Montreal Star.

MR. PEPYS AT THE OLD PLACE.

29th Jan.—Did foregather with divers ink-stained wretches and their fair ladies the other night at Schlogl's, a café that is as famous in Chicago as the Cheshire Cheese in London, to celebrate its reestablishment according to the old tradition. The slogan of the evening was, "Richard is himself again," for lo, the Richard Schneider, who was chief waiter there for many years under the Schlogls, father and son, is now mine host.

If any one wants to write about Chicago literature and journalism for the past forty years or more, he may study dusty tomes in libraries until he becomes almost blind, but in the end he must go to Richard to get the real dope. For a dinner or a lunch at Schogl's now and then has been the custom of the writing breed in this town since 1879, and Richard, though not as old as that, has kept tabs on the customers, in more ways than one. He has their autographs and their pictures; he has rejoiced at their successes and been a mourner at their funerals.

Nothing has been changed at Schlogl's, I do believe, since the 1880s; it is a piece of old Chicago. It was always a place for men of good appetite, who needed hearty nourishment and sound cooking for the work of building this city; and Richard knows all the ancient secrets of its grill. In the old days financiers of La Salle street would repair to Schlogl's for game in season; and today, in front, a stately roebuck is hanging by the heels, ripening into choice venison steaks.

So the other night the ink-stained wretches, classes from 1900 to 1930, had a home-coming at the old place on Wells street, and gave Richard a "Hoch soll Sie leben," and toasted him in flagons of various drinks, my own taste running to Brauneberger 1926; while the good little man was happy enough to weep if he had not been so busy shoving glasses over the bar.

WIZARD OF THE NORTH.

(Sir Walter Scott, 1771-1832.)

Come with your high boots and a quarter staff
To take the road of wild historic hills;
Never to be without good ale to quaff,
Rarely to lodge without heroic thrills.
Buckle your bosom tight within your vest
For never will you have had more genial guide
To lead the mind on legendary quest
Of ancient splendors at untiring stride.
Now by a winter fastness' blazing log,
Or 'long a watercourse in summer wood,
Beneath a castle wall, where yeomen clog,
Or chieftains plot mysterious interlude;
Over the tented field, by cottage door—
The master of the great hall and the moor!

When Authors Rode the "Owl" Cars.

Your stories about Opie Read have reminded me of his colleague and companion, Stanley Waterloo, also a famous character of the old Press club. Here's a classic tale about Stanley:

He was going home on an "owl" car one night after a late session at the club. The tired author was obliged to stand in the aisle. Now remember that Stanley had a glass eye, so natural it could not be told from the other. Fixing his good eye on a woman who was occupying a desirable seat, he took out his pocket knife, and, as if absentmindedly, began to tap his glass eye with the sharp edge of the blade.

The woman gave a horrified gasp, and hurried to the rear of the car, leaving the excellent seat to the tired Press club habitué.

[Stanley Waterloo's novel on prehistoric man, called "The Story of Ab," was the first in its vein. Its material and style were imitated, almost to the point of plagiarism, by Jack London for his "Before Adam." Waterloo used to choke with rage whenever London's name was mentioned.]

THE INEXCUSABLE LION.

(A Brookfield ballad.)

The lion can't do much but roar,
I wonder what God made him for;
It takes all of his brain and might
To satisfy his appetite.
He's only called the King of Beasts
By those who don't attend his feasts;
The others, while they dodge his jaws,
Wish some one soon would pass some laws
So they might live in forest lanes

A NEW ANTIDOTE FOR ALLERGY.

WE have had a good deal to say about that busy laboratory—the human body. We realize how delicate is the balance which it maintains between acids and alkalis and how disastrous may be any interference with its workings. Thousands of vital chemicals are manufactured daily, hourly, even every second—some in very minute portions. Nevertheless, infinitesimal amounts may induce powerful effects and when there is a shortage we may be confronted with the collapse of a stalwart 6 footer.

What are some of these essentials? Insulin is one—prepared by the pancreas. Then, other departments are able to split proteins [meats] into many simple substances, later putting them together—forming muscle. One of the most interesting is histamine—which is present in all animal tissues and whenever protein undergoes putrefaction.

Why is this material important? First, it stimulates the autonomic nervous system, affecting the performance of all smooth muscles. In fact, one part to five hundred million of water can be detected by its action upon a guinea pig. When applied to the skin, swelling and redness will be noted. The temperature of the area rises and remains higher than normal for from two to eight hours.

Now, most of us have learned that allergy is usually associated with a protein or one of its products. The suggestion that histamine may be responsible frequently is plausible because there is an oversupply in the body most of the time. It would seem then, that if each person could be desensitized to an excess, allergic symptoms would vanish. This is why itching, migraine, and some varieties of arthritis are treated by tiny quantities of histamine. The injections are given in the hope that after a time the body will lose its ability to react unfavorably—thru an acquired immunity. Eczema, hay fever, asthma, etc., are supposed to yield to this management by establishing an indifference to the irritant.

In a recent article Jonathan Forman related his experience with histaminase which—when added to histamine—neutralizes its influence. The compound has been found in the blood, liver, muscles, spleen, lungs, and abundantly in the kidneys and the mucous lining of the duodenum. It does not occur in the gastric pouch.

Going back to our original assumption that many forms of allergy are due to the existence of histamine, perhaps in enormous proportions, is this "rubbing out" agent worth a trial in combating some of the susceptibilities of which many individuals complain? Let's see what happens.

Forman reports the case of a 40 year old woman who suffered periodically with severe edema [swelling] of the face. An elimination diet failed to provide relief. After ten units of histaminase had been administered daily for two days—followed by half the dose for the ensuing eight days—all trouble disappeared. Later, it was learned that—with her—the principal "starter" was fish and when this edible was consumed her symptoms returned, but were again controled with histaminase.

The plan of desensitization against histamine is accomplished by the use of histaminase, which seems to digest it or render it inert. Naturally, further studies will be required before a definite explanation can be made as to the mode of action of the drug; but, so far, untoward results have not occurred and the patients all look and feel better.

Finally, attention should be called to the beneficent rôle of histaminase in fighting serum sickness. Should an antitoxin be demanded—and the patient prove sensitive—this enzymelike substance will ease distress in a large percentage of victims.

NOSE WHISTLER.

Miss V. R. writes: When I get up in the morning—or after a nap in the afternoon—I suffer from whistling and wheezing. In about an hour the condition disappears. I am 18 years old. Could this be due to a heart disorder?

REPLY.

These symptoms are characteristic of swelling of the mucous membrane within the air passages—possibly due to allergy. No relation to heart trouble.

TONSILS AND TEETH.

Mrs. S. writes: What is your opinion on:

1. Radium for removal of tonsils?
2. Gas, ether, or novocaine for the removal of two sets of teeth?

REPLY.

1. Radium is not advised for this purpose.
2. Let your physician and your dentist decide which type of anesthetic is best suited for your general physical condition. Ordinarily a solution of novocaine is effective.

CERVICAL ARTHRITIS.

N. B. writes: I have had cervical arthritis for seven months. Can you tell me the cause and treatment?

REPLY.

Like most forms of arthritis, it is due probably due to some infection. If the source can be found it should be removed. Heat and rest are of value.

BREAST TUMOR.

S. U. writes: If a lump in the breast has not grown for a year, need anything be done about it?

REPLY.

It would be safer to remove it. Tumors that are "out" cannot give trouble.

FAST TRAINS.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—Mr. Richardson, in his letter the other day, mentioned the New York Central and the Pennsylvania as having the best in roadbeds, rails, safety devices, and equipment, and wondered where they were when it comes to fast train service. The fact of the matter is that these two roads operate more fast trains than any other roads in the country.

The New York Central leads in this respect with 66 trains, which make 166 runs totaling 14,382 miles daily at speeds of 60 miles per hour or faster. In order to figure mile a minute train mileage only, the average for origin to destination is not used. Instead, only portions of the run which are made at 60 miles per hour or more are used in these figures. For example, the Twentieth Century Limited shows better than 60 miles per hour between six stops over a distance of 809 miles. The remaining 160 miles of the trip are not covered at a 60 mile per hour rate, and are not included. So we have one train making six runs totaling 809 miles at better than a mile a minute.

Second to the New York Central is the Pennsylvania with 86 trains making 268 runs totaling 13,573 daily train miles at 60 miles per hour or better. Of this total, 212 runs totaling 9,588 miles are electrically operated. The rest are steam powered.

These two roads rule the rails so far as speed is concerned, and they do so without fanfare, extensive ballyhoo, excessive printers' ink, or boob-baiting spectacles. Neither road employs lightweight equipment extensively, and the New York Central uses only steam power, most of which is unstreamlined. Not so bad for a couple of old fashioned, out moded railroads, is it?

Third: Santa Fe, 14 trains, 71 runs, aggregating 7,548 miles, but 36 of these runs, 5,319 miles, are twice a week runs.

Fifth: Union Pacific, 25 trains, 63 runs, 4,826 miles, but 18 of these runs, 2,547 miles, are not daily runs.

Lay off the eastern roads; they have nothing for which to apologize!

WHERE WE GET OUR GENERALS.

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 23.—Regarding the proportion of high ranking officers of the army who are not graduates of West Point, the following was the status on Oct. 20, 1939, according to the army list and directory of that date and the 1939 Army Register:

Graduates of West Point. Rank.		Not Graduates of West Point. Rank.
General	0	General	1
Lieut. General	2	Lieut. General	2
Major General	7	Major General	9
Brig. General	34	Brig. General	12
Total	43	Total	24

Note that while about two-thirds of the general officers are West Pointers, the non-West Pointers have a 12 to 9 majority in the three highest grades. This should remove any ideas of lack of opportunity for non-West Pointers in the army or prejudice against them in the war department.

The fact that in the total number of general officers the West Pointers have a large majority, whereas in the whole number of officers the graduates are greatly outnumbered by the nongraduates should merely indicate that West Point has some value to the army. As I said before, if West Point cannot produce better officers on the whole than can be obtained elsewhere there is no justification for all the money it costs the country and it should be abolished.

MARSHALL OR LEE?

Camanche, Ia., Jan. 21.—In THE TRIBUNE of Saturday, Jan. 20, Walter Trohan, in telling of John L. Lewis' home at Alexandria, Va., states that this is the house in which Light Horse Harry Lee uttered the famous eulogy, "First in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen." On the day after the death of Washington John Marshall offered a resolution in the house of representatives, the closing paragraph of which was worded: "Resolved, that a committee, in conjunction with one from the senate, be appointed to consider on the most suitable manner of paying honor to the memory of the man, first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen." It was a fitting eulogy, no matter who first uttered it. However, Marshall's use of it is a matter of record while Lee's is probably legendary.

Michigan takes its name from an Indian word, altho authorities differ on just which one. Some say it means "great water," literally, from the Indian words "michi" and "gama." The name is said to have appeared first in 1804 in congressional proceedings, as applied to the land area. Michigan became a state on Jan. 26, 1837.

Michigan is called the Auto, Lake, or Wolverine state, and is sometimes called the Lady of the Lakes. There was recent agitation to disown the Wolverine nickname, on the ground that there were only seven such animals in the state, all in the Detroit zoo. They came from Alaska. The wolverine is a member of the weasel family.

Michigan's flower is the apple blossom, and the state bird is the robin. The state song is "Michigan, My Michigan." The state motto is "Si Quaeris Peninsulam Amoenam Circumspice" [If You Seek a Pleasant Peninsula, Look About You].

COURTS IMPEDE TAX COLLECTION, SAYS ASSESSOR

Clark Tells Plan for Fixing Inquiry.

County Assessor John S. Clark asserted yesterday that the courts of Cook county are causing millions of dollars of delinquency on personal property taxes. He made this statement while announcing that a thoro investigation will be made of tax fixing following his revelation last week of an attempt to fix the personal property taxes of 250 corporations.

Judges in Chicago and justices of the peace in the country towns cut down the tax assessment when a collection suit is brought, he said. This practice he described as one kind of fixing.

Questions Right of Court.

"I claim the courts and justices of the peace have no jurisdiction to tamper with the assessor's evaluations when the state's attorney sues for delinquent taxes unless there is fraud in the evaluation," said Clark.

"The courts are usurping the authority of the assessor's office and the board of appeal and breaking down the system of taxation in constantly taking the defendant delinquent's word for it that he has been taxed too much.

"This encourages the taxpayer not only in failing to file a tax schedule but to delay payment on the estimate received from the assessor's office. And outside fixers advise them to wait for the court action as a means of escaping just assessment payments."

Inquiry This Week.

Clark announced that as soon as his staff completes the quadrennial real estate tax assessment, probably tomorrow or Thursday, the general investigation into the extent of tax fixing will be started.

The attempt to reduce the taxes for 250 corporations was uncovered last October during a reaudit made after assessment schedules had been turned over to the board of tax appeals for approval. The loss would have been $103,538, he said. Two employés in Clark's office were involved —an auditor, who has since resigned, and a civil service employé, who is still on the staff.

Continued use of the reaudit system will prevent any further evasions within his office, Clark said. A number of the corporations who were on the list in the tax fixing attempt will be questioned, he said, to find out who acted as go betweens in obtaining reductions of the assessments.

BRIBE SCANDAL COP SANE; FACES ROBBERY TRIAL

Prosecutor Reinstates 1930 Charges.

bility caused the governor to demand the name of Howe's sponsor. Howe himself was considered incompetent to testify until the verdict yesterday.

Howe's arrest came two weeks ago during the investigation of the acquittals of Samuel Orlando and Joseph Vinci, Democratic precinct workers in the 11th ward. They were accused of vote frauds, along with the judges and clerks of the 52d precinct. Three jurors confessed having been bribed and one woman juror said Howe offered her $100 to vote not guilty.

New Indictment Voted.

Yesterday a new indictment was voted against Orlando and Vinci. The state's attorney's office charged that an honest election had not been held in that precinct in several years.

The judges and clerks of the precinct who were also indicted again are Mrs. Gladys Spizzirri and Miss Ann Turrisi, Democratic judges; Harry L. Beck, Republican judge; Joseph Leonardis, Democratic clerk; and Edward Shader, Republican clerk.

Indicted with them and the political workers was Joseph Candella, 2724 Wallace street, a watcher. All were charged with stuffing the ballot box in the judicial election of June 5, 1939.

The grand jury is still to take action on the confessions of two of the jurors that they were bribed. Howe also is facing an indictment on this charge.

Fellow Policemen Testify.

In the sanity hearing Assistant State's Attorney Richard B. Austin called as witnesses Lieut. Morris Schwartz and Policemen Arthur Jelinek and Archie Moran, all of the state highway police. They testified they had worked with Howe for the last two years, observed him at least 14 days a month, and believed he was sane.

"If I had any doubt of his sanity he couldn't have worked five minutes for me," Lieut. Schwartz testified.

The jury was out only a few minutes. It returned with a verdict that Howe is sane. Prosecutor Austin then asked that the four indictments be called for immediate trial. Judge Prystalski transferred the cases to Judge John Sbarbaro, but Defense Attorney Cameron Latter served notice he would seek a change of venue.

Scan Record of Policeman.

The Howe investigation brought out the record of another state policeman, Frank Rizzo of the Blue Island station. In 1923 Rizzo served 11 months of a 1 year sentence to the Pontiac reformatory for larceny.

Chief Walter Williams of the highway police said he had investigated Rizzo's record and found he was 16 years old when imprisoned. He is now 33 years old. Chief Williams said Rizzo's service as a state policeman for seven years was excellent. However, Rizzo is to be transferred to some other branch of the state service, he said.

EX-CASE WORKER PLEADS GUILTY OF RELIEF FRAUD

Two sisters, one a former case worker for the Chicago Relief administration, the other a relief client whom she brought here from Arkansas and placed on the relief rolls at once, pleaded guilty yesterday of obtaining $284.91 under false pretenses from the relief administration.

Judge Joseph Drucker in Felony court continued an application for probation in behalf of both women until Feb. 8 and permitted them to sign their own bonds over the state's objections. The women promised restitution of the money.

The women were Mrs. Ruby Gates, 31 years old, who was discharged by the CRA after the fraud was uncovered, and Mrs. Beatrice Holcomb, both colored.

Evidence developed by G. B. Foley, attorney for the administration, and W. O. Ellis, an investigator, showed that Mrs. Gates induced her sister, whose husband was working in Little Rock, Ark., to come here last year and get on relief. Mrs. Gates made out the report on her sister's application.

VETERAN PRINTER DIES.

Peoria, Ill., Jan. 29 [Special].—Merritt B. Palmer, 76 years old, a veteran printer who had been active in politics, died at his home yesterday. He was a member of the typographical union for 60 years, and worked at his trade Saturday.

PAL OF POLICE SLAYERS GETS 20 YEAR TERM

Italo Begani, 17 years old, the third member of the gang of three who shot Park Policeman Harry Francois to death Nov. 20 in an attempted holdup, was sentenced yesterday to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge John A. Sbarbaro in the Criminal court.

Begani pleaded guilty. His lawyer, William Scott Stewart, said he should receive a lighter sentence than his two pals in view of his youth and the fact that he was less directly concerned in the killing. Jerry Mangano, 22, the actual slayer, is under sentence of death, and Joseph Russano, 18, at whose command Mangano fired, has been sentenced to life imprisonment.

STRIKE 3 NAMES FROM APPROVED BONDSMEN LIST

Find They Have No State Licenses.

The names of three men on the approved list of professional bondsmen in the Municipal court were ordered stricken from the list yesterday by Chief Justice Sonsteby. Judge Sonsteby was informed last week by Assistant State's Attorney Melvin Rembe that the three men do not have state licenses as bondsmen.

"I wrote to Ernest Palmer, state insurance commissioner, for a complete list of licensed bondsmen," Judge Sonsteby said. "The three men involved in this case had licenses until last July 1, when, according to Palmer's communication, their licenses expired.

"That was the first we knew that the men did not have state licenses."

Company Withdraws Petition.

Rembe uncovered the fact that Gene Gary, Arthur Carroll, and Ben Sockel had no state licenses when the Victory Bonding company appeared before Judge Joseph A. Graber in Criminal court last week to seek a certificate of good reputation. Gary, Carroll, Sockel, Julius Benvenuti, and James Alex are members of the firm.

In an answer to the bonding company's petition, Rembe charged that Benvenuti is a former policy game operator and that Alex was one of three men who executed a $20,000 bond for James [Fur] Sammons, gangster.

The Victory company withdrew its petition yesterday after Judge Graber refused to strike Rembe's answer.

Application Turned Down.

"State's Attorney Courtney doesn't want any professional bondsmen operating in the Criminal court," Rembe said. "All applications for bonds in this court pass thru my office for review. We never recommend that a bond offered by a professional bondsman be accepted.

"The Criminal court judges have supported this office in that procedure, with rare exceptions. The last time a professional's bond was accepted in the Criminal courts was in 1936."

William Dolan, head of the bond division of the Municipal court, challenged Rembe's statement with the assertion that four bonds offered by Warren P. Lavin, a professional bondsman with offices at 1109 South State street, were accepted in the Criminal courts last year. Rembe said he would investigate Dolan's statement.

3 GO TO JAIL BUT WITHOUT CRIME RECORD

Judge Frank Padden saved three young men from criminal records in Boys' court yesterday by continuing their cases and then setting their bonds so high that they will have to remain in jail as if they had been sentenced. The three are Fred Goy and William Schoot, both 18 years old, and Alfred Di Blasi, 17, all of 3219 5th avenue.

Fillmore police said they caught the three looting a liquor store at 3346 Madison street last Friday morning. Goy and Schoot, who are both former inmates of the St. Charles School for Boys, will be kept in jail until April 5. Di Blasi, who has not been in trouble before, will be held until Feb. 15. All are charged with burglary. The judge is making a policy of dismissing charges after keeping defendants in jail when he deems them worthy of another chance.

ROBBED TWICE IN 8 MONTHS.

For the second time in eight months, Sidney Becker, an insurance agent, reported to Summerdale police yesterday that burglars entered his apartment at 4918 North Rockwell street Sunday night while he was entertaining guests in another part of his apartment. The thieves took $249 in jewelry. Last June they got a $500 diamond ring from a guest's purse.

BAN ON TOY GUNS URGED TO CURB CRIMES BY YOUNG

Representatives of women's organizations and parents' groups told the city council judiciary committee yesterday that the sale or possession of toy guns should be banned. They said such toys lead youths to use real guns and commit crimes. Judge J. M. Braude, formerly of the Boys' court, also urged the ban.

The committee, of which Ald. Hyman L. Brody [39th] is chairman, held a hearing on a proposed ordinance for such a ban. The ordinance would specify fines ranging from $10 to $200 for the offense.

Judge Braude tossed 11 toy guns on the table in front of the committee, explaining he had taken them from young criminals who had appeared before him. He said 1 per cent of the cases in the Boys' court involves toy or imitation guns.

The hearing will be continued next Monday.

TELLS TRACING BERWYN DEAL TO STENOGRAPHER

Attorney Samuel Markman, who was retained by the city of Berwyn to trace a special assessment bond involved in an alleged $3,726 embezzlement, testified yesterday in the trial of Ernest W. Mau, treasurer of the suburb, and Matthew Berg, former treasurer, that Mau's former secretary was used as a dummy in the conversion of the money.

He related before a jury in the Criminal court of Judge William J. Lindsay that he had questioned both Mau and Berg as to the identity of Mrs. Rosalyn Nye Hitzman, to whom a check for the money had been issued. Mau, he said, told him he had looked all over town for her, but could find no trace, while Berg, he said, told him the woman was unknown to him.

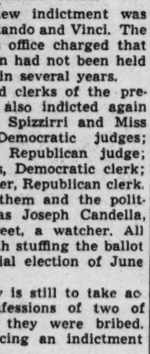
Markman said he finally traced Mrs. Hitzman, who married Attorney Harry Hitzman after leaving Mau's employ. Markman was authorized to investigate after Mrs. Hitzman had presented bonds for payment which, according to a record of payment shown by the assessment sheets, already had been redeemed by the city. Both Mrs. Hitzman and her husband are to be witnesses for the state.

Robbers Hold Up Seven in Office and Seize $600

Three robbers, wearing masks and carrying guns, held up seven employés yesterday in a branch office of the Globe Life Insurance company on the third floor at 9206 Commercial avenue. They forced the employés to empty their pockets and then rifled the cash drawers, getting a total of $600.

GARAGE GROUP'S DIRECTOR TELLS $14,000 SPENDING

Emil Mermall, executive director of the Affiliated Garages of Chicago, a garage owners' association, was reported yesterday to have finally offered an explanation for withdrawals of $14,120 from the association's treasury. Mermall testified before the grand jury which is investigating the goon slaying of Marinus Hvid, a north side garage owner.



Emil Mermall.

Mermall, who previously had refused to explain the expenditures, was reported at first to have declined to answer questions by Assistant State's Attorney William Crawford outside the grand jury chambers.

Later, it was said, he told the jury he used the money as entertainment expenses in organization work for the association and to hire investigators to see that member garages maintained the rates set by the association.

Hvid was beaten with baseball bats by two goons on Dec. 27. He died three days later.

Delay Broker's Case After Woman's Mystery Plunge

Because the police have been unable to question Miss Agnes Chesney, 35 years old, of 14 West Elm street, a charge of disorderly conduct against Austin Clement, 44, a stock broker, was continued yesterday by Judge Stephen Adamowski of the Chicago Avenue court, until Feb. 29. Miss Chesney plunged from Clement's 7th boor apartment at 40 East Oak street to the roof of an adjoining four story building. She is in a critical condition at the Henrotin hospital. Clement said she fell while trying to open a window.

SIMONE SIMON CAST IN W-G-N SUNDAY DRAMA

Movie Actress to Star in Special Program.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Saucy Simone Simon, who is pert and pretty, too, will be the guest headliner in Sunday's broadcast of "Fifth Row Center" over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system. Top flight stage and screen notables are presented on this show from 5 to 5:30 p. m. each Sunday.

Simone Simon.

Miss Simon will be starred in "Model Princess," a play specially written for this broadcast by Noel B. Gerson of the W-G-N and Mutual staff. She is appearing in a musical comedy, "Three After Three," in the Erlanger theater. Mary Brian and Mitzi Green, who also are in the musical comedy, will make guest appearances later on W-G-N and the Mutual system.

Chicago Radio Debut.

This will be Miss Simon's first radio appearance in Chicago. The production will enhance further W-G-N's new policy of presenting the biggest names in the entertainment world.

In "Model Princess" Miss Simon will take the part of a dress and photographer's model. Because of her French origin she is asked to pose as the wife of a prince who is making a good will tour of America. Complications ensue when she falls in love.

Simone Simon was born in Marseilles, France. She appeared in many plays and operettas in Paris before she entered French moving pictures. Then she came to Hollywood.

Returns for Comedy Role.

There she made "Girls' Dormitory," "Ladies in Love," "Seventh Heaven," and several other films before returning to Paris. She came back to America last year to take her role in "Three After Three."

"Model Princess" will be directed by Blair Walliser.

George Czaplicki, Polish baritone of the Chicago City Opera company, sang as guest artist on W-G-N and the Mutual network last night. His songs were the feature of the Pageant of Medicine.

Because he feels that Americans do not sing and play enough of their own music, he sang Vincent Youman's "Through the Years" as a typical American song for one of his numbers.

MOST COURTEOUS 1899 EVANSTON CAB DRIVER DIES

Joseph Ivester, a colored man whom Evanston formally proclaimed its most courteous hansom cab driver in 1899, died yesterday in his Evanston home at 1829 Brown street. He was 72 years old.

Ivester, who was born of slave parents, came to Evanston from his South Carolina home at the time of the World's Columbian exposition. When the late Volney W. Foster offered a medal for the most courteous cabby, the Evanston council decided to make the award a municipal affair. Ivester was chosen. Ald. N. L. Snow, who made the presentation address, said:

"He never calls people by their first names and has never been guilty of shooting craps while waiting for passengers at the station."

DONALD L. BROWN, UNITED AIRCRAFT HEAD, DIES AT 49

New York, Jan. 29 (AP).—Donald Lamont Brown, 49 years old, president of United Aircraft corporation since its formation in 1934, died in a hospital today after a long illness. He lived at Hartford, Conn., and formerly was president of Pratt & Whitney Aircraft corporation, now a division of United.

Brown was graduated from Northwestern university, working his way thru school by part time employment in the Illinois Steel company of Chicago. His aeronautical career began with the Simplex Automobile company, which in 1917 became the Wright-Martin Aircraft corporation and Brown took over the New York assembly plant.

He was a native of Berlin, Wis. His widow and a son, Donald Lamont Brown Jr., a student at Yale university, survive. He also has three sisters, Mrs. Christina Brown Lyon of Milwaukee, and Mrs. Florence Brown Monite and Miss Kathryn Brown, both of Madison, Wis.

Two Bores Meet, but Have Nothing to Say About It

No one was surprised when two tunnels met yesterday. Engineers said they had planned it that way. The Milwaukee avenue subway tube which is progressing southward broke thru the Chicago Tunnel company tube at Clinton and Fulton streets. The result was that the freight tunnel was put out of operation in several places. Cross-overs in Franklin and Jefferson streets will be constructed to enable the Chicago Tunnel company cars to reach the cinder and refuse disposal station at Kingsbury street and Grand avenue.

OBITUARIES

Dr. James West Hingston.

Funeral services for Dr. James West Hingston will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. in the chapel at 415 West 63d street. Dr. Hingston, a homeopathic physician and surgeon for 58 years, lived at 9525 Bishop street. He died Sunday in West Suburban hospital at the age of 82 years. He was president of the Regular Homeopathic Medical Society of Chicago and a member of the American Institute of Homeopathy, Illinois State, and Chicago Homeopathic Medical societies. He was graduated in 1882 from the Hahnemann Medical college of Chicago in 1882. He leaves his widow, Joan, and three sons, Wilford and Alan of Chicago, and Richard, Mobile, Ala. Burial will be private in Mount Hope cemetery.

Walter H. Pearce.

Walter Haldeman Pearce, 1545 East 60th street, newspaper man and authority on racing and thorobred horses, died Sunday night in Miami, it was learned here yesterday. He was 57 years old. Pearce, associate editor of a racing journal, was a grandson of Walter N. Haldeman, founder of the Louisville Courier [now the Courier-Journal]. He was a former sports editor of that paper. He was also a former secretary of the American Jockey club. His widow, Helen, survives. Funeral services will be held in Louisville.

Mrs. Jennie B. Bolles.

Funeral services for Mrs. Jennie Brice Bolles will be held at 2:30 p. m. today in the First Congregational church house in Oak Park. Mrs. Bolles was the widow of Charles E. Bolles, first president of the Avenue State bank, Oak Park, and a member of the firm of Bolles & Rogers, Chicago hide dealers. Mrs. Bolles, who lived at 839 Lake street, Oak Park, died Sunday in Denver, Colo., while visiting a niece, Mrs. Garnet Holmes Wilford. Burial will be in Forest Home cemetery.

Edward Lankow.

New York, Jan. 29 [Special].—Edward Lankow, 57 years old, who had sung bass rôles with the Metropolitan, Boston, and Chicago opera companies, died today after a brief illness. In recent years he had devoted himself to recitals. In June, 1921, he was engaged by Mary Garden for 25 performances with the Chicago Opera company for the next season.

Arthur S. Guggenheim.

New York, Jan. 29 (AP).—Arthur S. Guggenheim, 58 years old, former president of the National Retail Furniture Dealers' association, died of a heart attack today on a Pennsylvania railroad train en route here from the west.

Dr. John H. Pettie.

Fresno, Cal., Jan. 29 (AP).—Dr. John H. Pettie, 62 years old, a widely known physician and surgeon, died last night from a heart attack. He was born in Flint, Mich. His work on thyroid disorders gained him national recognition.

Mrs. Eliza B. Yager.

Funeral services for Mrs. Eliza Brochon Yager, a Waukegan resident for 86 years, will be held at 2 p. m. today in the First Baptist church of Waukegan. Mrs. Yager, who was 88 years old, died Sunday at the home of her son, Louis J. Yager, former Waukegan mayor, at 515 North Sheridan road in the suburb.

Mrs. Yager was the daughter of a Union soldier killed in the civil war. For that reason she was given a position teaching school in Waukegan when she was 16 years old. Surviving with her son are two daughters, Mrs. Mabel Smart and Mrs. Cora Foster.

Colvin C. Bowsfield.

Colvin C. Bowsfield, widely known author of books on farming and contributor to newspapers and magazines, died Sunday at St. Joseph, Mo. He was 84 years old. Mr. Bowsfield served for a number of years as a newspaper correspondent at Washington. He was at one time a member of the staff of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. He had maintained a farm home near Elgin for the last 30 years. Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Inez Bowsfield, and their daughter, Mrs. Gail M. Dack, who live at the Elgin home. Funeral services will be held at St. Joseph this afternoon.

Mrs. Karin Johnson.

Mrs. Karin Johnson, 77 years old, died yesterday in her home at 1723 North Lotus avenue. She had lived in Chicago for 42 years. Mrs. Johnson is survived by a son, Edwin C. Johnson, Chicago newspaper man, and a daughter, Mrs. Vera Dougherty. Another son, J. Hilding Johnson, also a newspaper man, died several years ago. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. in the chapel at 5350 North avenue, with burial in Rosehill cemetery.

Frank T. Newman.

Funeral services for Frank T. Newman, president of the Newman-Monroe Advertising company, will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 2701 North Clark street. Mr. Newman, who was 65 years old, died of a heart attack Sunday night while visiting a friend at 3159 Hudson avenue. He lived at 2622 Lake View avenue. His widow, Edna, and a son, Hobart Newman, survive.

Miss Lida Kane.

Funeral services for Miss Lida Kane, chief cashier of the Hotel Sherman, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 1158 North Clark street. Miss Kane died Sunday morning at Michael Reese hospital. She was 55 years old, and since her employment as cashier 30 years ago had lived at the Hotel Sherman. A sister, Mrs. Bertha Wilkes of Kenosha, Wis., survives.

Miss Patricia Conway.

Miss Patricia Conway, 14 years old, died yesterday at the Woodstock Community hospital. She was the daughter of P. Edwin Conway, alderman of Woodstock's 3d ward.

MRS. CHALMERS LEAVES $150,000 TO INSTITUTIONS

Bequests totaling approximately $150,000 to public institutions are provided in the will of Mrs. Joan Pinkerton Chalmers. It was filed yesterday with Frank Lyman, clerk of the Probate court. The value of her estate was estimated at $700,000.

Mrs. Chalmers was the widow of William J. Chalmers, former chairman of the Allis-Chalmers company of Milwaukee. She died last Thursday at the age of 84 years in her home at 1100 Lake Shore drive.

Mrs. Chalmers made cash bequests totaling $70,000 to friends, relatives, servants, St. Chrysostom's church, the First, Third and Fourth Presbyterian churches, St. Luke's and Presbyterian hospitals, and the Chicago Historical society. One-sixth of the remainder of the estate will be divided by the Field Museum of Natural History and the University of Chicago. The university gift is to be used for the Country Home for Convalescent Children, near Wheaton, which Mrs. Chalmers founded in 1911.

Mrs. Chalmers' Watch Hill estate in Westerly, R. I., also was left to the university for the benefit of the convalescent home. The Art Institute will get a selection of paintings and etchings.

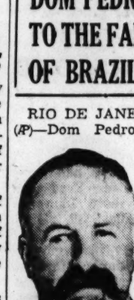
Two grandchildren will share five-sixths of the estate. They are Mrs. Joan Williams Merrill of New York and Norman Williams Jr., of Woodstock, Vt.

Arrives in Holland with Ashes of Anthony Fokker

AMSTERDAM, the Netherlands, Jan. 29.—Willem Van Nyenhoff, an official of the Fokker Aircraft corporation, arrived here today on his way to Westerveld cemetery, near Haarlem, with the urn containing the remains of his friend, Anthony Fokker, famed aircraft designer, who died recently in the United States. A funeral service will be held on Feb. 3 at the cemetery.

DOM PEDRO, LAST HEIR TO THE FALLEN THRONE OF BRAZIL, DIES AT 64

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Jan. 29 (AP).—Dom Pedro d'Orleans E Braganza, 64 years old, who would have been emperor of Brazil if the monarchy still existed, died at Petropolis, near here, today. Known as the last American prince, he was the eldest son of Count d'Eu and Princess Isabel of Braganza, who was the daughter of Dom Pedro II., last emperor of Brazil.



Dom Pedro.

Dom Pedro's death was unexpected. He suffered a heart attack after attending the theater this afternoon. The funeral will be tomorrow.

One of Dom Pedro's daughters is the wife of the count of Paris, heir presumptive to the French throne. His mother freed the slaves of Brazil in 1883 while acting as regent while the emperor was ill. Altho the Brazilian royal family was banished in 1889 when the country became a republic, its estates never were confiscated. The count d'Eu and others of the family returned to Petropolis in 1922 when the Brazilian government rescinded the banishment act.

W. K. Kellogg, Breakfast Food Maker, in Hospital

Saddle-Cycle Club Will Hold Leap Year Dance

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE first leap year party we've heard of is one the Saddle and Cycle club will have on Feb. 10. Tiny pink hearts adorn the rhymed invitations, which were received only yesterday, but which already are creating a furore among members and their wives. Half of each invitation is to be torn off, cut in half, and used as a program for the dance. The women, of course, have to make out the programs, so telephones were busy yesterday with wives exchanging dances.

The bids threaten that "you who dawdle in the bar or linger where the slackers are, who male prerogatives abuse, begin to tremble in your shoes—You'll get yours at the Leap Year Dance where the girls are going to wear the pants."

The ladies will do the cutting-in and, as the verse advises, "let him be stuck until it hurts."

Mrs. James Waller Rogers is chairman of the entertainment committee at the club. Mrs. John Root, Mrs. Cyrus G. Hill, and Edwin M. Ashcraft III. are her co-workers.

Plan Reception for Ambassador Rosso

Mr. and Mrs. George L. Wilkinson have extended their series of Sunday at homes during January to include the first Sunday in February for their son-in-law, Dr. Augusto Rosso, will be here then. Mme. Rosso left for New York yesterday to greet her husband when he lands on Thursday.

Dr. Rosso, who is the Italian ambassador to Russia, is on a two months' vacation, half of which will be spent in this country. He will be in Evanston with the Wilkinsons for about 10 days and then he and Mme. Rosso will go to Washington.

The women's division of the Finnish Relief fund is sponsoring a lecture by Maj. James Sawders on Friday in Orchestra hall. "Friendly Finland Fights" is the subject of Maj. Sawders' lecture, which will be illustrated with a movie the lecturer made recently.

The Dunham Woods Riding club has sent out invitations to a motion picture show on Thursday night. A full length feature, "Sialom," highly touted by Lawrence Denman, an expert skier, will be on the program. The movies, all with sound, will be shown following a buffet supper at 7 o'clock.

Program to Aid U. of C. Settlement.

"Semi-Pro" is the title chosen for a performance to be given Friday evening, Feb. 9, at Mandel hall for the benefit of the University of Chicago settlement. The cast is made up of semi-amateurs and professional artists and advance reports indicate that the show will be as amusing as last year's. By popular request the "illustrious quartet," composed of Clifton Utley, Arthur Bovee, Norris

This Western Kids Itself in a Merry Way

"HENRY GOES ARIZONA."

THE CAST.

Henry Conroy.....Frank Morgan
Molly Cullison.....Virginia Weidler
Judge Van Treece.....Guy Kibbee
Sheriff Parton.....Slim Summerville
Ricky Dole.....Douglas Fowley
Danny Regan.....Owen Davis Jr.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Frank Morgan, bespatted and iron hatted [pome], entices fond laughter from his admirers as, lost on the lone prairie, so to speak, he valiantly, tho with fear and trembling, beards bad bozos, mounts amused horses, and finally pulls a fast one that results in "the stone which the builders had rejected, becoming the head of the corner." Meaning, that a one-time despised stranger hailing from the Great White Way, is elected mayor of Tonto Town. . . .

Henry goes TO Arizona and Henry GOES Arizona, mean two different things. Henry goes to Arizona because a half brother has left him a ranch. In Arizona Henry finds so much that he doesn't care for that he decides he wouldn't have his bequest not even if it had gold on top of it and oil underneath it.

BUT—he DOES lose his heart to the gallant little girl, Molly, who had been a sort of adopted niece of his half brother's. . . . He DOES mind having Molly think him yellow. And, tho on the first leg of his journey home, there's no question of his turning back when he hears that the child has been kidnaped. . . .

This film is one of the most artless of westerns—but it never set out to be anything else. It kids itself just as much as it hopes it's kidding you—which makes everything nice and folksy. It sort of likes to think of itself as a farce, too—and you don't mind that, either.

See you tomorrow.

Chicago's Birthday Ball to Be Tonight; Help Paralysis Fund

Chicago's ball celebrating President Roosevelt's 58th birthday will be held at the Drake hotel. Proceeds go to the Infantile Paralysis Foundation.

Entertainment will be furnished by stage, screen, and radio talent. During the evening nine feminine costumes symbolic of American history will be modeled by stage stars and mannequins.

The committee for the ball has taken over the hotel's Gold Coast room, main ballroom, and Tower room for the affair.

By Ed Sullivan

Rooney

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 29.—It was on stage 1-A at Metro, and the occasion was the third annual crowning of the movie king and queen of the year. In 1937, the first year, I'd crowned Clark Gable and Myrna Loy. In 1938, it had been Jeanette MacDonald and Tyrone Power. On stage 1-A the royal personages to be crowned were Bette Davis, brilliant Warner star, and Mickey Rooney, elected thru a reader poll of 55 great newspapers.

"For the newsreels," said Bette, "let's put on the crowns." She juggled the crown on her head and it wobbled down over one eye. The Warner studio representatives looked a trifle shocked: "But Miss Davis, audiences may laugh." "Good," said Bette, briskly, "I'll wear it." . . . So the Warner men sent word to Mickey Rooney that Miss Davis would wear the crown and would he wear his, too? A moment later, Rooney arrived, heard the suggestion and went directly to Bette.

"Miss Davis," he said, "while it would be fine for you, a dramatic star, to put on the crown and get a laugh from the audience, it would be bad for me to do it, because audiences would say: 'See, he's a fresh kid. He doesn't even take an important event seriously.' If you don't mind, Miss Davis, I'd rather just accept the crown from Ed, and thank him and then say how honored I am to be mentioned in the same breath with you."

Rooney walked away, and Bette Davis said: "There is an amazing youngster. Instead of sending over somebody else to tell me that he didn't want to do it, he came to me himself and explained why he would rather not do it, and his reasoning is absolutely correct. People would say that he was tactless in getting a laugh. No wonder he's a star at 18 years of age. He has good taste."

During the filming of the coronation scene for the newsreels, Mickey, who generally addresses me teasingly as "Uncle Ed," called me "Mister Sullivan."

I said to him: "Mick, call me 'Ed,' you don't have to be formal with your golf partner."

He said: "Let me call you Mister Sullivan for this once, Uncle Ed, because I don't think movie audiences would like me to address you too familiarly. After all, you are representing a lot of important newspapers and I'm only a kid and I should be respectful."

It was interesting to me, because I've never met a champion at any specialty who didn't have a lot on the ball. Dempsey, Ruth, Nurmi, Bobby Jones, Bill Tilden, Armstrong—each one of them became world famous because he had a little something extra that the runnerup didn't possess. Rooney, movie king in his teens, is a star because he knows what it is all about. He has, as Bette Davis pointed out, good taste. He knows not only what to do, but also what to avoid. He has a "feel" for the right thing, an instinct for it. The newsreel episode was just a case in point, but quite illuminating.

Hollywood today is pondering the results of the annual poll that established Bette Davis as queen and Rooney as king. Let's consider the actresses who were named in the first 20 national favorites: 1, Bette Davis; 2, Sonja Henie; 3, Judy Garland; 4, Priscilla Lane; 5, Deanna Durbin; 6, Alice Faye; 7, Jeanette MacDonald; 8, Myrna Loy; 9, Jean Arthur; 10, Loretta Young; 11, Shirley Temple; 12, Ginger Rogers; 13, Irene Dunne; 14, Norma Shearer; 15, Vivien Leigh; 16, Hedy Lamarr; 17, Ann Sheridan; 18, Barbara Stanwyck; 19, Rosalind Russell; 20, Olivia De Havilland.

Voting thru 55 papers covering this nation and Canada, the movie fans named these actors as the top 20 favorites: 1, Mickey Rooney; 2, Tyrone Power; 3, Spencer Tracy; 4, Clark Gable; 5, Richard Greene; 6, Errol Flynn; 7, James Stewart; 8, Nelson Eddy; 9, Don Ameche; 10, James Cagney; 11, Robert Taylor; 12, Gary Cooper; 13, Gene Autry; 14, Henry Fonda; 15, Charles Boyer; 16, Cary Grant; 17, Robert Donat; 18, Paul Muni; 19, Laurence Olivier; 20, Bing Crosby.

Hollywood could learn a lot from that poll and its results. Most surprising out here was the fact that Judy Garland topped Deanna Durbin. Less surprising to this reporter was the fact that Priscilla Lane, one of this column's pets, was ranked No. 4 and outdistanced stars who get many thousands of dollars more per week. Pertinent conclusions to be drawn from the fans' rating of actors is the high position of Richard Greene, who rates behind Rooney, Tyrone Power, Tracy, and Gable, and the fact that Jimmy Stewart, in position No. 7, has passed Gary Cooper.

Cuff Notes.

Albert Coates, the conductor, is writing a harmonica concerto for Larry Adler, the first music ever written for that instrument. Larry, who has spent recent years in London, was the first theatrical columnist there and he called his column "The Musings of an Amedican." . . . Add father and son in the theater notes: John Payne, who plays Robert Lincoln in Abe Lincoln in Illinois at the Grand, is B. Iden Payne's boy. Payne was and is, unless the war has closed the company, the director of the Memorial theater at Stratford-on Avon.

For the Record.

The great Picasso exhibit opens to the public Thursday. Perhaps you didn't know that the Chicago Art institute was the first museum in America to exhibit a painting by Picasso. . . . That was in 1913. And in March, 1923, the first one man show of Picasso ever held in an American museum was presented in the Chicago Art institute by the Arts club, of which Rue Winterbotham Carpenter was then president.

Chauncey McCormick, vice president of the Art institute, comes forward with further facts for the record. That 1923 exhibit was mostly drawings, but the same year, 1923, the Arts club brought from France and put on exhibit at the Art institute sixteen outstanding paintings of Picasso. It was the first important Picasso show in America. Then, in 1933, in its Century of Progress exhibit, the Art institute devoted one of the larger rooms to Picasso and Matisse.

The position the Chicago Art institute took, that it was not its rôle to condemn new movements in art (it presented the famous International Exhibition of Modern Art in 1913 that New York presented in the Armory the preceding year), but to present to the public what is going on in art the world over, is undoubtedly the reason the Chicago museum is the leading one in the country in 19th and 20th century art.

Ersatz Butter.

A visiting beauty authority was asked how her cosmetics were selling abroad in wartime and she answered, surprisingly, that they were selling especially well in Germany.

"Maybe they use the orange skin food for butter," it was suggested at dinner at the Henry Fields, where a famous newspaper foreign correspondent and author was a guest. A jar of the heavy, creamy colored substance was sent for and the visiting author tried it on bread. It wasn't bad. Then a sip was taken of a milk bath preparation. That wasn't so good as a substitute. Tasted chalky, they decided.

ENGAGEMENT

From Indianapolis, Ind., has come the announcement of the engagement of Miss Jean Frances Craig to Robert A. Cameron, son of Mrs. F. L. Cameron of 2148 East 69th stret. Miss Craig is the daughter of Mrs. Inez A. Craig of Indianapolis. Miss Craig attended DePauw university. Her fiancé is a graduate of the University of Chicago. Mr. Cameron and Miss Craig will be married on June 1 and will make their home on the near north side.

Musical Has Talent, Lacks a Final Touch

"THREE AFTER THREE."

Musical comedy in three acts and eight scenes. Book after the play, "Three Blind Mice," by Guy Bolton, adapted by Mr. Bolton, Parke Levy, and Alan Lipscott. Music by Hoagy Carmichael. Lyrics by Johnny Mercer. Settings by Watson Barratt. Costumes by Billy Livingston. Presented by Ruth Selwyn and the Messrs. Shubert in the Erlanger theater, Monday evening, Jan. 29, 1940.

THE PLAYERS.

Simone Simon, Mitzi Green, Mary Brian, Jack Whiting, Frances Williams, Art Jarrett, Marty May, Stepin Fetchit, Dudley and Bostock, the Martins, Roger Converse, Barrie O'Daniels, Ted Gary, Evelyn Daw, and many others.

BY CECIL SMITH.

Since Ruth Selwyn and the Shuberts went to the trouble of bringing together some of the essentials of a successful musical comedy, it seems incomprehensible that they were not willing to go ahead and finish the job.

From Simone Simon, making her American stage debut, on thru the list, the cast glistens with bright names. Yet "Three After Three" is only mildly entertaining; it is frumpy looking and thinly provided with arresting material. Perhaps the producers will be able to make a winner of it, but they have not done so yet.

Miss Simon's contributions belong well on the credit side of the ledger. Cast as the chief schemer of three New Hampshire girls who use a small legacy to go to Florida in the hope of hooking husbands (Simone's accent is explained by the fact that she was educated in a French school), she makes no particular pretense of singing or dancing. She is, however, winsome and fragile, and at the same time stagewise enough to turn her principal scene of bedroom intrigue into something amusing and rather charming.

Mitzi Green is in constant danger of stealing the show, and when all is said and done I think she does, despite her generosity toward her fellow players. Her gift of projection is exceptional, and her personality combines outgoing warmth with brash vigor. Mary Brian's share in the proceedings is less significant, but she adds a decorative note.

Blonde, bold Frances Williams, who is my idea of a grade A comic entertainer and seller of songs, scores the success she deserves in a neat song called "Everything Happen to Me." And since the show is full of people who know what they are doing, it is only fair also to pass pleasant words in the direction of Jack Whiting, Marty May, Art Jarrett, Barrie O'Daniels, and Ted Gary.

This is a lot of good entertainers, but despite its talented personnel and its basically workable material, "Three After Three" has very little glitter and very little freshness. Some of the costumes and most of the settings look as tho they might have been dusted off and dragged out of Cain's warehouse; at least the visible aspects of the production are terribly old hat, and the touch of imagination is conspicuous by its absence.

The book, slender as it is, need not have become dull if it had been kept in a position of sufficient unimportance. Hoagy Carmichael's tunes, tho not the most sparkling the musical stage can boast, are adequate. One or two—notably with the aid of Johnny Mercer's sprightly rhymes, "Darn Clever, These Chinese"—are well above average.

The show is exceedingly weak in the staging of ensembles. The chorus dancing is as fatuous, feebly designed, and poorly drilled as any I can remember. I am afraid the recent advances in choreography for musical comedies has spoiled us for these antiquarian routines.

I have not enjoyed writing this review. I had high hopes for "Three After Three," and many of these hopes were dashed to earth. The musical still is in the tryout stage; signal improvements may yet be made during the Chicago engagement.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

For that soft, shiny, "touchable" quality in hair try polishing it daily with one of the new hairbrushes. These have composition backs in pretty colors and snythetic bristles that are elastic, easy to clean and long lasting.

Things are happening in the hairbrush field. There are those who say that wooden backed brushes will be considered antiques fairly soon. The composition brush frames, in transparent plastics or in beautiful colors, are stealing the hearts of the brush buying public.

Then there are the synthetic bristles. There were scoffers at first, but not a peep is to be heard from them lately. The new bristles are elastic, easily cleansed, and long lasting. And they do a good job in polishing the hair strands and giving what is known as a "rousing" brushing.

Not so long ago we acquired one of the latest of these brushes, the final product after long and careful experimenting. It's a marvel. One feature of the new ones with composition backs and synthetic bristles is that they are very light weight. Drawing the brush thru your hair, you're amazed at how featherlight it seems. Your first impression is that a brush that light can't possibly be doing its job. But after just a few strokes you're amazed at how well it's doing it. Quickly, effortlessly your hair is given a beautiful brushing.

You don't feel the pull as much as you do with the real bristles, but the graduated, well spaced, sturdy synthetic bristles will polish your hair perfectly and give the scalp just the stimulation it needs.

It's a cinch to keep these brushes clean, and the backs, of course, are impervious to water.

Clever, Casual Two Piece Suits Herald Spring

BY REA SEEGER.

Maybe it's the weather, maybe it's only wishful thinking, but spring simply can't be far around the turn because there are more good looking clothes in town than have been seen in days. For instance, the streamlined wonders, the clever, casual two piece suits. One specialty shop for sports clothes has an array that will take the money from the best tightwad. The blurred hound's tooth checks are an example. Another favorite is the plaids in green or gray or brown, whose effectiveness is achieved with two shades of the same color.

There is a vigorous snap to the skirts, knife-sharp tucks, plaits and flares, and the jackets are the answer to prayer for something young, crisp, and yet soft enough to wear thru a day of varying appointments. See the bonbon pink and soft gray combine, the stunning beiges and browns and the clear, strong mixture of greens for proof.

The jackets have high necklines, so that, with the skirts, they can be passed off as exceptionally distinctive two piece suit dresses. They'll slide under swanky wool topcoats with the same ease as under swaggers of fur, and they'll keep that pressed appearance with only little care.

If you crave variety there are excellent possibilities for mixing and contrasting. Separate skirts by the dozens in several different styles hang about waiting for a jacket. Most of the models have a flare achieved with circular cut gores with many shallow or narrow gores or with smart concealed plaits. Some have swanky pigskin belts thru slides of the wool, while others, beltless, mold smoothly and neatly to accent the waistline.

Pockets in the jackets have a masculine neatness, capacity, and number. Four on a jacket are not unusual. Bias cut bands, skilful stitching, and other tailored devices make them the best finds of the week for the shopper who wants something of spring to take the mind off the snow and wind.

World Zionist Leader Opens Appeal Tonight

Dr. Chaim Weizman, president of the World Zionist movement and one of the men responsible for the creation of the national Jewish home in Palestine, will open a $2,250,000 Jewish Welfare fund campaign tonight. He will be the principal speaker at a dinner meeting of workers in the trades and professions' division of the campaign, in the ballroom of the Standard club.

A total of $25,000,000 will be sought in the nation to meet the needs of Jews of Germany, Poland, Austria, Czecho-Slovakia, Hungary, Rumania, and Italy and to aid the thousands of expatriated Jews trying to establish themselves in new countries.

Chicago's contribution will be distributed to the following organizations: Joint Distribution committee, which aids in the resettlement of refugees, and carries on the bulk of war relief work in Europe; the United Palestine appeal, which buys and develops land, and develops Palestine; the National Refugee service, which assists refugees who enter the United States, and local refugee work, which carries on adjustment and Americanization of refugees in Chicago.

Harris Perlstein is the general chairman of the campaign. Mrs. Michael H. Weinberg is chairman of the women's division, and Mrs. Irving S. Florsheim, Mrs. A. Richard Frank, and Mrs. Gerson B. Levi are co-chairmen. Carl W. Stern is chairman of the young people's division. More than 60 trades and professions divisions are being organized.

In an address yesterday before the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations at the Palmer House, Dr. Weizman declared the Arab question, which has harassed the Jews in Palestine, is traceable to general European troubles.

The Girl in the Shadows

By Roy Vickers

[Copyright: 1940: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

SYNOPSIS.

On the eve of her marriage, Cynthia Brentiford is sentenced to prison. An innocent scapegoat of the crook, Rory Clarke, she hides her plight from new fiancé, Michael Alloway. Al Honeyboker, Cynthia's childhood playmate, Bessie Stockley, is a prison wardress. Bessie manages to change places with Cynthia and let Cynthia have her two weeks' leave of absence to marry Michael. Then Cynthia persuades Michael to go back to his job in Malta alone. She goes back to prison. There she discovers she is going to have a baby and manages to break prison. Explaining her silence as a lapse of memory, she goes to stay with Michael's mother and sister Marion at Cloutleigh. Rory Clarke trails her there and blackmails her. Thru a phone call, Scotland Yard connects Cynthia with Rory Clarke. Detective Stevens comes down to Cloutleigh. Marion, pretending to be young Mrs. Alloway to the detective, learns enough to arouse her suspicions. Planning to fly to Malta with Gen. Sir William Merrowbridge, Cynthia is arrested at the airport and taken to Scotland Yard for questioning. Her marriage on a date when she was supposed to be in prison clears her.

INSTALMENT XX.

ANOTHER VICTIM.

By 1:30 Cynthia, Sir William Merrowbridge, and the Rev. George Rennington were lunching at the Parnassus, Scotland Yard being compelled to admit that there must exist a double Mrs. Michael Alloway so close as to be tantamount to an identical twin, with identical finger prints. Dr Treadgrove, three servants from the Parnassus, and the porter of Cotswold Mansions had identified her positively and absolutely and, in the plain logic of events, unshakably.

"No getting over that," remarked the general for the sixth or seventh time, with vast satisfaction. But an even more triumphant moment loomed for him. He drew from his wallet a folded paper. "Your protection certificate." He beamed and handed it to Cynthia. It had cost him a fair amount of bluster and the threat of an action for false arrest and he would be proud of it all his life.

"Why does she want a certificate?" asked George Rennington. Cynthia had been wondering too.

"To prevent the whole thing repeating itself," enthused the general. "You see, by a freak of nature Mrs. Michael happens to be an exact double of this escaped prisoner. Every time a smart young detective spots Mrs. Michael we should be having the whole bag of tricks over again, but for that certificate."

Cynthia's hand shook as she folded it away.

"I've no words to thank you with, Sir William," she faltered. "I'm safe now, aren't I? Absolutely and forever?"

The general patted her hand. He liked enormously being thanked by a young and pretty woman, but he was surprised to see tears in her eyes. After all, she'd merely been the victim of a mistake. Nerves, he supposed. . . . When he looked again, she had blinked away the tears and was chattering away gayly enough to young Rennington.

Under the chatter, Cynthia's mind was stretching itself, tingling with renewed life. She thought about Bessie Stockley. Ever since Rory Clarke's revelation that Bessie was in his power, Cynthia had been worrying about the girl who had risked so much for her; but in the nature of the case communications were too dangerous and Cynthia had resigned herself to leaving England without further news of Bessie. But now——

"Sir William, didn't you say we don't have to be at the aerodrome again until 4:30?" she chirped. "It's not yet half past 2 and I'll be on the field at 4:30 to the second," vowed Cynthia. She cut short her lunch and, leaving the men to cigars and liqueurs and anecdotes of the general's early prowess, she told a page to get her a taxi.

It was news of Bessie she wanted and she had herself driven to the house in Camden Town which had served her as an accommodation address during the early months of her imprisonment. As the car turned into Fortescue street, she realized how inevitably the neighborhood must have aroused Marion's suspicions. For the moment she felt impatient with Bessie, who had spoiled their careful precautions with such an error of judgment. Then the door opened, only a crack or two at first, then wider.

"Miss Cynthia!"

"Bessie! O, what luck!" Everything was forgotten except the extraordinary good luck of finding Bessie without further search. "I came to see if your cousin knew your Aylesbury address, I thought I'd better not ring the prison——"

She broke off as Bessie snatched her inside the house and shut the door.

"Why, what's the matter?"

"You can't possibly be gladder to see me than I am to see you, Miss Cynthia," Bessie assured her. Tears were streaming down her face. "What I've been thru, ever since you escaped, wondering where you were hiding, racking my brains for a way to find you—well, here you are, safe at last! Or at least you are if no one saw you come in."

"Bessie dear!" laughed Cynthia. "Do wait a moment and let me tell you just exactly how safe I am!" She told her, showing her the certificate and explaining its full significance. Then she glanced at the remains of the meal. "Look here, come out and have a—a snack with me. There's so much to say and no risks any more."

Bessie still hesitated, however.

"It's myself I'm thinking of," she said reluctantly. "There's a man been blackmailing me about you—forced me out of the Service, he has—called himself Stainham, but I believe he's Clarke. He may be hanging about outside."

"The beast!" exclaimed Cynthia. "Bessie, I'll make it all up to you one day. On my honor. And now put on your hat and we'll find some quiet little place."

But Bessie insisted that, on the contrary, they must go to a very big one. And after some maneuvering thru basement doors and back alleys, they went by separate ways to the largest and noisest restaurant in Oxford street.

"Why did you choose this, Bessie?" asked Cynthia.

"Ah, I learned a bit when I was in the Service. You're much more easily spotted in a small place."

"I hadn't thought of that," admitted Cynthia. "I'm afraid I'm no good as a crook."

"You managed to break out of prison, which none of the others have done," said Bessie, and then listened to the account of the escape with divided loyalty.

"And now tell me about Clarke," commanded Cynthia. "When he came to the prison he told me he'd traced you to Aylesbury. I was terribly worried about that. And then, when he came to Cloutleigh——" She felt something approaching pride as she recounted how she had telephoned Scotland Yard and how nearly she had been caught. But Bessie, listening, grew pale and Cynthia saw how worn and hunted she looked.

"If he knows you did that, it's bad news," she said. "I'm afraid of that man, and there aren't many people I'm afraid of. O, I'm not forgetting your certificate, Miss Cynthia, but—well, if they could prove you and me changed places so as you could get married, it wouldn't be worth the paper it's written on, would it?"

Cynthia sat silent. It was true enough. She was on her way to Michael and happiness, where the menace of Clarke would be easily forgotten. But Bessie had lost her savings and her nerve and—with her nerve—her job.

The savings, at any rate, could be reimbursed and Cynthia insisted on writing out a check.

"If only I could take you with me!" she sighed. Then a thought struck her. "Bessie! Go down to Cloutleigh and ask my sister-in-law if she will engage you to help her in the house. I know she needs some one. Look, I'll write an introduction on the back of this card. It won't be very lively for you down there, but it will tide you over."

"It'll do more than that. It'll set me on my feet again." Bessie took the card gratefully. "I don't mind telling you, Miss Cynthia, I'm down to my last half crown and my cousin can't keep me. Only—suppose Clarke goes back there and recognizes me—or Miss Alloway finds out I was a wardress and puts two and two together?"

"I have a feeling she's guessed a lot of it already," said Cynthia thoughtfully. "If you get in a corner, you could trust her with the whole truth. She'd do anything to keep the family name unsmirched."

Use Judgment in Getting Your Spring Permanent Wave

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

You probably will be getting a permanent one of these days, and while you know much more about permanents than women did a decade ago, there still may be points on which you are not familiar and should be.

One thing we'd urge strongly: If you have been having your hair done into machine-made curls successfully and beautifully, stick to that operator. Don't go experimenting or shopping around. That operator knows your hair and perhaps takes great pride in it, too.

Conscientious hairdressers do get a tremendous kick out of their justly prideful work. Especially if your hair is dyed or touched up, stick to that one who knows your hair and has already proved he can produce soft, lustrous and always manageable curls.

The prices of permanents vary, as you know. Sometimes you can find an excellent operator in an out-of-the-way shop in which there is small overhead, whose charge won't stymie you. We only urge that you know such spots for their good work, for even today with all the superb, modern quipment some permanents given are still pretty terrible.

With the two methods of hairwinding, you're familiar, no doubt—the croquignole and the spiral. The combination of spiral and croquignole sometimes is employed, the former for long back hair, the latter for shorter hair.

There are three types of wavesetting—the machine, machineless and wireless. With each method the hair is first treated to an alkaline softener. Some alkaline lotions have an oil base which keeps the hair soft. If the hair is excessively dry it's well to insist upon special oil treatment after the alkaline solution is applied.

Insist upon a couple of test curls being made first, so that you get a curl that is springy and soft and with moisture.

'Don't' Does Not Check Teen Age Nail Chewing

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Up to date, I've not been very helpful to the young high school boys and girls who cannot stop the habit of biting their finger nails.

For the mothers of young children who bite their nails, certain advice has proved successful. It is not based on "don'ts," nor on such direct methods as putting bitter tasting substances on the fingers. Instead it aims at removing the possible causes of nail biting. Some of this fundamental advice will apply with teen age boys and girls, tho frequently with them the habit continues simply because it is following a line of least resistance or a habit track.

1. One reason the nail biting habit continues is because of the annoyance caused by hang nails and the dry, rough, uncomfortable state of the ends of the fingers. Work must be begun there by both boys and girls. At night a heavy softening cream, olive oil or vaseline should be applied; sleeping in gloves helps enormously.

2. Use your hands more in manual activity. This will keep you from biting, and also is splendid for nervous balance.

3. Keep yourself well, rested, and have lots of outdoors and exercise.

4. Don't worry too much about yourself and your problems. Young people do, quite as often as adults; and their problems are as real very often. To avoid this, be sociable, get out and around with other young people. And talk things over with your mother or father, if you can't handle your own personal difficulties; or if it's school, your teachers may help. Keeping all bottled up makes for nervousness and tension, talking things out lets off steam. And don't think you have no will power because you bite your nails. Have confidence in yourself and relax.

For parents we have a booklet: "Understanding the Adolescent." Send a stamped, addressed envelope for it. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, Chicago Tribune, Chicago.

Peacock Camp Benefit.

The last in a series of book reviews for the benefit of the Peacock Camp for Crippled Children will be held on Thursday instead of tomorrow. Mrs. Otto W. Lehmann will open her home at 1420 Lake Shore drive for the review, which will be given by Florence Bourke Ellis. Tea will be served.

By Evelyn Holmes

Jan. 30, 1940.

An expressive day, but likely to become too emotional. Since those born on a 3-day are likely to enjoy expressing themselves thru an art, and since those born on today's date are in a 9-year, they may find their expression culminating this year in some achievement. They also may feel that many things are coming to an end for them, but they may take heart in the knowledge that in 1941 they can begin on another cycle a step higher up.

Would you like to know what kind of a year 1940 will be for you? Send for your personal yearly, monthly, and daily guide.

[Copyright: 1940: By The Chicago Tribune.]

A cook who has learned to make tender, flaky pie crust has achieved one of the most important and usable of cookery skills. Practice makes perfect, of course, but there must be some knowledge of the whys and wherefors of pastry making behind each attempt, or success will depend only upon Lady Luck.

One who is making pastry for the first or near-first time should know these things:

1. That the way in which shortening and flour are mixed is important. Flaky pastry results if shortening is cut in until the mixture is in coarse particles. If it is cut in thoroly, so that the flour-fat mixture is in fine particles, the pastry will be crumbly, altho it should be none the less tender.

2. Adding the water is one determinant of tenderness. If too much is added tough pastry is sure and certain. If it is mixed too thoroly the same result is likely. It's a good plan to sprinkle the water over the flour-fat mixture a little at a time, lifting the dampened part away from the dry, and pressing the particle gently together. When just the right amount of water has been added the pastry will hold together when pressed into a ball with the hands, but it won't be sticky.

3. Chilling is good for pie dough. It makes it easier to roll out. If ingredients are all cold to start with, chilling isn't necessary.

4. It's best to handle the dough as little as possible. If there are to be two crusts divide the ball into two parts, one a little larger than the other. The larger one is for lower crust. Press ball with hands into a flat circle before starting to roll. Press edges together if they start to crack open and roll dough on a lightly floured board, keeping it circular in shape.

5. Lard probably is the best shortening to use. It has more shortening power than have other fats. Vegetable shortenings also do a good job, but butter doesn't make a tender pie crust. Whatever shortening is chosen be sure that it is fresh and sweet. Rancidity will show up unpleasantly in pastry.

Standard pastry recipes are to be found in almost every cookbook, so I won't list one here. Usually the proportion of fat to flour is ½ cup for a cup of flour, whatever size recipe is used.

Republican Women Hold Annual Meeting Tomorrow

The Woman's National Republican Club of Chicago will hold its annual meeting and tea at 2 o'clock tomorrow at the club headquarters in the Palmolive building. Mrs. George Weichelt and Mrs. William R. Cubbins will report on the year's activities. Mrs. Bertha Baur, Republican national committeewoman for Illinois, is president of the club.

Bride Doubting the Love of Her Flirtatious Mate

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"Dear Miss Blake: Please print the answer to this letter as soon as possible and save me from doing something I might regret. Here is my problem:

"I am newly married and I thought we were both madly in love. Now I doubt my husband. Recently we attended a house party and an older married woman made a play for my husband. Their conduct was in bad taste. Her husband was present and we both had a miserable time watching them. I didn't know what to do. I was shocked. All my friends who were present seemed sorry for me. I don't want sympathy, but I must do something.

"This woman has sent me an invitation to a party she is giving soon. If we don't attend every one will say I'm jealous. If we do go and my husband flirts with her again I will be even more heartbroken. I haven't argued with him about her. I don't want to show him I'm hurt. What shall I do? Shall I try to make him jealous by flirting with another man, or shall I have it 'out' with my husband this woman?

ANONYMOUS."

You must have a talk with your husband, and convince him that you trust him, yet you do not like his embarrassing you with his too ardent attentions to other women. Try to impress on him the fact that if he thinks anything of you he will not act as he has been doing.

Tell him that you know he does not mean anything by his thoughtless actions. If you can make him realize he is not only injuring your reputation, but his, too, by flirting with this woman, he may listen to your reasoning. Ask him how he'd like it if you, his wife, flirted with another woman's husband.

Men often do not realize that some women, like this one, like to play around just to flatter their own vanity as "vamps." But it's cheap stuff for a man to play.

Frock with a Smart Jacket

WOMAN'S AND MISS' JACKET COSTUME.

Frocks with companion coats and jackets are big fashion news for the spring season, and we're reviving the classic costume with a 1940 slant. This model consists of a simple dress with three-quarter length sleeves. Its neckline is V and may or may not have a collar, as you wish. Buttons play a style rôle down the front of the bodice, which tops a pointed-up waistline. The slim skirt is paneled for graceful flare. Whereas the dress is semifitted, the jacket is rather full and has tuxedo lines. It may match the dress or contrast.

Style No. 3091 is designed for size 16 and for 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 39 inch material for dress with three-quarter sleeves; 2⅛ yards for jacket.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

For 15 cents buy the spring Chicago Tribune book of Clotilde Fashions, on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower; 10 cents if ordered with a pattern. Address mail orders to the New York address above.

Tibbetts, and Dean Charles Gilkey, will sing again.

The first half of the program will be skits and choruses and the last half will consist of three numbers by the Graff ballet.

Mrs. Frederic Templeton is in charge of the sale of tickets and Mrs. George Pollock of boxes. Mrs. Merle Coulter is chairman of the committee planning the benefit.

Prenuptial Parties for Barbara Mechem.

Benjamin Atwood Smith II., whose marriage to Miss Barbara Mechem will take place on Saturday, is arriving from his home in Gloucester, Mass., today.

Miss Margaret Thompson, Miss Mechem's aunt, gave a kitchen shower for her niece Saturday. Thursday Mrs. Thomas Cassady will have a dinner at her home and on Friday Mrs. James B. Forgan will give a luncheon.

Friday evening Mr. Smith, a son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Russell Smith of Gloucester, will give a dinner for his ushers and the same evening Miss Mechem will have a dinner for the other members of the bridal party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Mechem, in Lake Forest.

On Saturday Miss Thompson will give a luncheon at her home and she and Mrs. Le Baron Turner will give a dinner at the Onwentsia after the reception there.

Russell T. Fosters Have Daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell T. Foster of Cleveland Heights, O., are being congratulated on the birth of their first child, a daughter, on Sunday in Cleveland. Mrs. Foster is the former Mary Elizabeth Reid Chatillon of Chicago, a daughter of the Bryan S. Reids. Mrs. Reid has gone to Cleveland. The new arrival has a tiny cousin, the infant daughter of the Alanson Donalds [Margot Reid].

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Meier Jr. of Evanston are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter on Thursday at the Evanston hospital. The baby, who has a 2 year old brother, Duncan III., has been named Julia Lake for her paternal grandmother. The senior Mr. and Mrs. Meier live in St. Louis.

Mrs. William J. Calhoun left yesterday for San Francisco to sail on Feb. 12 for her home in Peiping, China.

Miss Anne Morgan to Attend Tea Today.

Miss Anne Morgan will be the especial guest at a benefit bridge, fashion show, and tea which the Alliance Francaise is sponsoring this afternoon at the Casino club. Rene Weiller, French consul general, and Mrs. Weiller are among those who will share a table with Miss Morgan. The others are Robert Hall McCormick, Mrs. Henry Field, Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, Mrs. Ralph H. James, and Mrs. Charles S. Dewey. Miss Morgan is a leader in a committee organized to assist French people forced to leave homes in war zones.

Mrs. James, chairman of the affair, has announced that there are long waiting lists for both the tea and bridge.

Dinner Parties to Precede Recital.

There will be a number of small dinner parties tonight preceding a joint recital by Josef Cristea, tenor, and Margaret Grover Winston, mezzo-soprano, in Kimball hall. Several young girls, including Mrs. Winston's daughter, Diana, will usher, dressed in Rumanian costume.

Mr. Cristea is a cousin of the Rumanian prime minister and his brother is secretary of the Rumanian legation in Washington. Mrs. James Hamilton Lewis, Mrs. Charles H. Hamill, Mrs. Ballard Moore, Miss Mary Gardner, and Mrs. Harold Bodman are among those sponsoring the recital.

Versatile Basket Motifs

BY NANCY CABOT.

Luncheon cloths, cushion tops, runners, towels, and innumerable other items may be embroidered with the aid of these lovely basket motifs, which are easy to do. Chase House Nursery.

A benefit bridge tea for Chase House Day nursery will be held at 1:30 o'clock today at the Episcopal Church of the Redeemer, 1420 East 56th street. Mrs. Z. E. Martin heads the committee on arrangements.

Hans Muenzer Well Liked in Spohr Concerto

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Hans Muenzer, American violinist and teacher and formerly concert master of the W-G-N orchestra, appeared as soloist last night with the Illinois Symphony orchestra at the Blackstone theater. Albert Goldberg conducted.

In the eighth Spohr concerto, a work full of a gentle Mendelssohnian charm, the violin seemed to be almost a part of the performer's body, and to be able to express fine shades of feeling with the directness and immediacy characteristic of the voice itself. Tone changed subtly with each subtle change in the music's content, becoming serene and shining at one time, pungent and urgent at another.

Phrasing showed the same expressive changeableness. The gracious, lyrical melodies in which the concerto is so rich sang along with a humanness and an emotional power which sprang from the richness and naturalness of the violinist's inflection. Nothing ever sounded rigid or perfunctory.

But the concerto is not all quiet sentiment. In the difficult, widely intervalled phrases of the finale Mr. Muenzer played with a brilliance and cleanness which were as responsible as any other of his qualities for the ovation which followed the piece.

GIVE JOINT RECITAL

Ruth Ray, violinist, and B. Fred Wise, tenor, were presented in a joint recital in Kimball hall last night by Psi chapter of Delta Omicron for the benefit of its scholarship fund.

Miss Ray, in the Kochanski transcription of Nin's Spanish Songs, Tartini's "Devil's Trill" Sonata and short numbers, always conceived the music intelligently. Her playing was a trifle stolid, a factor that could be relieved by better accentuation and a greater regard for the rise and fall of a phrase.

Mr. Wise, on the other hand, sang several individual phrases beautifully, but rarely was able to keep his songs from falling apart. Both performers were warmly received by the audience. R. E.

Church Requests Printing Press.

From a small church on the south side of the city:

"We are in need of a printing press of any shape, size or condition, or some kind of duplicator. We are operating a community church, and are trying to serve our neighborhood. Some of the boys in our classes wish to do printing and issue a small paper, but we have no equipment. The size does not matter. If some reader has a small 3 by 5 or 5 by 8 press, we shall be glad to take care of transportation and, if necessary, supply repairs and type.—W. S."

Chicago Artists Pick Juries for Institute Show

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The Chicago Artists and Vicinity exhibition opens in March at the Art institute. It is important as news at this moment because for the first time in the history of this annual show the artists themselves have selected their juries.

The selection was done thru balloting. Yesterday the ballots were counted and Alexander Brook, painter, with 432 votes, led all the rest. Next in popularity was Louis Betts, dean of portrait painters, with 263 votes, and then came George Biddle, figure painter, with 254.

These three men will comprise the jury on paintings. The jury on sculpture will be composed of Heinz Warneke, who received 56 votes, and Paul Manship who followed with 42.

In all, 872 Chicago artists voted; of them 764 were painters and 108 sculptors. According to Mr. Rich, director of the institute, this is the largest group of artists the Chicago-Vicinity has ever attracted. The choice of the artists is a sound one; both the painters and the sculptors are artists of great ability and distinguished craftsmanship.

An attractive exhibition is current at the Rouilier galleries, Fine Arts building. There is a room filled with interesting lithographs, etchings, and stencils by Picasso [timely, for the comprehensive Picasso exhibit at the Art institute opens tomorrow evening] and in the first gallery are delightful woodcuts in color by Emma Bormann.

Recent oil paintings by Nicola Ziroli and Erminio Scapicchi are on view at the Quest galleries, 810 North Michigan avenue. This is a strong show, tho, because of the dark colors favored by both artists, rather on the melancholy side.

Scapicchi paints with a broad brush and is enthusiastically impressionistic. Many of his landscapes are extremely impressive, at a distance. Ziroli, on the other hand, is less impressionistic, less given to splashing his color around and much more concerned with detail. He has a smoother touch and a more finished technique than them a feeling, an atmosphere, that is infinitely pleasurable.

Hospital Benefit.

The Daughters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul, who direct St. Joseph's hospital, 2100 Burling street, will sponsor a card party tomorrow night in the hospital and nurses' home. Proceeds will be used for the new pediatric department and maternity floor.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

I wonder how often the play of a hand at contract has been made easy by the indiscreet, premature boasting of a defender who thought he had the setting trick. Obviously, a player who doubles for penalties is making the tacit statement that he expects to defeat the final bid, thus giving invaluable information as to the location of key cards. This is unavoidable. But surely he does not need to handicap his side further by gratuitous statements. Astute declarers are only too grateful for such guidance.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 no trump	Pass	4 clubs	Pass
6 no trump	Pass	7 clubs	Pass
7 no trump	Double	Pass	Pass
Redouble	Pass	Pass	Pass

South's last two bids were highly questionable. There was no reason for his insistence on no trump as against clubs, and after his terrifically strong bidding he should not have redoubled when his partner failed to do so. Nevertheless, his aggressiveness probably was the factor that contributed most to the success of this hand, for West, when he passed to the redouble in a flippant tone, further confirmed the confidence with an airy "Try and make it!"

When the opening club lead had been made [West merely trying to protect his three kings] and the dummy was spread, South considered the situation for a full minute. Then he turned to West and voiced a hope that must have struck terror to that gentleman: "I hope your double was sound, and that you have all three of the kings I'm missing!"

He won the club with the king and laid down the aces of spades and hearts. The entire club suit then was rattled off and, when the last one was played, West stared doom right in the face. Dummy still had left the spade jack, the heart ten, and the diamond eight. Declarer had discarded all of his spades and hearts and was holding the A-Q-J of diamonds. West had to reduce to three cards, and couldn't. If he threw either major suit king, dummy's card in that suit would be played and he would be squeezed again. And, of course, he couldn't afford to blank the diamond king. He could only surrender with the best grace possible.

GRAVEST DANGER IS ECONOMIC ILLS, SAYS REP. MARTIN

Must End Unemployment, He Tells Kansas G. O. P.

Topeka, Kas., Jan. 29 (AP).—Representative Joseph W. Martin of Massatold Kansas Republicans tonight "the gravest danger to the peace and security of the United States is not from some foreign invasion, but from allowing pressing home problems to go unsolved."

Joseph W. Martin. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

The house minority leader told a state wide Kansas Day Republican rally that the nation's attention must not be distracted from domestic problems.

"We must put our nine million unemployed men and women back to work," said Martin. "A recent survey shows there are 4 million young men and women between the ages of 18 and 24 who neve have had a regular job.

More Threatening than Armies.

"This condition is more menacing to the United States than all the armies and navies so often pictured as ready to span the seas and destroy us.

"Our front line is not on the Rhine, nor is it anywhere in France. It is at the farm gate and the factory door.

"We must solve the problems of agriculture so the farmer can obtain his fair share of the national income.

"We must put our national finances in order and avoid the ruin of inflation and bankruptcy. We must rescue the small farmer and the small employer from the domineering federal burocracy."

Martin charged President Roosevelt's administration with complete failure to restore prosperity.

Reviews Vast Resources.

"The United States contains 6 per cent of the world's area and 7 per cent of its population," he said. "It operates 60 per cent of the world's telephone and telegraph facilities, owns 80 per cent of the motor cars in use, operates 33 per cent of the railroads. It possesses about 17 billion dollars in gold, it has two-thirds of civilization's banking resources, and the purchasing power of its population is greater than that of 500 million people in Europe.

"A leadership which in seven years cannot translate such a rich economy into assured prosperity is destitute of capacity."

JUDGE DISSOLVES CEMETERY WRIT AT CRAB ORCHARD

East St. Louis, Ill., Jan. 29 (AP).—United States District Judge Fred L. Wham dissolved a temporary injunction today which would have prevented the federal government from removing bodies from five Williamson county cemeteries to be inundated by the formation of the Crab Orchard lake.

Judge F. L. Wham.

Residents of southern Illinois who had sought a permanent injunction had not made a case, Judge Wham held in dismissing their petition for want of equity.

In his decision Judge Wham pointed out that condemnation suits have not been heard and determined, and said the plan for removal of the bodies contemplated an order of his court before any such work was done.

Plans for the removal of 242 bodies to a new 15 acre cemetery were announced last month by the soil conservation service.

The Crab Orchard lake project includes construction of two large lakes in Williamson and Jackson counties and conversion of the lake area into a recreation spot.

14,583 Vehicle License Stickers Sold in Day

City Clerk Ludwig D. Schreiber reported that 14,583 city vehicle stickers were sold yesterday, making a total of 257,393 issued so far this year. Collections this year total $2,471,449 compared with $2,246,371 at the same time in 1939.

Easy way to "unpack" automobile prices

YOU know what most motor cars sell for, "delivered at the factory." That's advertised.

You know, too, that there's a necessary difference between such prices and the prices you pay for cars delivered to you here at home.

How much should that difference be? What should it cover? How can you tell if there's what the trade calls a "pack" in the price you're finally quoted?

You'll never be puzzled by questions like these if you study the standard GM "plainview" price tag pictured here, and let it be your buying guide.

We General Motors dealers are marking each car on our showroom floors with this tag, to enable you to judge more accurately the values we offer.

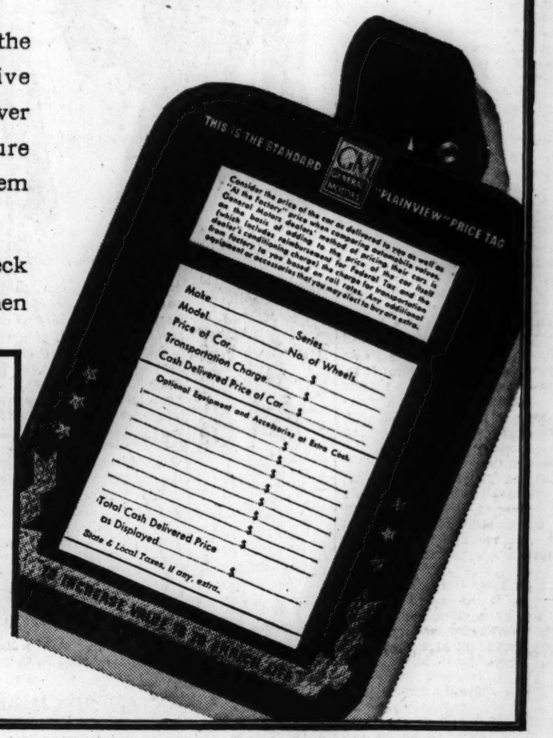
It shows you plainly our charge for the car itself. How much for transportation from the factory to you, based on rail rates, how much for any extra equipment or accessories that you may elect to buy.

That's all there is. There isn't any more. There's no hidden or mysterious item to offset a possible "long trade" with you on your used car.

You know exactly what your money goes for, every penny, and we display wall charts and provide itemized invoices giving similar information.

Right now we're showing the ablest and most attractive General Motors cars it has ever been our pride and pleasure to offer—come in and look them over.

Examine their features. Check their quality, point by point. Then consider the price tag. Thus you appraise for yourself their outstanding value. And you see what your good money buys.



THIS IS THE STANDARD

This is the standard price tag used by General Motors dealers to show what makes up the prices of new cars delivered to customers. "PRICE OF CAR" means the price we charge for the car itself, including reimbursement for Federal Tax and conditioning — "TRANSPORTATION CHARGE" means a charge for transportation from factory to you, based on rail rates — "OPTIONAL EQUIPMENT AND ACCESSORIES" means the charge for any extra equipment or accessories you elect to buy.

ZALE WINS DECISION; HOSTAK'S HAND INJURED

STEINER LEADS BUTLER QUINTET WITH 20 POINTS

5,000 See Coliseum Double Header.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

De Paul's Blue Demons are still traveling the basketball victory road, but they were nearly shoved off the highway last night before defeating the University of Toledo Rockets, 37 to 35, in the second game of the collegiate double header in the Coliseum.

A crowd of 5,000 saw the Demons win their 14th game in 15 starts and their ninth in a row since an overtime loss to Southern California. But the triumph was achieved only after one of the most thrilling battles of the Coliseum series.

But Loyola, Well—

The customers were put in the proper mood by the first game which saw a speedy Butler five frustrate Loyola's hopes of winning its first game in ten consecutive tries, 43 to 39. The score was tied eleven times, seven in the first half, which ended 21 to 21. Capt. Jerry Steiner came in mighty handy for the Bulldogs, accounting for 20 points. Mickey Rottner, Loyola's new sophomore hope, made his debut and distinguished himself with seven baskets.

De Paul found itself trailing 10 to 6 midway thru the first period, but baskets by Stan Szukala and Lou Possner corrected that. After scoring the tying basket, Possner came down in a crash and appeared to have injured his left knee. But he stayed in the game and made it 13 to 10 with a basket and free throw. The Rockets, however, kept firing shots until they came out of the first half with an 18 to 17 advantage on a one handed shot by Frank Clemons, their Negro star.

De Paul Keeps Lead.

Possner and Ted Skrodzki gave De Paul its biggest margin of the game—28 to 23—midway through the second half. Toledo finally tied the score at 31 to 31 on Clemons' free throw, but Possner and Elmer Gainer came through to make it 35 to 31. Free throws by Possner and Gainer completed the De Paul total, and proved to be very useful, for Bob Gerber of the Rockets scored two baskets.

De Paul connected on 7 out of 12 free throw attempts, while Toledo made only three out of nine. Gerber led the visitors with 13 points, while Possner paced De Paul with five field goals and four free throws.

M'COY SIGNED BY ATHLETICS; GETS $45,000 BONUS

Lands 2 Year Contract at $10,000 Salary.

The former Detroit Tiger infielder signed a contract with the Philadelphia Athletics that will net him a total of $65,000 in the space of two years.

McCoy, who was one of 91 Tiger chattels declared free agents by Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis 15 days ago, announced that the seventh place A's of the American league had presented him with $45,000 in cash and a two year contract at $10,000 per year. The deal was negotiated by Earle Mack, son of the 77 year old Philadelphia manager.

Beats Old $25,000 Record.

The $45,000 bonus McCoy received today is the largest amount any free agent ever has collected. The previous high was the $25,000 the St. Louis Browns paid to Catcher Rick Ferrell in 1929.

It also is the largest sum the Athletics have expended for a player.

Mack won the bidding battle principally because he was able to assure McCoy that he would play regularly in the infield.

In the fight for the services of McCoy until the last minute were the Cincinnati Reds and the Pittsburgh Pirates, both of the National league.

"I offered McCoy the same terms as the Athletics and the chance to be with a team that won the National league pennant last season," said Bill McKechnie, manager of the Reds, "but I could not guarantee that he would be a regular at second base. After all, Linus Frey, my second baseman last season, is a good ball player and I told Benny that if he came with us he would have to beat Frey out of the job in order to play regularly. He will be in good hands with the Athletics, tho."

Mack Announces Lineup.

The Pirates, who offered McCoy a $35,000 bonus some time ago, boosted the ante today, Benny said, but here again he faced the prospect of a fight for a regular job—this time with Pep Young. William Benswanger, president of the Pirates, carried on negotiations with Benny by telephone.

Mack said that Dick Seibert, with the A's last year, would be at first base again, McCoy at second, Bill Lillard, a recruit from San Francisco, at shortstop, and Al Rubeling, a rookie from Atlanta, at third base.

Incidentally, Philadelphia paid Atlanta $35,000 for Rubeling.

Mack also stated that [in Philadelphia] the Athletics today signed Pat McLaughlin of Laredo, Tex., 29 year old right hander who last year pitched for Toledo in the American association.

McLaughlin, like McCoy, was the property of the Detroit Tigers until declared a free agent recently by Commissioner Landis.

McCoy said he planned to invest the $45,000 in annuities. He plans to stay in Grand Rapids until the spring training camp of the Athletics opens in California in early March. Mack said that he would return to Philadelphia as soon as possible.

McCoy's batting was undoubtedly the asset that caused the spirited bidding for his services. He has batted more than .300 every year except his first in organized baseball.

REDS ACQUIRE TWO.

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 29 (AP).—The Cincinnati Reds didn't get Benny McCoy out of Judge K. M. Landis' free grab bag today but they did come up with a couple of pitchers.

Shortly after General Manager Warren C. Giles sadly announced he'd have to let Connie Mack and the A's pick up the check on Benny, Lloyd Dietz and Eugene Hinrichs, set loose from Detroit farm clubs, signed contracts with the Reds for 1940. Terms and money involved, as usual, were not disclosed.

Hawks' Kids Try Magic on Bruins Tonight

Games Tonight

Chicago at Boston.
Montreal at New York Americans.

The Chicago Blackhawks, whose National Hockey league contests henceforth probably will be dubbed The Children's Hours, headed yesterday afternoon for Boston, a city in which a team known as the Bruins operates. The Bruins, as you may have guessed, are the same robust crew who own the Stanley cup and the world's championship. They also are the team which licked the Hawks in 13 straight games until last Thursday night, when the Chicagoans rose up and earned themselves a tie to break the hex.

The Hawks, who have given the game back to the kiddies, enjoyed an 8 to 1 victory over the Montreal Canadiens on Sunday, in which all of the eight Chicago goals were scored by rookies, who also contributed six assists to the general jollification.

Standout of the evening was Les Cunningham, who is making his debut with the Hawks as a center. In view of what Les did after being smacked in the left eye by Polly Drouin's stick, it is hereby suggested that all ambitious forwards go out and seek themselves a jolt in the lamps as an incentive to scoring.

Before Cunningham was thru, following the accident, he had collected two goals and three assists, and only exceptional work by Claude Bourque, the Canadiens' goalie, prevented him from completing the hat trick—three goals in one game—within a single period.

Cunningham's five scoring points Sunday night came within one point of tying the league record of six, held by Pit Lepine, former Canadien star who is now coaching his old team, and Charley Conacher of the Americans, who set his mark when he was with the Toronto Maple Leafs. Cunningham's performance, however, sets up a season mark, bettering the four goals recently made by Herb Cain of Boston. It also was generally agreed that Les' work probably hung up a new record for one player in a single period.

Chicago's Fighting Men

Knockout Brown Was One of Chicago's Toughest Middleweights of Another Day

BY EDWARD PRELL.

[Chicagoland's greatest all time fighters? This is the seventh of a series that will attempt to answer the question, tracing the topnotchers from the gay '90s to the present and recalling some of the famous battles in the city's ring history.]

The literature with which fight managers flood the country in extolling the virtues of their meal tickets more often than not contains the phrase "fighters who fight." It makes no difference whether the fighter can or cannot fight. It's just an old custom.

Nate Lewis, who managed George [Knockout] Brown, hardiest of a hardy lot of middleweights who have been produced in Chicago, could have used no other three words to so aptly describe the qualities of the Greek warrior. He was literally born to fighting, his birthplace being Sparta, Greece. His real name—George Contas.

Knockout Brown had a pugilistic date with Jack Dillon in Springfield, O., in 1910. Came the night of the fight and a torrential outburst that kept the fans at home. Dillon offered to give Brown his $50 forfeit instead of fighting.

"I have come all the way from Chicago for this," answered Brown. "Let's fight."

"And so," reminisced Knockout last night, "we fought. Twenty rounds it was. I never had a tougher battle. Not to mention the leather I caught that night, it cost me $10 for the privilege. We split an $80 purse. Are you listenin', you present day fighters?"

Brown Objected to Headline Saying Yale Beat Him.

There was the time George knocked out an opponent named Yale in the east. The next morning, while Brown and Lewis were at breakfast, George spotted a headline in a newspaper being read by another customer, "Yale Beats Brown." Knockout snorted and became a bit profane. He was all for snatching the paper.

"Take it easy, Kayo," Nate admonished mildly, "that's a story about the football game."

[The record books contain no record of this fight, so we'll have to take Kayo's word for it.]

Brown fought two fine middleweights of his day, Hugo Kelly and Tony Caponi. Les Darcy had been knocking out one American importation after the other in Australia. Brown went over and fought him to a standstill in 20 rounds, then knocked out the New South Wales heavyweight champion after spotting him 65 pounds. Kayo had more than 300 fights and it is his boast he was never knocked out. He beat Willie Meehan in San Francisco after the roly-poly heavyweight had scored a decision over Jack Dempsey.

Ryan and McCoy Brought Early Prominence to Tattersall's.

Tommy Ryan, a New Yorker by birth, made Chicago his home for many years while in his prime. After Bob Fitzsimmons relinquished the middleweight title in 1896, Ryan claimed it and won recognition in 1897, meeting all comers until he retired in 1907. Tommy never weighed over 156 pounds, but he met and beat good heavyweights.

Tattersall's arena first won national prominence when Ryan and Kid McCoy fought there on May 29, 1900. It was their third meeting. In 1896 McCoy had left Ryan's camp as a sparring partner, then kayoed Tommy in 15 rounds. In 1897 their return fight was stopped by the police in the fifth round with honors about even.

Now they were to settle their supremacy in Chicago. Ryan claimed he was out of condition when his former pupil knocked him out. Each trained hard for the Tattersall fight, which drew $26,800. Malachy Hogan, saloon keeper and a colorful figure, was the referee. It was a vicious fight and at the end of the stipulated five rounds Hogan gave McCoy the decision Ryan, enraged, clipped the referee on the chin, but Hogan, who could hold his own in a brawl, popped Ryan on the nose. Police finally restored order. McCoy was over the weight so the title wasn't at stake.

Caponi, who had a deft left hook, was a good boxer. He fought Eddie McGoorty three times, a total of 50

GARY FIGHTER EARNS RIGHT TO TITLE BOUT

11,112 See 10 Round Stadium Battle.

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Tony Zale, 26 year old Gary boxer, fought the greatest fight of his career to beat Al Hostak, middleweight champion, in 10 rounds in Chicago Stadium last night. It was a nontitle contest, but his excellent performance earned for Zale a rematch with the title at stake in Seattle, Wash., within 90 days. Hostak injured his left hand in the fifth round and was unable to use it for the balance of the fight.

Zale, now recognized as No. 5 contender by the National Boxing association, will be elevated in the ratings because of his achievement.

The decision was unanimous. Referee Davey Miller and Judge Rube Metz voted, 53-47, and Livingston Osborne, the other judge, scored 54-46 for Zale.

Zale Down in First.

Hostak started out as if he meant to end it in the first round. The bell's echo had not yet died down when the champion stepped into Zale with a terrific left hook to the chin. Zale fell on one knee and an elbow, but regained his feet at the one count. Hostak stalked his man, crashing a right off Zale's jaw, and then spun him around with both hands to the face. At this point Zale fell into a clinch and held on until the round ended.

Failure to floor Zale for the count apparently discouraged the champion, who slowed down in the second and third while Zale piled up points. In the fourth both boys took things easy, but in the fifth Hostak hit Zale with every punch in his repertoire. It was in this round that Hostak injured his left hand.

Doctor Examines Hand.

In the dressing room after the encounter Dr. Frank A. Lagorio, chief medical examiner for the Illinois commission, inspected the hand. He said it was badly swollen, obviously an irritation of an old fracture. X-ray pictures will be taken of the injury at 9 o'clock this morning in Columbus Memorial hospital to determine definitely whether there is a break.

Hostak and Zale each weighed 162 pounds, two more than the division limit.

A crowd of 10,412 paid a net gate of $17,911. The total attendance was 11,112 and the gross gate receipts were $21,493.

In the second Zale landed a left to the body and then shot a right to the head. Hostak slowed down to a walk, being content to counter Zale's left leads. Hostak held on, but at the bell he opened up only to find Zale a willing mixer.

Crowd Cheers Zale.

Zale jabbed and stepped away from right hand counter punches in the third round. After landing a series of lefts to the face Hostak drove two rights to the body. Zale scored with a left and right to the head and the crowd roared, but Hostak caught his opponent with a hard right to the ear as the round ended.

Commission Again Puts Off Verdict in Thomas Probe

"Any announcement the Illinois Athletic commission has to make concerning the Harry Thomas investigation will be made next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock."

With this brief statement, Joe Triner, chairman of the commission, again postponed concluding remarks on the investigation of fights that Thomas, former heavyweight, declares he faked after a meeting in Chicago more than two years ago with Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling and Tony Galento, and his own manager, Nate Lewis.

Previously Triner had said announcement concluding the commission's investigation would be made yesterday. J. R. Fitzpatrick and Sheldon Clark, commissioners, and Edwin T. Breen, first assistant attorney general, were present yesterday when it was decided to postpone the announcement.

TOPPING ADMITS DR. SUTHERLAND IS DODGER COACH

Owner of Club Confirms Appointment.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 29 [Special].—Dan Topping, owner of the Brooklyn football Dodgers, today confirmed the signing of Dr. John Bain [Jock] Sutherland as coach of the team.

Jock Sutherland.

The signing of Sutherland was announced exclusively in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE on Sunday. Topping, who came here yesterday to confer with Sutherland, said the contract was for three years. No mention was made of its other terms, but it is understood Sutherland will receive $10,000 a year with a bonus agreement enabling him to double his original salary in any or all of the next three seasons.

Attend Luncheon Today.

Topping and Sutherland will leave for New York tonight to be present at a luncheon tomorrow, at which time Topping had planned to announce the selection of the former University of Pittsburgh coach who succeeds George [Potsy] Clark. Clark recently returned to Detroit to coach the Lions, after two disappointing seasons in Brooklyn.

Topping said he was pleased to get Sutherland, who for 15 years had been one of the best coaches in college ranks.

Ends Long Speculation.

Sutherland's agreement to coach the professional team ended a year of speculation over his next job. He had been linked by rumor with a score of colleges and with at least three professional teams.

Sutherland boasts one of the best all-time coaching records in football. In 15 years at Pitt his teams won 111 games, lost 20, and tied 12. During five years at Lafayette his teams won 33, lost 8, and tied 2.

He quit at Pitt early last year after a controversy with the school administration over athletic policies.

Mentions Possible Aides.

Sutherland said his assistants probably would be Pitt men and mentioned Alex Fox and Johnny Michelosen, former Pitt stars, as possibilities.

Topping disclosed he had talked with six other coaches before coming to terms with Sutherland.

Sutherland, replying to a query about his feelings in leaving the college circle, said he had "a great many things to find out," adding:

"I can't see any vast difference between college ball and professional ball. The league is well organized and an increasing amount of interest is being shown in professional football. I will proceed slowly and carefully. I'll make it go—I've never had a losing team yet."

PRAISE FROM STORCK.

Dayton, O., Jan. 29 (AP).—Carl L. Storck, president of the National Football league, tonight praised the signing of Dr. John B. Sutherland as coach of the Brooklyn Dodgers as "one of the finest steps the league has made."

"It brings a fine man and the No. 1 football coach in the country to the league," Storck said. He added that altho he had to approve Dr. Sutherland's contract, that would be a formality.

Storck also announced that a second meeting of the league executive committee would be held in New York Friday to pass on the recent sale of the Detroit team to Frederick Mandel of Chicago.

BOWLING WINNER LEAVES $100 TIP FOR THE PIN BOYS

Frank Zion of Detroit Collects $3,075.

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

Frank Zion of Detroit today was $3,075 richer—less $100 which he left as a tip for the pin boys—as the results of Petersen's singles bowling classic held over the week-end on the Archer and 35th Recreation alleys. But while Zion had the check for first prize, earned by rolling 1,750 in eight games, the men who finished in the next three places were stopped by bad breaks.

Most of the drama of the event, a tourney in which 352 of the best bowlers in the nation each rolled eight games across 16 alleys, was saved for the final moments, between 1:30 and 2 a. m. yesterday. Adolph Carlson of Chicago who had piled up a 266 count in the seventh game to bring his total to 1,492, needed a 259 final game to win.

Gets 232 in Last Game.

He opened the last game with three straight strikes, then ran into a 6-7 split and cleaned it up for a spare. He added a double and, with first prize in sight, left the No. 4 pin standing on a good hit in the seventh frame. He got his spare, but was out of first money. After another spare in the ninth frame he finished with 232, enough to bring his total to 1,739, which was good for fourth prize, $500.

Carl Hardin of Indianapolis, who took third place and $1,000, ran into his difficulty in the last frame of the final game. Needing a spare after a double in the preceding frames to run his score to 1,758, he ran into a 6-7-10 split and was able to pick only the 6 and 10 pins, which left him with 1,737.

W. C. Stecky of Cleveland, who got 1,745, just five pins short of the winning total and earned the $2,000 second prize, opened his last game with three strikes, got seven pins on the first ball in the next frame and was able to pick only two of them on the second ball.

Chapin & Gore climbed to within a game of second place in the North End Traveling league by winning three games from Fox De Luxe while the second place Birks were dropping a game to the Budweisers. Jack Scott of Samuelson's Kids was high individual with 671. Scores:

WHITE SOX SIGN ED WEILAND FOR PITCHING STAFF

Ed Weiland, one of the 91 lads who escaped from the Detroit Tigers farm system under Commissioner Landis' recent proclamation, returned to organized baseball yesterday by way of the White Sox. Weiland, a Chicago pitching product, signed a contract and will accompany James Dykes' battery squad to the Pasadena training camp next month. Weiland, a right hander, pitched for Henderson, Tex., last season, hurled 228 innings for a record of 18 victories against 9 defeats. He's 22 years old.

Athletic Officials Will Discuss Rules Tonight

A special rules interpretation meeting of the Athletic Officials' association of Chicago will be held tonight in the Atlantic hotel, it was announced yesterday by John B. Kelly, president. C. Y. O. AMATEUR BOXERS UNDERGO PHYSICAL TESTS

Staff of 11 Doctors Kept Busy in Gymnasium.

The Battle Front

FOLLOWING is a list of the out of town Golden Gloves tournaments which will be held tonight:

Muncie Star preliminaries.
Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette second round.
Nashville Tennessean preliminaries.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The amateur boxers of the Catholic Youth organization reported last evening in the C. Y. O. gymnasium for physical examinations preparatory to competing in the 13th annual Golden Gloves tournaments. The physical examinations were for both inexperienced boxers and those in the Open division who will fight for Chicago titles in the Coliseum Feb. 20, 21, and 22.

Dr. William Rothman.

Final examination for Novice boxers will be held tomorrow evening in Trafton's gymnasium, fifth floor, 180 West Randolph street. Experienced boxers, however, still may enter the Coliseum tournament which will determine Chicago's eight representatives in the Tournament of Champions. Entries will be accepted until midnight Sunday for the Coliseum and a final examination for these boys will be held Feb. 9.

Examined by 11 Doctors.

The physical examinations were conducted by the staff of 11 doctors associated with The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. After passing the physical tests, the boys are assigned to sectional tournaments. A second examination is given on the afternoon of the bouts. The list of physicians who assume the responsibility for the health of the contestants follows:

Dr. William Rothman, Dr. Harold Marsh, Dr. Clarence T. Plaut, Dr. Ernest R. Stoehr, Dr. Edward H. Ratcgan, Dr. J. V. Russell, Dr. James Walsh, Dr. Ernest D. Ponzer, Dr. John C. Wall, Dr. W. Lloyd Kenny, and Dr. James M. Wall.

From 5 to 7 per cent of all contestants reporting for initial examinations are rejected. Frequently the reason for disqualification is not at all serious, but the physicians refuse to permit any boy to take a chance, no matter how slight. Contestants are examined immediately after each bout in which the contest is stopped on the referee's order.

Each Boy Examined Twice.

Each boy is examined again before he enters the ring a second time. No boy may box more than twice in one evening. Since all matches consist of 3 rounds of 2 minutes each, the maximum time in the ring is 12 minutes. The Golden Gloves international bouts and the National A. A. U. tournaments are fought in three minute rounds.

In the Tournament of Champions, Feb. 26, 27, and 28, no boy will box more than four times in three days. This applies to the 64 quarter-finalists. The boys who draw a bye in the first round can advance to the semi-finals by competing only three times.

In recent years the 45 Golden Gloves centers have concentrated on development of adjacent territory. Thus, Kansas City has 16 qualifying tournaments; Grand Rapids, Mich., has 17 sub-centers, and Green Bay, Wis., has 4. This list could be expanded to include all 45 cities contributing championship teams to Chicago's 13th Tournament of Champions.

Green Bay Press Gazette has assisted in organizing tournaments in Escanaba, Mich., Appleton, Two Rivers, and Oconto, Wis. Boxers in Brown county [Green Bay] may fight in any of these tournaments and thus when the semi-finals are held in Green Bay Feb. 20, only four Golden Gloves boxers will remain in each weight class.

CALIFORNIA WILL REPLACE CHICAGO AS MICHIGAN FOE

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 29 [Special.]—Head Coach Fritz Crisler announced today that the University of California would replace Chicago on Michigan's 1940 football schedule.

The game will be the season's opener for both teams and will be played in Berkeley, Cal., Saturday, Sept. 28. The contest completes an eight game schedule for Michigan. A vacancy had been created by the withdrawal of Chicago from Big Ten gridiron competition.

Nov. 2, the date which had been held by Chicago, will remain open and the game with Michigan State college on Oct. 5 in Ann Arbor will not be changed as had been contemplated. It will be the first time in eight years that the Spartans have not held the opening day spot on the Wolverine schedule.

The completed schedule for 1940 follows:

Sept. 28—Michigan at California.
Oct. 5—Michigan State at Michigan.
Oct. 12—Michigan at Harvard.
Oct. 19—Illinois at Michigan.
Oct. 26—Pennsylvania at Michigan.
Nov. 9—Michigan at Minnesota.
Nov. 16—Northwestern at Michigan.
Nov. 23—Ohio State at Michigan.

Zale Defeats Al Hostak in 10 Round Bout

Fight Decisions

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS.

Baltimore, Md.—Pete Galino knocked out Charley Burns [5].
At Philadelphia, Pa.—Al Nettlow and Bob Montgomery drew [10]; Billy Soose beat Bud Mignault [10]; Spider Armstrong knocked out Sammy La Porte [2]; Irish Eddie Pierce stopped Gene Buffalo [8].

Both fighters took things easy in the sixth and in the seventh Zale did most of the leading while Hostak coasted. Zale drove two rights to the body and then brought his right up to the face. Hostak countered with a right to the ear and received a right to the eye. Hostak's unwillingness to use his left in this round caused spectators to speculate as to whether he had injured his hand earlier.

Hostak took a body beating in the eighth. When Hostak continued without using his left in the ninth, the puzzle was solved by his handlers, who said that the champion had injured the hand in an earlier round. Zale pushed Hostak into the ropes and hammered his right to the stomach without a return.

Bob Sikes, 188, Little Rock, Ark., knocked out Bob Ray, 188½, Decatur, Ill. [3].

GALE LEADS IN INTERNATIONAL STAR BOAT RACES

HAVANA, Cuba, Jan. 29 (AP).—Gale, sailed by Harry Nye Jr. of Chicago and representing the southern Lake Michigan fleet, won the second race of the Bacardi cup series in the 14th annual international Star class winter regatta today. The victory, coupled with a second place in the opening race this morning, gave Gale the lead in the series with 27 points.

Harold C. Halstead's Chuckle IV., from Moriches bay, N. Y., won the opening race, but was third in the afternoon to trail Nye's craft by one point. Second place in the afternoon race went to Melody, Paul H. Smart's entry from the central Long Island sound fleet, while Ace II., sailed by Adrian Iselin II. of the western Long Island sound fleet, came in third to place third in the series with 23 points.

Gale took the lead in the afternoon race after a 10 mile leeward and windward course and, with skilful handling, remained in front all the way to finish in 1:33.29. Melody's time was 1:36.10, and Chuckle's 1:37.04.

Fight Was So Good Roby Crowd Paid No Attention to Fire.

Combined punching and boxing skill put Kelly, whose real name was Ugo Micheli, among the leading middleweights of 30 years ago. In 1908 he fought Ketchel for the title in San Francisco, but was knocked out in the third round. He fought Philadelphia Jack O'Brien to a standstill in 20 rounds and drew with Tommy Ryan in six.

A big frame hall in Roby, Ind., just across the Illinois line, was the center of Chicagoland's boxing in the early 1890s. During the Columbian Exposition, Dan Creedon, Australian champion, and Alec Greggains, a Californian, were matched at Roby in a finish fight. The date was Aug. 14, 1893. Spectators were so engrossed in the battle they held their seats after the hall caught fire during the 11th round. Most of them remained until the 15th when Creedon won on a knockout. The building burned to the ground, but thanks to Creedon's punch the fans escaped in time.

Modern middleweights have carried on the traditional durability of their predecessors. Can the old timers match the climax of a south side neighborhood feud between Shuffle Callahan, the southpaw puncher, and Ted Ross, a terrific puncher who had a Bat Nelson way of absorbing punishment?

Callahan-Ross Grudge Fight Just About Ruined Both.

Mike Malloy, the portly promoter, finally got them together the night of Dec. 17, 1928. On the same program were Tommy Loughran, who had just given up his light heavyweight title, and Joey Sangor, hard punching Milwaukee lightweight. But the 10,261 were lured there mainly by the promise of an abysmal battle between the south side rivals. There were only 10,261 because that was capacity in the Coliseum.

The fight was all it figured to be. Callahan broke two of Ross' ribs in the first round. From then on it was an even battle, each being battered to the canvas so many times the count was lost. Instead of lagging, the tempo of the struggle increased, but in the seventh Callahan gained the upper hand and battered Ross so cruelly his seconds pitched in the towel. The contest, sparked by its grudge, virtually ended the two men's fighting days. That night Loughran's beat Big Boy Peterson in 10 rounds and Mr. Sangor ran into a knockout punch in the second round delivered by Armando Santiago.

[Tomorrow: Heavyweights.]

Iowa Defeats South Dakota State, 24-23

Iowa City, Ia., Jan. 29 [Special].—Iowa's erratic basketball team snatched victory from what seemed certain defeat in the last minute tonight as Paul Siglin, sophomore reserve guard, scored the last of his three second half baskets to beat South Dakota State, 24 to 23.

The score at the half was 13 to 10, in Iowa's favor, the low score indicating the inability of either team to hit the basket in the last 12 minutes of the first half.

SPARTANS WIN, 39-28

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 29 [Special].—Michigan State's basketball team conquered the University of Baltimore, 39 to 28, for its only victory on an eastern swing tonight.

The Spartans led at the half, 17 to 16. Michigan State accelerated its attack in the second half, and kept in front nearly all the way, after a succession of three field goals in the first minute and a quarter of the period gained the Spartans a working margin.

MISS AMORY'S 80 WINS MEDAL IN WOMEN'S GOLF

Coral Gables, Fla., Jan. 29 (AP).—Grace Amory of Palm Beach won the qualifying medal in the Miami Biltmore women's golf tournament today with a two under par 80, a single stroke better than Patty Berg of Minneapolis and three others.

Miss Berg, minus the appendix that forced her to the sidelines seven months ago, sliced a stroke off par to tie for second with Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., the national champion; Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., and Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta.

Ellamae Williams and Mrs. Lillian Zech, both of Chicago, qualified with 85 and 87, respectively.

Bruins Seek to Hurdle Oshkosh Tomorrow Night

Le Roy Edwards, former Kentucky center, looms in the path of the Bruins tomorrow night when he leads the Oshkosh All-Stars into the 132d armory, Madison and Rockwell streets.

Edwards won the scoring championship of the National Basketball league the last two seasons and he is in the midst of a hot streak which has lifted him to first place, above Ben Stephens, former Iowan, now with the Akron Goodyears. The Oshkosh ace has 209 points in 17 games to Stephens' 188.

Edwards got off to a bad start. In the first four games he made only three baskets and in one of these games he was shut out by the Bruins. However, he played himself into shape and now is going at a fast clip.

In the last six games he has made 92 points, an average of more than 15 per game. One of these games included a return contest with the Bruins in which he amply avenged his earlier shutout by getting 18 points.

If Mike Novak doesn't slow Edwards down tomorrow night the Bruins may suffer a serious setback in the western division race. Oshkosh leads at present with 10 victories and seven defeats, followed closely by the Bruins with 8 and 7. A victory will give Chicago first place and defeat will drop them to third, behind Sheboygan.

In the first game of the doubleheader, Acme Steel, which has won the Chicago commercial title twice in recent years, will meet International Harvester.

STAN PHILLIPS, RIBBACK WIN IN HANDBALL MEET

Two of the six opening matches in the 10th annual A. A. F. singles handball tournament in Berkman's Health club yesterday were forced to three games.

Gil Ribback defeated Bob Williams, 21-10, 19-21, 12-15, and Stan Phillips beat Joe Budnis, 21-20, 14-21, 21-6. Scores:

Gil Ribback, Berkman's H. C., defeated Bob Williams, 111th Street Y. M. C. A., 21-10, 19-21, 21-15.

GORDON TO SEND BACK CONTRACT; WANTS MORE PAY

Eugene, Ore., Jan. 29 (AP).—Joe Gordon, second baseman of the New York Yankees, received his 1940 contract today, but said he would return it unsigned.

"I think I'll write a note with the return of the document and see if I can't have the salary item boosted," he explained.

SUNDRA, GRISSOM SIGN.

New York, Jan. 29 (AP).—Signed contracts of two pitchers—Steve Sundra and Lee [Lefty] Grissom—were received by the New York Yankees today.

SUHR IS HOLDOUT.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 29 (AP).—Gus Suhr, first baseman of the Philadelphia Nationals, disclosed today he had not signed his 1940 contract because he was negotiating for a small increase in salary. Suhr is approaching his 11th year as a major leaguer after spending all but half of last season with Pittsburgh, from where he was traded.

Beer Flavor Stands or Falls when you taste and compare brands at 50 degrees temperature
50°

Richard Seibold
MEISTER BRÄU BREWMASTER
JUDGE BEER FLAVOR when flavor isn't disguised by cold
the European Way
BEER is like any other kind of food or drink; it has to be the proper temperature if you want to know how it really tastes. Over-chilling hides the true flavor—good or bad.
If everybody drank beer too cold, the trouble we go to in making our beer would be a waste of time. We might as well have saved money by adding sugars or syrups. We might as well have added artificial gas at bottling instead of using only natural draft beer carbonation created in the brew itself.
At 50 degrees true flavor shows up—all the delightful, mellow flavor of finest malt and hops. And if it isn't good beer, you can tell it quick, when you drink it the European way. That means, take an ice-cold bottle out of the refrigerator and let it stand awhile until it's the proper temperature.
Do that and you'll know how delicious beer can be. And, another thing, you'll always ask for the brand you prefer.
For 49 years we've made beer for the 50-degree drinkers—the beer cranks. Order Meister Bräu today and take the "50-degrees" Test. I'll promise you a surprise.

COURT IS DENIED RIGHT TO ACT AS GUARDIAN OF FCC

Highest Tribunal Upholds Government's Plea.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 (AP).—A government contention that a federal court of appeals has no right to supervise the administrative action of the Federal Communications commission was sustained today by the United States Supreme court.

The tribunal reversed a decision directing the FCC to reconsider an application by the Pottsville [Pa.] Broadcasting company for a radio station construction permit without at the same time considering two other applications subsequently filed.

Justice Felix Frankfurter, who wrote the unanimous opinion, asserted that "courts are not charged with general guardianship against all potential mischief in the complicated tasks of government."

Cites Legislative Position.

"The present case," he added, "makes timely the reminder that 'legislatures are ultimate guardians of the liberties and welfare of the people in quite as great a degree as the courts.' Congress, which creates and sustains these agencies, must be trusted to correct whatever defects experience may reveal.

"Interference by the courts is not conducive to the development of habits of responsibility in administrative agencies. Anglo-American courts as we know them are themselves in no small measure the product of a historic process."

The decision directed the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia to dissolve a writ of mandamus granted against the commission and to dismiss the broadcasting company's petition.

Jackson Argues Last Case.

Attorney General Robert H. Jackson, in his last argument before the Supreme court as solicitor general, asserted that "the only ultimate effect" of the decision by the Court of Appeals "is to destroy orderly procedure in the commission."

The appeals court ruling, he added, subordinates the interests of the public "to the private interests of a particular applicant who happened to be the first to file for given facilities."

An identical decision was delivered by the high court on other litigation involving an application by Paul R. Heitmeyer to construct a radio station at Cheyenne, Wyo.

STEEL OUTPUT RATE OFF THIS WEEK TO 77.3%

America's steel mills will trim their schedules this week to 77.3 per cent of capacity, lowest since Sept. 11, 1939, the American Iron and Steel Institute reported yesterday.

Last week, the institute reported, operations were scheduled at 82.2 per cent, a month ago at 85.7 per cent, and a year ago at 52.8 per cent.

Steel men said the reduction reflected the recent slowing in operations because production has outstripped new orders.

LIQUIDATION TRUST.

What is the function of a liquidation trust,—R. T.

Answer: A liquidation trust usually is created when a corporation decides to dissolve. The stockholders select liquidating trustees to whom passes the title to the assets of the company. These trustees attempt to convert the assets into cash as rapidly as possible and to distribute the proceeds among creditors, and, after all the debts have been discharged, among the stockholders.

During periods of depreciated values it is difficult to liquidate property quickly. The trust acts as a liquidating and conserving agency until the property can be sold.

Numerous liquidation trusts were established as the result of defaulted real estate mortgage bonds. Bond holders committees often purchased the pledged property securing their bonds at foreclosure sales.

The title of the property was then assigned to liquidating trustees, usually members of the committee, under a trust agreement which provided that the trust would terminate on a certain date. The owners of the bonds received certificates of beneficial interest in the trust in proportion to the size of their holdings.

The liquidation trust has the theoretical advantage of placing control of the property in the hands of a few interested persons who are experienced in the management or are acquainted with the operations of the enterprise. The trust eliminates controversy and minority dissension by concentrating control in the trustees.

The disadvantage of this type of trust is that concerted action of the beneficiaries would be necessary to oust the trustees should their management prove unsatisfactory. There also is the tendency of trustees to perpetuate their control.

LEGAL RESERVE.

What is the legal reserve of an insurance company?—D. H.

Answer: The legal reserve is that fund required by state law to be set aside to pay outstanding insurance policies as they mature. The reserve fund is accumulated from the portion of current premiums remaining after payment of death claims and expenses by the insurance company.

SIERRA RAILROAD.

Where does the Sierra Railroad company operate?—C. D.

Answer: The main line of the Sierra Railroad company runs from its connection with the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe at Oakdale, Cal., to Tuolomne, Cal., a distance of more than 56 miles.

3 BIG COMPANIES BUY OVER HALF OF TVA ENERGY

But Plants Require Few Workers.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Knoxville, Tenn., Jan. 29.—More than half of the electrical energy sold by the Tennessee Valley authority in the last fiscal year was bought by three wealthy industrial companies, but the resultant effect on employment, it appears, has fallen short of expectations.

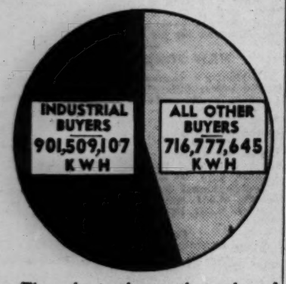
The golden flood poured into the valley by the $535,000,000 experiment in an ordered society, or benevolent dictatorship, as TVA once described it, naturally has helped the region. But the electrical furnaces which use tremendous volumes of energy, mostly secondary power not good the year around and not marketable to municipalities, require few employés as compared with many other industries.

Year's Output Worth 5½ Millions.

The TVA energy distribution tables seem somewhat illuminating. Total sales in 1939 in kilowatt hours were:

To municipalities	253,028,353
To coöperatives	48,483,420
To industrials	901,509,107
To private elec. utilities	192,165,740
To rural service	26,910,088
Interdepartmental sales	196,123,111
Other sales	66,933
Total sales	1,618,286,752

In the last fiscal year, ended June 30, 1939, TVA sold $5,445,198 worth of power—1,618,286,752 kilowatt hours. Forty municipalities bought about 16 per cent of the total of kilowatt hours sold. Twenty-two coöperatives took 3 per cent. These municipalities and coöperatives, however, preferred customers under the TVA act, bought 34 per cent of the firm power.



The chart shows the sale of power, in kilowatt hours, to industrial users and all other buyers.

[Firm power is power which can be delivered the year around. The TVA also sells secondary power, defined as run of the stream energy, available for 75 per cent of the time over a ten year period, and dump, or surplus power—not saleable to buyers who require uniform delivery.]

Industrial Sales Increase.

Sales to four industrial customers of the TVA, including the army engineers, who use great blocks of secondary and dump power, increased from 358 million to more than 901 million kilowatt hours. The four of them bought 55.7 per cent of all the kilowatt hours sold last year.

The proportion of power bought by municipalities and coöperatives will increase largely this current year because of the purchase of the Tennessee Electric Power company system. The TVA argument is that the industrial sales have provided revenue which helped to tide TVA over the development period.

Sales to private electric utilities, the bulk of it secondary and dump power, also increased. Last year they were more than three times as great as in 1938, jumping from 62 to 192 million kilowatt hours.

Monsanto Second Biggest Buyer.

Critics are asking whether or not some of the economic royalists are getting a large slice of the more abundant life from TVA at the expense of the tax payers all over the United States of America.

Second largest customer of TVA in 1939 was the Monsanto Chemical company—the Aluminum Company of America being ace purchaser, having purchased 577,671,000 kilowatt hours of electricity last year for which it paid $1,512,136. The Monsanto company seems to be a bit outside the underprivileged groups which TVA's experiment is to lead into Canaan, for it is rated one of the most prosperous chemical companies in the country, with headquarters in St. Louis, Mo.

Its total assets are $66,738,000. In 1938 its net income was $3,150,593. In the first three quarters of 1939 the net income of the entire company was $3,514,000 compared with $1,853,000 in the same period of 1938.

The Monsanto company has a contract dated in June, 1936, for the purchase from TVA of up to 50,000 kilowatts for a new electric furnace plant near Columbia, Tenn. Engineers say 50,000 kilowatts of electrical energy is as much as is used in an ordinary city of 125,000 people for all domestic,

Expand Plants in Bonneville, TVA Districts

Aluminum Company of America yesterday announced details of an expansion program which Roy A. Hunt, president, said will cost $30,000,000.

Roy A. Hunt.

Included in the projects are a metal producing plant at Vancouver, Wash., in the Bonneville dam power area, and improvements and extensions in regions served by the Tennessee Valley authority.

The Bonneville and TVA power systems, which are or will furnish power for the Aluminum company and its subsidiaries, are federally owned. Increases in Aluminum's plant facilities will enable the company to make further use of the bargain rates for electricity which the government systems have granted.

Take Advantage of Rates.

The figures detailed by Hunt throw additional light on the extent to which the company is locating its facilities to take advantage of the TVA and Bonneville rate concessions.

Cheap power rates in areas served by the federal projects have been assailed in the middle west as raising a new threat to industries in Illinois and other states. Manufacturers and others have charged that the low rates will tend to draw industries out of the midwest into the Bonneville and TVA areas.

Aluminum's projected Vancouver plant has been cited as an example of this influence.

Hunt's announcement said that the Vancouver plant, with other additions and betterments in the bauxite, aluminum, and metal producing divisions of the company, will take $18,000,000 of the scheduled $30,000,000 outlay. The amount to be spent on the plant alone was not stated.

Improve Illinois Plant.

The metal producing projects listed under the $18,000,000 phase of the program included an unstated amount for improvements at the company's East St. Louis, Ill., plant, additions to the Alcoa, Tenn., metal producing plant, and other improvements in the Tennessee region. Hunt said the capacity of the Tennessee aluminum producing plant will be increased 20 per cent.

The remaining $12,000,000, he said, will be used to "balance facilities in the company's fabricating operations." Included in this list was an extension of the company's rolling mill at Alcoa, as well as other improvements at the same plant.

Other centers in which expenditures will be made for increased fabricating capacity or other facilities are New Kensington, Pa.; Massena, N. Y.; Edgewater and Garwood, N. J.; Cleveland, O.; Los Angeles, Cal., and Lafayette, Ind.

The company recently completed a development and construction program costing $26,000,000.

RAIL FINANCING HEARING RESULTS FROM BID PLEAS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 [Special].—The Interstate commerce commission today called a hearing for next Monday on an application of the Louisville and Nashville railroad for authority to refinance 60 million dollars of unified 4 per cent bonds maturing next July 1. The commission's action was regarded unusual in view of the fact no formal protest had been made regarding the refinancing.

However, informal protests had been made by Halsey, Stuart & Co. of Chicago and Otis & Co. of Cleveland, underwriting firms, over the lack of competitive bidding for a proposed new issue to replace the maturing obligations. It was understood these protests influenced the commission's action. The time for filing formal protests expired two weeks ago.

Robert R. Young, chairman of the Alleghany corporation, railway holding company, and other interests, had expressed a desire to intervene should hearings be held.

FEDERAL PLEA TO REHEAR OIL CASE DROPPED

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 [Special].—The government today withdrew from the United States Supreme court a petition asking that a full bench of the court reconsider the tribunal's decision affirming dismissal of indictments against 11 defendants in the Madison, Wis., oil antitrust case.

The petition had been filed after the court affirmed the dismissals by an evenly divided vote. The petition was withdrawn by Solicitor General Francis Biddle, who gave no reason for the government's action.

It was reported, however, that Justice Frank Murphy had decided to disqualify himself because of his previous connection with the case as attorney general.

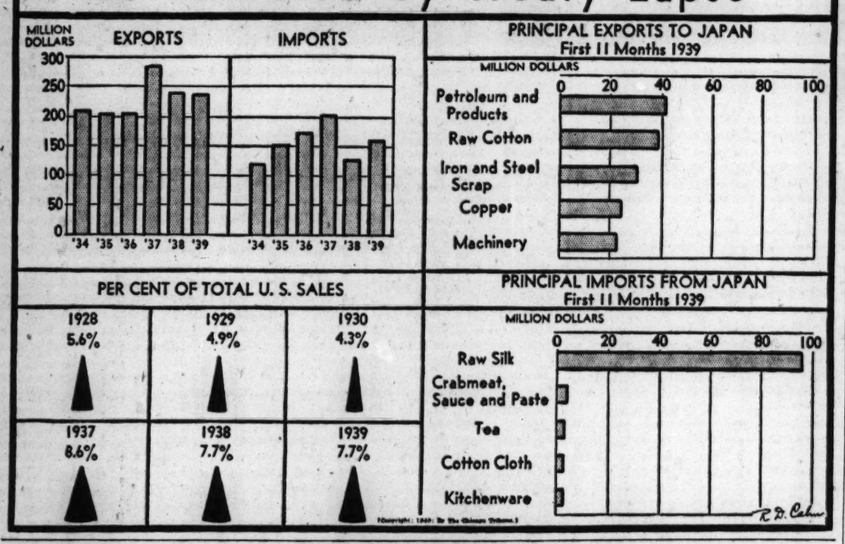
Trade With Japan Which May Be Affected by Treaty Lapse



Wheat Slumps 2 Cents When Cold Spell Ends

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

	Yesterday.	Saturday.	Yr. ago.
Wheat	$ .96¼	$ .99	$ .89⅝
Corn	.56½	.57¾	.51⅜
Oats	.38¾	.39¼	.28⅜
Rye	.68⅛	.70½	.46⅝
Soy beans	1.06¼	1.08½	.81⅜

Liquidation developed in the grain markets yesterday. Wheat futures on the Chicago Board of Trade declined more than 2 cents, with the May delivery touching 96¾ cents. This was the lowest price quoted for that delivery since the middle of last December. May and July corn sold at the lowest prices in about seven weeks.

Higher temperatures prevailed in the southwest, resulting in melting part of the snow covering over winter wheat fields. This permitted the moisture to soak into the ground.

Short covering and buying on resting orders checked the decline, but the rally from the lowest prices was feeble. Closing trades on wheat were at losses of 2¼ to 2¼ cents. Corn was ¾ to ⅞ cent lower.

Demand for Flour Improves.

Some improvement was reported in the domestic flour demand as the result of the recent decline in wheat prices. The decline is equal to about 10 cents on a barrel of flour. Aside from this the general run of the news was regarded as favorable for a lower range of prices.

Estimates on the Australian wheat crop were revised upward by 18 million bushels from the preliminary returns. The yield is now placed at 204 million bushels, compared with 154 million bushels the preceding season.

Earlier in the month estimates on the Canadian crop were raised 10 million bushels, and latest reports indicate the possibility of the Argentine crop exceeding the 147 million bushels forecast recently. All of this additional wheat has been added to the world's exportable surplus.

Debate Wheat Export Subsidy.

Reports from the North Pacific coast indicated that a government subsidy of 40 to 45 cents a bushel on wheat would be needed to meet competition offered by Australian grain in the Orient.

Nothing was heard regarding additional export business in American corn, altho supplies of feed grains in Europe are said to be small. Imports of barley into Europe from July 1 to the middle of January have been slightly less than 20 million bushels, or about 22 millions less than during the same period the preceding season. Barley is used extensively in Europe for live stock feed.

ACCOUNTING SUIT OF CERTAIN-TEED CORP. IS SETTLED

New York, Jan. 29 (AP).—State Supreme Court Justice Lewis A. Valente today approved the settlement of a $1,000,000 accounting action brought by the Certain-Teed Products corporation against George M. Brown, former president; his son-in-law, Robert M. Nelson, former treasurer, and certain other former officers and directors.

The amount of the settlement was not made known, but was said to be between $200,000 and $250,000. The suit charged the defendants procured corporation interests in land at Port Wentworth, near Savannah, Ga., thru a fraudulent exchange.

FRUIT AND VEGETABLE PRICES SKYROCKET AS RESULT OF COLD WAVE

Sharply higher prices of fruits and vegetables in the Chicago market during the last week have reflected the effect of the cold wave that swept the south, virtually paralyzing the industry in some sections.

M. M. Thomas, government marketing specialist, said yesterday that housewives' budgets are due to suffer still more. He said the full effect of the market shortage will not be felt in Chicago until later in the week.

The following wholesale range of prices shows the advance on the Chicago auction market during the last week:

	Yesterday.	Jan. 22.
Beans, string, bu. Fla.	$2.00@4.25	$2.50@3.00
Cabbage, crt. Tex.	2.25@2.50	1.65@1.90
Celery, crt. Mich.	1.00@1.25	.75@1.00
Lettuce, hd. crt. Ariz.	2.65@2.85	2.35@2.50
Peppers, crt. Fla.	4.25@4.50	2.25@2.50

Thomas said Florida's crops have been almost wiped out, and few shipments to Chicago are expected. Orange prices have climbed approximately 25 cents a crate, and a further increase is expected, he said.

UNITED AIR LINES PLANS $100,000 OFFICE ADDITION

United Air Lines will build a $100,000 addition to its general office building at the Chicago Municipal airport, W. A. Patterson, president, announced yesterday. The expansion was approved by directors at their meeting here during the day.

The addition will be designed by Albert Kahn, Detroit architect, and will be completed by the end of the year. About 50 employés will be added to United's present Chicago staff of more than 600.

Patterson said United has decided to keep its headquarters in Chicago because of the city's central location on the nation's air routes, and the belief of the management that a company should maintain headquarters in the territory it serves. American Airlines recently moved its headquarters from Chicago to New York.

BRANIFF TO USE LARGER SHIPS IN FLIGHT TO TEXAS

Braniff Airways on Saturday will begin using 21 passenger Douglas transports in service between Chicago and Brownsville, Tex., Charles E. Beard, vice president, announced yesterday. The new ships, which represent an investment of $540,000, also will be used between Dallas, Houston, and Corpus Christi.

With the new ships, made necessary by a passenger traffic increase of 60 per cent during 1939, the line will be able to accommodate an additional 40,000 passengers this year, according to Beard.

The Douglas equipment will replace smaller transports.

War Department Awards Order to United Aircraft

The war department yesterday announced the award of a $1,040,172 contract for propeller assemblies and control assemblies for aircraft to the Hamilton Standard Propeller division of United Aircraft corporation.

To the Creditors and Stockholders of Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation

The Plan of Reorganization of Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation (the Maryland Corporation), the Debtor in Proceedings for Reorganization in the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York is being consummated, all appeals from the decree confirming the Plan having been finally dismissed. Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation, the New Corporation recently incorporated in Delaware, has acquired all the properties and assets of the Debtor in accordance with the provisions of the Plan.

All creditors and stockholders of the Debtor are now entitled to receive the securities of the New Corporation in exchange for securities of and claims against the Debtor, as provided in the Plan. Bankers Trust Company has been appointed Agent for the distribution of the new securities.

The New Corporation is currently having mailed to all known creditors and stockholders of the Debtor a letter dated January 27, 1940 announcing the availability of such securities and enclosing complete instructions and forms of transmittal letters. Each creditor or stockholder of the Debtor who does not receive such communication in due course, should obtain copies of such letter and instructions and the appropriate forms of transmittal letters from Bankers Trust Company, Distribution Agent, Corporate Trust Department, 16 Wall Street, New York, N. Y. The securities of the Debtor should be surrendered to such Distribution Agent.

SEC Presents Case Against Giannini Firms

San Francisco, Cal., Jan 29 (AP).—The Securities and Exchange commission fraud case against Time Trust, Inc., and the Bank of America began today with a government move to have a defendant's answer thrown out of court.

Evidences that the trial would prove a long and bitter battle between the A. P. Giannini banking interests and the SEC appeared in opening statements of Attorneys J. Leonard Townsend for the SEC and Harry Mazzera for Time Trust before Federal Judge A. M. Sames of Tucson, Ariz.

Townsend said the government was prosecuting Time Trust for assertedly promoting a scheme to sell stock in the Bank of America by making "an unsuspecting public believe they were actually putting their money into a savings account."

Seeks Dismissal of Complaint.

Townsend sought to have dismissed an answer and cross complaint filed by all defendants except John M. Grant, president of Trans-America corporation, in which they attacked SEC agents' methods of getting evidence, and charged intimidation.

"Is that any answer or excuse," Townsend asked the court, "to justify these defendants in continuing to do what we say they have been doing contrary to law?"

He asserted that commission agents had adhered strictly to the "commission's manual of conduct" in assembling their evidence.

He urged the court to dismiss the cross complaint as being "sham and frivolous" and filed, he said, merely for the purpose of "taking the spotlight of the court off their own misconduct."

Seeks to Enjoin Commission.

Mazzera argued that the cross complaint was filed properly to "enjoin" the commission from acts not authorized by law. He charged that prospective witnesses in the case had been so intimidated by the commission they would be "afraid to give untrammeled testimony."

Mazzera called the conduct of SEC agents "un-American, illegal, and unconscionable," and declared his clients felt it necessary to protect the investing public against "policing agencies like the Gestapo of Germany and OGPU of Russia.

DULL-MARKET DILEMMA

Many investors are inclined to postpone investment decisions until conditions abroad clarify and the trend of security markets becomes more clearly discernible. But they should realize that a "do-nothing" policy is not always a prudent policy.

Today's conditions demand extraordinary vigilance. Never has there been greater need for a realistic re-examination of your holdings and investment policy.

In establishing an effective investment program, geared to present-day conditions, Moody's services can be of help and benefit to you. Having experience and unusual research facilities, Moody's organization can relieve you of much of the work and worry involved in the supervision of your securities.

We shall be glad to discuss, in person or by correspondence, how our various services function and how they can be helpful to you.

Plan 300 Mile Speed in Substratosphere.

Pan American Airways yesterday announced the signing of a contract with the Lockheed Aircraft corporation for development in 1940 of a four engined substratosphere transport plane with cruising speed of 300 miles an hour. Three ships of this type now are on order, with an option of three more, all of which are intended for service on the South American trade routes.

These planes are expected to reduce from four days to two the elapsed time on the airway between Miami and Buenos Aires. They also are intended to outperform the newest German and Italian transports that now are on order or are planned for competitive South American aviation companies. Specifically they are intended to better the performance of the Focke-Wolf Condor planes that have been ordered by certain foreign owned lines.

More Powerful Motors.

The new Lockheed airplanes will be special Pan American Airways versions of the Excaliber type that already has been announced. Where the earlier type Excaliber is to have four 550 horse power Pratt & Whitney Wasp motors, the P. A. A. Excaliber will have four 1,200 horse power Cyclones. The original plans for the Excaliber called for a 30,000 plane, but the P. A. A. version will weigh 40,000 pounds.

Recognition of the need for supertransports of this type, according to P. A. A. officials, is the result of the planning undertaken for the company's long range procurement program. These ships, now ordered, probably will go into service in 1942. Pan American Airways is taking into consideration the probability that the war in Europe may be ended by that time and German aviation resources turned to producing commercial craft.

Lay Plans for New Planes.

It was about a year ago, according to the story told at Pan American's offices, that Andre A. Preister, chief engineer for the PAA system, and Hall Hibbard, chief engineer for Lockheed, first talked about the requirements for the airplanes ordered yesterday.

Preister demanded a plane with a 2,000 mile range, a supercharged cabin for passenger comfort when the plane was cruising at 16,000 feet, and cruising speed of 300 miles an hour. Hibbard made notes, discussed details, and left for the Lockheed factory at Burbank, Cal.

Three months later he submitted drawings and projected performance of PAA Excaliber No. 1. Preister looked these over and said: "No. Too slow, range too short." Six weeks later Lockheed representatives reappeared with PAA Excaliber No. 2 on paper. Again Preister said: "Too slow, too short."

Third Design Is Acceptable.

A third time, again after an interval of weeks, they returned. Preister looked over the papers and said: "This is just about it. Give me just a little more speed, a little more range, and you'll have it."

Recently the Lockheed men returned to New York with, apparently, the airplane desired. They couldn't guarantee medium powered cruising speed of 300 miles an hour but guaranteed what they called an "operating speed" of 300.

Hitherto the entire Miami-Buenos Aires route has been flown by flying boats.

Biggest Broker Firm to Merge with 2 Others

One of Wall street's most important mergers in a decade will take place March 30 when the nation's largest stock and commodity brokerage firm, E. A. Pierce & Co., combines with the big underwriting house of Merrill Lynch & Co., Inc., an announcement by the firms said yesterday.

Edward A. Pierce, a senior partner.

Also in the merger will be Cassatt & Co., Inc., a 65 year old Philadelphia concern, which in recent years has been operated as an underwriting subsidiary of Merrill Lynch.

The new organization, to be known as Merrill Lynch, E. A. Pierce & Cassatt, will be headed by Charles E. Merrill and Edward Allen Pierce as senior partners.

Will Have 42 Offices.

The new concern will have 42 offices thruout the country, 38 of which are operated as branch wire houses in E. A. Pierce's brokerage business.

E. A. Pierce & Co. and Merrill Lynch & Co. have maintained close business connections since the latter concern turned over its brokerage business and branch offices to the Pierce firm early in February, 1930.

Merrill Lynch then turned its attention to investment banking, specializing in corporate financing, and eventually gave up its New York Stock exchange membership and handled its commission business entirely thru the Pierce organization. Merrill became a special partner in E. A. Pierce & Co. in 1930.

The Cassatt firm has taken part in the financing of many of Pennsylvania's railroad, coal, and industrial enterprises. Robert Cassatt, son of the one time president of the Pennsylvania railroad, Alexander Cassatt, was for many years head of the underwriting house.

Make Joint Announcement.

Yesterday's announcement was made jointly by Merrill Pierce, and T. Johnson Ward, president of Cassatt & Co.

Winthrop H. Smith, Chicago resident partner of E. A. Pierce, said that "substantially all" of the 19 partners and seven special partners in the Pierce organization will be taken into the new firm.

Brokerage circles viewed the deal as part of the trend toward building up the investment business of brokerage houses and security dealers.

In recent years commission houses have had to rely more and more on the business of investors, who hold the securities they buy for a considerable time, rather than on the business of persons who are continually in and out of the market.

Regulations of the Securities and Exchange commission and the shrinkage in trading since the depression have tended to change the brokerage business to an investment market, it was said.

Resumption of hearings scheduled for yesterday on price manipulation charges brought against Cargill, Inc., by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace has been postponed to next Monday.

TREASURY HEAD DENIES BIAS IN BUYING OF GOLD

No Discrimination Against Russ, Japs.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—There is not likely to be any discrimination against purchases of gold from Russia and Japan, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau indicated today. He said there has been no discrimination in the past in the administration's gold purchase program and doubted whether there would be in the future.

Morgenthau's comments on gold were in connection with criticism of treasury policy by Senator John G. Townsend Jr. [R., Del.]. He termed as "ridiculous" Townsend's charges that the United States is giving Russia more help than Finland by taking all of Russia's gold output, which the senator estimated as worth 175 million dollars per year.

Criticism Mounts in Congress.

Criticism has mounted in congress against the administration's purchase of Russian gold while at the same time pretending to be aiding Finland. Also, Morgenthau had hinted last July that the administration could take retaliatory action against Japan by refusing to buy Japanese metal.

This was around the time that notice had been given Japan that the commercial treaty with the United States would be abrogated on Jan. 26, 1940, and feeling against Japanese conduct of the war in China was running high. Since then the treaty has expired and no action has been taken on gold and silver purchases.

The latest bulletin of the federal reserve board estimates soviet gold production as worth 184 million dollars in 1938. There are no official figures released by Russia on its gold production, so the estimate was based upon data from the mining industry.

Never Had Accurate Figures.

Morgenthau said that he had never been able to get accurate figures on Russian gold production.

"To say that we bought all of the 175 million dollar output is ridiculous," he said. "The policy here, as you all know, is that we buy all gold at $35 per ounce less ¼ of 1 per cent [for handling and mint charges] until further notice. Since January, 1934, we've bought all gold offered without discrimination."

Asked whether there might be any discrimination in the future, Morgenthau replied: "I doubt it." He said, however, that he had the powers, if he wished to exercise them. Under the gold reserve act of 1934 the secretary has the discretion to buy or sell gold in consideration of the best interest of the public. Since then the policy has been to buy and sell to all comers at $35 an ounce.

In his criticism of treasury policy Townsend, ranking minority member of the senate banking committee, had said: "Since Russia mines about $175,000,000 of gold a year our policy helps Russia many times as much as we have been able to help Finland. Surely our purchasing of gold and silver from Japan is not harmonious with our $25,000,000 loan to China or with our Japanese policy. Something is definitely screwy about such careless philanthropy."

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

New York, Jan. 29 (AP).—Selected stocks took a little recovery nourishment in today's market, but the list generally remained on a starvation diet. Fractional gains for steels, aircrafts, mail orders and rails, predominating in the forenoon, were erased or cut down substantially in the final hour and closing prices were mixed.

Dealings were the slowest since last Monday, with transfers totaling 489,840 shares, against 603,885 last Friday.

Loft was among the few shares that managed to post new 1939-40 tops. Others ahead at the finish were United States Steel, Republic, Santa Fe, Southern railway, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, Eastern Air Lines, General Electric and North American.

On the offside were United States Rubber, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Sears-Roebuck, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Westinghouse, United States Gypsum, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Anaconda, Kennecott and J. I. Case.

Steel stocks were not particularly depressed by the estimated drop in this week's mill operations. Softening gasoline prices handicapped oil shares. Talk of lessening automobile sales kept motors within bounds. Rails held their balance as early reports of last week's freight loadings showed an increase in traffic.

New York Bonds.

New York, Jan. 29 (AP).—Bond prices recovered from an early lag today to close on higher ground, but wary traders limited transactions to the smallest for a full session since last Aug. 31, the day before the European war began. The total turnover was only $4,643,450, face value, compared with $5,797,000 last Friday, in itself a small day.

Of interest to holders of foreign bonds was a 3 point gain in Finland 6s at 45, evidently based on reports of further military gains against soviet Russia. Some dollar loans of Denmark and Norway also moved up in sympathy. Other gainers in the list included issues of New South Wales, Australia, Peru, Colombia, Argentina, and Belgium.

Chicago Stocks.

Trading on the Chicago Stock exchange was dull yesterday, and prices moved indecisively. The volume leader, Commonwealth Edison, closed steady.

Bank Stocks.

Bank stocks were irregular in dull trading yesterday. Chicago Title and Trust and City National each declined a point, the former closing at a bid of 119 and the latter at 113. Continental Illinois rose half a point to 9½, and Northern Trust rose a point to 564. First National remained at 250. Other issues were steady.

SALES, PROFITS OF J. I. CASE CO. LOWER IN YEAR

Report Farmers Turn to Smaller Machines.

J. I. Case company, farm implement manufacturer with factories in Illinois, Iowa, and Wisconsin, had smaller earnings and sales in 1939 than in 1938, Leon R. Clausen, president of the company, said yesterday in his annual report. Profit fell to $352,342 from $2,422,371 in the preceding year. Sales declined about 17 per cent.

Clausen said several factors besides the drop in sales volume contributed to the shrinkage in profits last year. Prices were reduced to meet competition, he said, but at the same time overhead expense per unit of output increased as operating levels declined.

Trend Toward Smaller Machines.

A tendency among farmers toward use of smaller and lower priced farm machinery has developed, Clausen said, and will affect profits of implement makers. He said smaller machines and consequent lower prices reduce profit margins.

Whether smaller machines will prove more profitable for the farmer than the larger sizes used in the past still is an open question, Classen asserted, but he said Case is recognizing the trend in its development program.

The report showed the company's inventories and the stocks of dealers at the beginning of 1939 were larger than normal, necessitating a curtailment of production. At the end of 1939 inventories totaled $17,870,227, compared with $22,410,638 on Oct. 31, 1938.

Bendix Aviation Earnings.

Bendix Aviation corporation had a profit of about $4,500,000 in 1939 on the basis of preliminary figures, E. R. Palmer, vice president and treasurer, said at South Bend, Ind., where the company has its headquarters. In 1938 profit was $156,000. Palmer said the earnings on the common stock probably would be about $2.15 a share, against 7 cents in 1938.

Safeway Stores, Inc., chain store organization, issued a preliminary report showing consolidated net profit of $6,268,360 in 1939, equal after $936,076 of preferred dividend to $6.61 a common share. Net income in 1938 was $4,206,781, equal to $4.02 a share.

Safeway's sales last year, totaling $385,880,000, were the largest since formation of the company in 1926, the report said. The volume in 1938 was $368,254,991.

General Cigar Also Earns Less.

General Cigar Co., Inc., and its subsidiary, General Cigar Company of Cuba, Ltd., reported net income of $879,248, equal to $1.12 a common share, in the year ended Dec. 31. In the preceding year profit was $1,207,181, or $1.81 a share.

Abitibi Power and Paper Co., Ltd., announced its December earnings, before depreciation and bond interest, were $387,406, compared with $304,284 in December, 1938.

Oshkosh B'Gosh, Inc., Wisconsin manufacturer of overalls, reported profit of $105,911 for the fiscal year ended Dec. 31. In the preceding year net income was $87,706. Per share earnings on the common stock were $1.05 and 78 cents.

Egg Futures Prices Mixed on Mercantile Exchange

Egg futures prices moved unevenly on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange yesterday, ending with the current refrigerator delivery up and others down. The January refrigerator contract, which expires today, gained 0.6 cent. Other deliveries, weakened by a sharp pickup in week-end arrivals, declined as much as half a cent. Prospects of warmer weather forced cash prices down 1¼ cents.

Square D Co. to Double Milwaukee Plant Area

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 29 (AP).—The Square D company, manufacturer of automatic motor controls, announced today the purchase of an eight acre factory site at Milwaukee for the construction of a new plant this year. Officials said the plant would have 120,000 square feet of floor space and would double the area of the present Milwaukee factory.

Randolph County, Illinois, Gets Its First Oil Well

Sparta, Ill., Jan. 29 (AP).—Randolph county had its first producing oil well today. The well was the Beattie-Ralston No. 1 J. C. Foster, a half mile northeast of here, which Leon Beattie, operator, said pumped at the rate of 80 barrels a day.

New Premium Peak Set by Lumbermens Mutual

Premium income of the Lumbermen's Mutual Casualty company, leading Illinois insurance firm, reached a new peak of $27,458,307 in 1939, James S. Kemper, president, reported yesterday. This compared with $26,211,679 in 1938, he said.

CHICAGO EXHIBITS LATEST CREATIONS IN FEMININE FINERY

Chicago became the style center of the nation yesterday as the annual two week style shows sponsored by the Style Exhibitors, Inc., got under way at the Morrison hotel.

Officials of the show estimated that 6,000 to 7,000 buyers of women's apparel and accessories will attend the shows, where 225 manufacturers are represented. Purchases are expected to set a new record.

Everything milady wears, from lingerie to swim suits, is on display in the exhibits. A new feature of the 25 year old style show is an infants' wear department. The fashions being shown are for spring and summer wear.

Three fashion reviews will be presented, the first tonight, the second next Monday, and the third a week from tomorrow.

The market will continue thru Feb. 9. The latter part of the market will coincide with the annual style shows of the Style Creators of Chicago, Feb. 6, 7, and 8, at the Hotel Stevens.

BANK DIRECTORS MUST QUIT ALL BUT ONE POST

Wholesale resignations of directors from banks thruout the country must occur before Thursday to comply with the interlocking directorates section of the Clayton act, which after Feb. 1 will forbid any one from serving more than one bank as a director.

One of the large downtown banks in Chicago—Harris Trust and Savings bank—made a change in its board of directors Jan. 10 because of the Clayton act provisions which will become effective Feb. 1.

David A. Crawford, president of the Pullman company, resigned from the Harris Trust board because he also was a member of the board of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company of Chicago. John P. Wilson, attorney, who was a director of the First National Bank of Chicago, was the other Harris Trust director who withdrew.

U. S. STEEL MAY EXTEND SURPLUS PRODUCTS SALES

New York, Jan. 29 (AP).—The United States Steel corporation is expected to extend its new policy of selling surplus raw materials in the open market to coal and limestone, according to reports in steel circles today.

The departure from the previous course of retaining its own raw material supplies was marked last week by the sale of 150,000 tons of iron ore from the Mesabi range in Minnesota to the Ford Motor company, by the Oliver Iron Mining company, a subsidiary of United States Steel.

H. C. Frick Coke company, coal mining unit of the big steel company, was said to have entered the market as a seller of ferro-manganese and limestone to outside consumers.

Reasons for the new policy went unexplained but it was said revenues of the corporation would benefit.

TIRE MAKERS QUOTE HIGHER FEDERAL PRICES

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 (AP).—The government discovered today that automobile and truck tires are going to cost from 51 cents to $1.74 more apiece this year.

Taking unit bids upon which all government tire purchases will be based from April 1 to Sept. 30, the government also found that tube prices had advanced from 8 to 27 cents apiece.

The bids were on the basis of whatever the government may need in the six months and did not provide for specific quantities, but about $1,500,000 of tires and tubes are usually bought in such a period.

Reserve Chief Discusses Future Job with President

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the federal reserve board, today discussed with President Roosevelt the question of his future. Eccles' term of office will expire Feb. 1. He is not expected to accept reappointment for a full 14 year term, but is expected to continue temporarily in his job, as provided by law, until he can see which way the political winds are blowing. As he left the White House Eccles said that some announcement on the subject might be forthcoming in a few days.

Market 'Riggers' Given Federal Jail Sentences

New York, Jan. 29 (AP).—Norman W. Minuse, convicted of conspiracy to violate the securities exchange act of 1934 by "rigging" the market in class A common stock of Tastyeast, Inc., was sentenced today to two years in federal prison and fined $5,000. Joseph H. Pelletier, convicted with Minuse, was sentenced to 18 months and fined $1,000. "Wash sales, matched orders, and the rigging of the market must stop," said Federal Judge Matthew T. Abruzzo.

REGIONAL OFFICE SYSTEM SPEEDS TAX MACHINERY

Settlements and Refunds Increase in Year.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—Decentralization of the internal revenue bureau to handle tax disputes locally has resulted in speeding up consideration of pending cases, treasury officials reported today.

Commissioner of Internal Revenue Guy T. Helvering reported to secretary Morgenthau because of the new system both tax settlements with the government and refunds were higher in 1939 than in 1938.

Deficiency income tax assessments amounted to $205,870,045, exclusive of penalties and interest, compared with $174,579,275 in 1938, an 18 per cent increase. The amount of refunds and credits in 1939 was $43,026,114, compared with $31,230,165 in 1938, an increase of 38 per cent.

Pending Cases Less Numerous.

Unsettled cases were materially reduced. The number of income tax returns for 1937 and prior years in process of examination and review on Dec. 31, 1939, was 52,634, compared with 99,068 returns for 1936 and prior years in process of examination and review on Dec. 31, 1938, a reduction of 47 per cent.

The number of examined income tax returns involving adjustments not agreed to by the taxpayers which were awaiting action by the bureau and its field offices on Dec. 31, 1939, was 39,017, compared with 43,843 a year earlier, a decrease of 11 per cent.

The number of income and estate tax cases pending before the board of tax appeals at the end of 1939 was 5,725, compared with 6,781 on Dec. 31, 1938, a reduction of 16 per cent. During 1939, 4,398 cases were appealed to the board, compared with 4,821 during 1938, a decline of 9 per cent.

More Convenient for Taxpayers.

In decentralizing the income tax settlement machinery, the bureau provides facilities thruout the country at locations convenient to taxpayers, for the prompt consideration of cases in which taxpayers dispute adjustment of their liability. This gives the taxpayers the advantage of local hearings by revenue officers authorized to make final decisions.

Morgenthau expressed satisfaction with the results and said the policy has the almost unanimous support of taxpayers and tax practitioners.

RAILWAY FREIGHT CARS AND DIESEL ENGINES ORDERED

Several railroad equipment purchases were reported yesterday by Railway Age. General American Transportation corporation has received orders for 75 tank cars from the General Chemical corporation and for 10 covered hopper cars from the Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad. The Northern Pacific has ordered three 660 horse power Diesel-electric locomotives from the American Locomotive company.

The New York Central railroad is considering buying a number of new passengar cars and the rebuilding of some of its present cars, according to the publication. The Lehigh Valley railroad was reported building 24 caboose cars in its own shops.

MOVE TO COLLECT SIX MILLIONS IN ELK HILLS RULING

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 (AP).—Secretary Ickes tonight ordered that interior department officials proceed at once to collect $6,214,102 from the Standard Oil company of California and secure title to the section of oil land in Elk Hills, Cal., which has been in litigation since it was involved in the oil scandals of the Harding administration.

The Supreme court today refused to review the decision of the 9th Federal Circuit court, which awarded the land to the government and gave it a judgment for use of the land and its oil.

Business Bits

R. R. Deupree, president of the Procter and Gamble company, will address a meeting of the Illinois Manufacturers' Costs association tonight on "The Employer and the Employé."

James Wilson, president of the Shawinigan Water and Power company, has been elected president of the Quebec Power company to succeed the late Julian C. Smith.

The merger of Famous Liquors, Inc., and Gold Seal Liquors, Inc., effective Feb. 1, has been announced. The present Gold Seal plant at 707 West Harrison street will be utilized under the consolidation.

The Inland Steel company of Chicago recently announced the appointment of Benton J. Willner and Maurice E. O'Brien as assistant vice presidents. Willner becomes manager of sales of the sheet and strip steel division, of which he has been assistant manager since 1936. O'Brien is manager of sales in the carbon steel bar and billets division.

Chris Reichel, secretary and treasurer of the Olson Rug company, has been elected president of the Northwest Associated Manufacturers, Inc., organized to support civic improvements in the Fullerton to Belmont, Pulaski to Cicero avenue area.

The Harvester company, which now has a total of four Diesel crawler tractors in production, has placed eight new tractor models on the market within the last year.

Distinctive features of the machines which made their debuts yesterday include an attractive but practical design, with power plants incased in a stylish, rounded housing, automotive-type radiator grilles, and track laying mechanism styled in harmony with the rest of the machine.

SHOW AMERICA IS MAKING ITS OWN GLASSWARE

The rise of American glassware to dominance in an industry once led by European manufacturers was illustrated yesterday at the opening of the gift show at the Merchandise Mart. The show, which is held semi-annually and which will last until Feb. 10, features exhibits of the new lines of glassware, china, pottery, lamps, and gifts, and is expected to attract 2,500 retailers.

Altho in previous shows European goods, including much Czechoslovakian ware, were features of major glassware shows, Percy Wilson, managing director of the mart, said that the majority of the exhibits this year were manufactured in the United States. Exhibits have come from England, despite the war, he said, and some Swedish goods are being shown.

CHECKS WRITTEN IN 7TH RESERVE DISTRICT DECLINE

Checks written against individual deposit accounts in 159 banks in 41 leading clearing house cities in the seventh [Chicago] federal reserve district in the week ended Jan. 24 totaled $1,191,114,000.

This represented a decrease of 8.2 per cent from the $1,297,069,000 of the preceding week, but an increase of 14.7 per cent over the $1,038,478,000 of the corresponding week of 1939.

Debits of Chicago reserve system member banks amounted to $699,607,000 against $579,205,000 in the week ended Jan. 25, 1939.

3 BIG COMPANIES BUY OVER HALF OF TVA'S ENERGY

But Their Plants Require Few Workers.

The company was attracted to the region by the phosphate resources. The electric energy is used in furnaces, but the furnaces require comparatively few employés. A list of new industries in the valley, submitted by TVA at a congressional hearing in Washington, D. C., last December, asserted that the Columbia plant of Monsanto represents an investment of $2,000,000. Its product was listed as phosphorus, and the number of employés was given as only 300.

In 1938, Monsanto, as second largest customer, bought 230 million kilowatt hours from TVA for $625,602. Of this, 150 million was dump power. The average rate for Monsanto was 2.72 mills per kilowatt hour.

Contract for 32,000 Kilowatts.

Another industrial customer of TVA is the Victor Chemical works, one of whose two principal plants is in West Nashville, Tenn. It established an electric furnace plant at Mount Pleasant, Tenn., to take advantage of large deposits of phosphate rock in Maury county. For this plant it made a contract with TVA in 1937 for the purchase of as much as 32,000 kilowatts, about half of it firm power and half secondary power. Last year it bought 60,450,000 kilowatt hours of power for which it paid $201,000.

The Victor company has total assets of $7,369,000. Its net income in 1938 was $730,092. In the first nine months of 1939 its net income was $735,784, compared with $494,794 in the same period of 1938. The Mount Pleasant plant is an investment of $1,000,000. When the contract was made, TVA said it would provide employment for a larger number of men. The industrial table of TVA in the congressional hearing gave the number of employés at the plant at only 100.

Provides for Ferroalloy Plant.

The Electro-Metallurgical company, a subsidiary of the Union Carbide and Carbon company, made a contract with TVA in 1937 for 24,000 kilowatts of firm power and 16,000 kilowatts of secondary power for a plant to be established near Muscle Shoals, Ala. It produces ferroalloys in electric furnaces. The Muscle Shoals plant, to cost $1,500,000, is not yet in operation, according to TVA. The Union Carbide and Carbon company, the parent, has assets of more than $400,000,000.

The Arkansas Power and Light company made a TVA contract in 1937 for 20,000 kilowatts of firm power and 20,000 secondary power. The power is delivered to the company over a line from Pickwick dam and Memphis, and is distributed in Arkansas over the company's lines. The company is controlled by Electric Power and Light corporation. Assets are $73,000,000 and net income in 1938 was $1,317,440. Net income for 12 months ended Nov. 30 was $1,291,283.

One Cause of Criticism.

One line of criticism is that these wealthy companies, by virtue of cheap power, appear to profit in the allocation of costs of the TVA project. Large proportions of the cost of dams are chalked up to navigation and flood control by the TVA. The investment in the five dams now operating—Wilson, Norris, Wheeler, Pickwick, and Guntersville—was given by TVA in December as $158,000,000 as of June 30, 1940.

Of this sum, 48 million was allocated to navigation, 27 million to flood control, and 83 million was allocated to power. Here, the critics say, comes the subsidization of electric rates at the expense of taxpayers all over the United States.
